DECISIVE BATTLES NEAR IN BRAZIL

MISSING GIRL, HOME, TELLS OF KIDNAPING

Katherine T. Deegan, 18, Found in Silver Spring, Ending Wide Search.

ABDUCTED NEAR HOME; DRIVEN TO BALTIMORE

VICTIM, HYSTERICAL, PHONES FOR RESCUE

Police Work on Theories of Bungled Gang Reprisal and White Slavery.

Hysterical and near physical collapse from exposure, Katherine T. Deegan, 18 years old, of 1217 Kennedy street northwest, who had been missing for 48 hours, returned to her home last night with an involved tale of being abducted by two men, kept captive in the city of aBltimore and returned to Silver Spring, Md., because she was "not the right girl."

The girl, for whom police, her parents and friends had been searching all day yesterday, was found by her brothers in German's Bakery, in Silver Spring, from which the had telephoned her home to report her escape from the clutches of the kidnapers.

Her telephone call shortly after 7 o'clock last night was the first word of her whereabouts and members of her family immediately notified police. Reserves from the Thirteenth Precinct, headquarters detectives and Montgomery County police rushed to the scene, believing that the girl was being held captive in Silver Spring.

Forced Into Auto.

Later it was learned that her alleged captors had left immediately after turning her loose but that in her hysteria, she indicated in the telephone call that she was still being held. Her brothers arrived on the scene ahead of the police and removed their sister to her home where she was immediately placed under the care of a physician and a nurse.

Her story, as told by her brothers last night, was that on Tuesday evening she went to a grocery near her home for a bottle of milk. Returning through an alley in the rear of her home, she saw her father, Charles Deegan, closing the door of their garage from the inside. About 50 feet from the house, Miss Deegan said she was blocked by a large touring car which sped into the alley and abruptly came to a stop. A man stepped out of the machine and said to her, "Come on, let's go for a ride."

Miss Deegan says she answered "No," whereat the man shoved a gun against her side and commanded her to enter the automobile. A second man was at the wheel and she was forced to sit between the two. She says she made an outcry but that apparently her father, inside the garage, did not hear her.

Clothing Taken Away.

The car was quickly driven away, out Georgia avenue through Silver Spring, on to Ellicott City and into Baltimore. Shortly before reaching Baltimore, Miss Deegan said, she was blindfolded. After passing through a considerable portion of the City of Baltimore, she declared, the car stopped in front of a three-story frame house. Still blindfolded, she was led up two flights of stairs and placed in a room. When the blindfold was removed, she says, she noticed that the windows were barred.

Her clothing, except her undergarments, were taken from her by a woman, described as an "attractive brunette," about 35 years old, who gave her an old skirt and a sweater. Frightened and cold in the room, which was without heat, Miss Deegan said she cried herself to sleep Tuesday night.

All day Wednesday, she said, she was kept in the locked room, the woman bringing her meals and drinking water. No one gave her any hint of why she had been abducted, the men who took her to Baltimore making the trip in silence, while the woman attendant failed to give her any information.

Not Right Girl.

Then, as nearly as she could estimate the time, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning her two captors returned with a heavy-set man with a large nose. This third man looked at her and said: "This is not the right girl. She will get you into trouble. Take her home."

Accordingly, Miss Deegan related, the same two men who took her to

VIRGINIA SUSPENDS TWO DRY OFFICIALS

Inspectors Are Arrested in Connection With Alleged Bribe Acceptance.

BOTH FREED UNDER BOND

Richmond, Va., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Two State prohibition inspectors were suspended today by Attorney General John R. Saunders after they had been arrested on charges of bribery.

A. D. Nichols and N. W. Hughes, the inspectors, were placed under arrest yesterday at Chimney Corner, near Richmond, by Officer R. K. Livingston, of the Chesterfield County police force, on warrants sworn out by Livingston.

Nicholas was charged with accepting $50 from Mike Adams, the defendant in a liquor case, and Hughes with aiding and abetting acceptance of the money. Adams, arrested several months ago by Hughes and Nicholas, appeared in Chesterfield court yesterday and when the two inspectors were unable to identify him he was dismissed and they were arrested.

Adams was named in warrants for the arrest of Nicholas, and Hughes as a witness. The two inspectors were released under bond of $1,500 each for appearance Tuesday, October 14, at Chesterfield Courthouse.

Hughes came to the attorney general's office today and declared the case was a "frame-up," Maj. E. H. Gibson, assistant attorney general, said.

State prohibition officers said Hughes was a deputy shreiff in Buckingham County and received a commission as a State inspector on June 1, 1923. Nicholas was appointed a special inspector December 5, 1928.

The other State prohibition inspectors, W. T. Rexrode and A. R. Dickson, were suspended by Attorney General Saunders on August 29, following receipt by the attorney general of reports that the men were suspected of failing to report the entire amount of sugar seized by them in an Augusta County raid.

Kingsford-Smith Stops In Rome on Long Trip

Rome, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Wing Comdr. Charles Kingsford-Smith, bound from England to Australia on a solo flight, arrived in Rome this evening.

He reported flying conditions good all the way and will depart for Catania, Sicily, in the morning.

EARLY ARREST IS EXPECTED IN BUSH SLAYING

Inspector Shelby Takes Charge of Inquiry Into Murder.

REVIEWS EVIDENCE OF HOMICIDE SQUAD

Bloody Hand Prints Upon Front of Automobile Believed Key.

CHIEF OF DETECTIVES SILENT ABOUT CLEW

Possibility of the early capture of the slayer of Louis Bush loomed last night. Inspector William S. Shelby, chief of detectives, reviewed evidence collected by members of the homicide squad and personally took charge of the man hunt.

Although he would not reveal the nature of the information which points to a suspect, Shelby predicted an early arrest. It is known, however, that the police have closely guarded the results of finger-print comparisons since the discovery of a bloody smear on the radiator of Mr. Bush's car.

With only a meager description of the gunman, who twice wounded the financier in what is described as an attempt at robbery in the alley at the rear of the Bush home, 3534 Fulton street northwest, the homicide squad has relied on scientific crime detection methods in probing the case.

One Bullet Missing.

The bullet which entered Bush's abdomen was not found in an autopsy performed on the body yesterday. It is regarded as a highly important clew. Another slug was lodged in the wall of a house near the scene of the shooting.

Four shots were fired at Mr. Bush after he had downed his assailant and temporarily gained possession of the automatic pistol. Two of the slugs found their mark, one in Mr. Bush's arm and another in the abdomen. He died Wednesday morning at Emergency Hospital.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 10 o'clock this morning. Dr. Abram Simon, rabbi of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, will officiate. Burial will be in the Washington Hebrew Cemetery.

Resolution Is Adopted.

A committee of the board of trustees of the Jewish Community Center, on which Mr. Bush served, has been appointed to attend the funeral. It is composed of Morris Cafritz, Charles A. Goldsmith, Harry Viner, Morris Gewirz, Maj. J. I. Peyser and Maurice Bisgyer.

Mr. Bush was an active member of the Community Center, devoting much of his time to the interests of young people. He was also well known

ATTERBURY BOLTS PINCHOT CANDIDACY

Railway Head Follows Hall in Withdrawing His Support; Gives Up G.O.P. Post.

MAY SWITCH TO LIBERAL

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and one of the most prominent figures in Pennsylvania politics today resigned as Republican national committeeman for the State. Gen. Edward Martin, Republican State chairman, who announced the resignation, said Gen. Atterbury had relinquished his post because he was unable to support all the canidates on the State ticket.

Although the announcement mentioned no specific candidate, political observers found little trouble in agreeing that Gen. Atterbury referred to Gifford Pinchot, the Republican gubernatorial candidate. In the spring primary Gen. Atterbury was aligned against Pinchot but had supported all the other nominees now on the State ticket.

Announcement of Gen. Atterbury's action was made public here by Gen. Edward Martin, Republican State chairman. It climaxed a series of developments within the party concerning Pinchot's place on the ticket, which developments began at Philadelphia several days ago with the defection of Charles B. Hall, city councilman and one of the leaders of the Philadelphia Republican organization.

Unlike Hall and other ward leaders who declared themselves for John M. Hemphill, Pinchot's Democratic-Liberal party opponent, there was no notice given of Gen. Atterbury's future course. It was generally agreed among political observers, however, the Pennsylvania president would ultimately throw his support to Hemphill.

A written statement given to newspapermen by Gen. Martin merely said Atterbury has resigned because "he can not support all of the nominees on the Republican State ticket," and Gen. Atterbury, through a secretary in New York, said he preferred to let Martin's announcement "speak for itself."

There was no reference to Pinchot in the Martin statement, but it was taken for granted Pinchot with his platform for reformed control of public utilities was the stumbling block to Gen. Atterbury's swearing allegiance to the ticket. All the other nominees on the Republican State ticket were supported by the rail-

CANNON DENIAL OF CHARGES TO AWAIT HEARING

Bishop Declares He Will Refute Accusations Before Committee.

WITHHOLD JUDGMENT, PUBLIC IS REQUESTED

Complaints to Be Taken Care Of by Regular Church Methods.

THANKS FOR LOYALTY ARE SENT TO FRIENDS

W. C. T. U. Holds Demonstration "For Honor and Purity of Clergyman."

(Associated Press.)

Bishop James Cannon, jr., announced last night he would deny and refute charges filed against him by four ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, when a committee is appointed to investigate the accusations.

In a formal statement the Southern Methodist churchman said he had been informed of the charges and requested the public to suspend judgment until the complaints had been "properly adjudicated in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the church."

Bishop Cannon added that he was strongly inclined to issue a "clear, full, sweeping statement" at the present time in denial of the complaints, but the case was not one to be "tried in the newspapers."

Charges Kept Secret.

The charges have not been made public, but are understood to include the bishop's political and stock market activities as well as other accusations. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, with whom the charges were filed, is expected to appoint a committee of twelve ministers to investigate the complaints. Bishop Cannon's statement follows in full:

"On September 24, replying to a request from the press, I radioed from the steamer American Legion: 'Until I see official text of complaints I shall enter into no discussion, newspaper or otherwise, concerning any matter pertaining thereto.' I am now acquainted with the nature of the complaints.

"Since July, 1928, I have been the subject of frequent attacks by various parties. I have usually replied to attacks made by responsible parties either through the press or by circular letters.

Inclined Toward Full Denial.

"The inclination is strong to make now a clear, full sweeping statement in denial of these complaints. This, however, is not a case to be tried in the newspapers but must be tried by the regular procedure prescribed by the law of the church.

"Whenever a church committee of investigation shall meet I will then make my statement of denial and refutation of the complaints and until then I do not expect to make a further statement to the press.

"I simply ask suspension of judgment until these complaints have been properly adjudicated in accord-

PRESIDENT LUIS' SON AMONG VOLUNTEERS

Civil war in Brazil is approaching a decisive military phase, with engagements between large forces of federals and insurgents imminent in both the north and south.

Three thousand miles of the country's Atlantic coast line have become the battle ground for a struggle between the federal government of President Washington Luis and scattered bodies of insurgents generally acknowledging leadership of the liberal statesman, Getulio Vargas.

The stakes are Brazil's biggest cities, Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro. The campaign has fallen roughly into three sectors.

In the south large federal and insurgent forces are reported to be on the verge of a possibly decisive battle within striking distance of Sao Paulo. The insurgents, heavily reinforced during their northward advance from Rio Grande do Sul, are driving for the rich prize of Brazil's commercial metropolis.

Important Action in North.

In the north, hastily assembled armies are maneuvering for an important encounter. The insurgents report they have an army of 30,000 men in the three states of Ceara, Alagoas and Maranhao, which they have occupied.

A federal army, with its base at Bahia, is preparing to attack them. The insurgents have announced an early campaign northward into the vast regions of equatorial Brazil to spread the revolution.

To the west of Rio de Janiero, in the big insurgent state of Minas Geraes, the federals have claimed important successes. They are attempting to safeguard the capital's food supply as well as to dislodge the rebels.

American-Trained Navy.

As the armies prepare to come to grips, the importance becomes increasingly apparent of the role to be played by the air service and the navy, the latter trained by American officers. The rebels claim important adhesions from both.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Soldiers of the Brazilian revolution were reported sweeping northward tonight toward the metropolis of Sao Paulo, with the prospect that they were near a battle with the federal troops of President Washington Luis.

Dispatches from revolutionary sources indicated that the conflict would be in the vicinity of Castro, a town in the state of Parana about 240 miles from Sao Paulo.

While rebel forces which marched up from Rio Grande do Sul and Santa Catarina already are near Castro, under command of Gen. Miguel Costa, reinforcements left Santa Ana do Livramento to join them. The new unit comprises the Fifth Artillery and Seventh Cavalry, a force of re-

$5,000 Donation to Reelect Senator From Montana Is Personal Gift.

MOVE CAUSES SURPRISE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

As the Nye campaign expenditures investigating committee set off on the trail of Chairman Raskob of the Democratic national committee yesterday, it was learned that his most recent contribution has been to Senator Tom Walsh, of Montana, a dry.

The Democrats' financial angel gave the Montana senator $5,000, it is understood, as a personal contribution, having no relation to national committee expenditures.

The contribution was considered significant because much has been made of Mr. Raskob's support of the wet cause. In fact, he and Pierre and Irenee du Pont have been the greatest contributors to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, whose avowed purpose is to support wets against drys, regardless of party.

Republicans have sought to create dissension in the Democratic ranks because the association, of which Mr. Raskob is a director, would

BIG NAVY ADVOCATES TO FIGHT CUT IN MEN

Appropriation Figures to Be Scanned With Those of Dry Bureau.

COPELAND SCORES MOVE

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The economy program of the Navy, calling for a reduction of 4,800 in the number of bluejackets and of 45 in the number of ships, is going to encounter stiff opposition from "big Navy" advocates on Capitol Hill, it appeared yesterday.

Insofar as the economy program is necessitated by the London Naval Treaty, of course, they have no argument; but the argument they are prepared to make is that the program exceeds the terms of that instrument.

Representative Fred Britten (Republican), of Illinois, chairman of the House naval affairs committee, said that the forthcoming appropriation estimates for the Navy would be carefully scanned, and would be compared with the appropriation estimates for prohibition enforcement and other Governmental activities.

If he finds that the Navy estimates have been slashed to a greater extent than those for prohibition enforce-

Bush Terminal Head Pays $83,000 Customs Penalty

Approving High Tariffs, He Sails Back to Europe With Bride After Entering United States Without Declaring Honeymoon Gifts of Jewelry.

New York, Oct. 9 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Irving T. Bush, head of the Bush Terminals, dropped in for a visit between honeymoons—he came from Europe, left behind a statement approving high tariffs, and proved it by paying $83,000 for jewelry he had failed to declare, and then sailed back to Europe.

His payment of $83,000 as fines and penalties for attempting to smuggle jewelry was confirmed today by customs officials. This confirmation came only when rumors that "a certain Wall street financier" had paid a large fine were traced to Mr. Bush.

Mr. Bush, high among those who have paid large customs fines in recent years, arrived with his bride, the former Marian Spore and the third Mrs. Bush, on September 22 aboard the North German Lloyd liner Bremen. The alert customs diamond squad, hearing rumors of large honeymoon gifts of jewelry, was eagerly awaiting the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Bush.

Their baggage was given the strictest examination on the pier. The jewelry, the exact nature and value of which has not yet been revealed by customs officials, was found.

With this seizure still unknown except to Treasury Department operatives, Mr. Bush two days later gave some views.

"The tariff idea," he said at the time, "is strong medicine. Like most stimulants it is all right if used with caution, but it becomes a bad habit when indulged in to excess."

He appeared at the customs house a few days ago and paid his $83,000—representing the domestic value of his jewelry plus 100 per cent penalty—without protest. Last Friday he sailed away for Europe, still on his honeymoon.

His bride, a Michigan heiress and sister of Commander Spore, U. S. N., who also served as Governor of Guam, married Mr. Bush in Reno less than an hour after the second Mrs. Bush had secured her divorce on grounds of cruelty and neglect. She earned the name of "Angel of the Bowery" through her work in aiding the destitute, in which she spent $100,000 of her own fortune in a few years.

Calvin Coolidge

Says: With all the efforts that are made for peace among nations it is discouraging to see a civil war in Brazil. That country exceeds the United States in area and has a population of about 40,000,000, which is nearly 25 per cent more than our population when the war between the North and South came in 1861. The foreign commerce of Brazil is about $900,000,000 each year, of which more than one-third is with the United States.

While improper conduct of the government is alleged, the issues involved are obscure. They seem to be partly racial antagonisms between Anglo-Saxon and Latin groups but fundamentally they are economic. The pressure of hard times and low prices have crystallized in revolt. It is important everywhere for a government to do its best to promote prosperity. In a country so large, with population and resources so great, it is possible that a long and devastating struggle is commencing. Outside interference would be a delicate matter, but if the League of Nations and other foreign countries would offer mediation and refuse to sell supplies to either party the cause of humanity would be served.

Doran Says Reform in Dry Enforcement Is Possible

Former Commissioner of Prohibition and E. B. Hanford, Antisaloon League Attorney, Debate Liquor Question With Rufus Lusk.

Frankly admitting that "a great reform" can be effected in prohibition enforcement, Dr. James M. Doran, Federal commissioner of industrial alcohol and former commissioner of prohibition, told an audience here last night that "it may be that Congress will change the enforcement act in some part, and provide an enforcement act that is at least mentally honest."

Dr. Doran made his address in participating in a three-cornered debate on the question, "What Shall We Do About Prohibition," at a meeting of the Washington Chapter, Unitarian Laymen's League, in All Souls' Unitarian Church hall, Fifteenth and Harvard streets northwest. Rufus Lusk, member of the executive committee of the Washington branch of Crusaders, as a debater, championed the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and Edward B. Danford, attorney for the Antisaloon League, countered with a defense of the dry laws.

"I think a great reform can be accomplished if we get better lines of demarcation between Federal and State activities on prohibition enforcement, and to make the administration of the dry laws so the Federal Government will aid the States and not seek to supplant the States," declared Dr. Doran.

"I don't say that Congress or the States have said the last thing about administration of the dry laws. There is nothing sacrosanct about always holding more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol content as illegal. It may be that Congress will change the enforcement act in some parts, and give one that is at least mentally honest. In my opinion, however, the eighteenth amendment will continue.

"I care not whether you have liquor administartion under a Government monopoly, under a saloon, under a dispensary, under the bootlegger system—its all the same and as the volume of consumption increases, the evils flowing from that system will increase.

"If prohibition was repealed tomorrow and it was left to the States to administer the dry laws, it would

BRAZIL REBELS TAKE TWO MORE STATES

30,000 Insurgents Under Arms as Ceara and Maranhav Fall.

GREAT JOY IS DESCRIBED

Brazilians Get News Of Rebellion by Radio

Sao Paulo, Brazil, Oct. 9 (A.P.). Revolution by radio is the nature if not the title of a broadcast which the government is giving listeners in Brazil every day during the progress of the present internal difficulties.

Radio was for a while the only means of communicating with some of the isolated points but now everybody having radio sets has been encouraged to listen in on the daily communiques to be informed, in all parts of the country, of the struggle for supremacy.

At the same time citizens have been asked to assist in locating sending stations controlled by the opposition. Radio also is being used to broadcast lists of missing persons and other personal news to families in districts cut off from federal government seats.

Porto Alegre, Brazil, Oct. 9 (A.P.). Occupation of the northern states of Ceara and Maranhao by insurgent forces today was announced at revolutionary headquarters here.

A telegram from Ademar Vidal, secretary of the interior of Parahyba, asserted that Capt. Juarez Tavora, northern insurgent commander, had 30,000 men under arms and ready to meet any federal attack.

State police of Parahyba were leading supporting columns. The federal governors of Ceara and Maranhao were deposed.

"We warmly congratulate you on the triumph of the great national cause," the telegram said.

"Federal forces at Princesa have joined the revolt and deposed the governor.

"Today our forces occupied the states of Ceara and Maranhao, where the military garrisons joined the Liberators and deposed state Presidents Piras Sexto and Mattos Peixoto.

"Indescribable popular joy reigns. enlistments have been closed because of the excessive number of volunteers We have under arms in Ceara, Alagoas and Marahao 30,000 men commanded by Juarez Tavora, whose supporting columns are commanded by Maranhaon police officials.

"No force can block this popular liberating movement. We plan to leave next Tuesday for the north to complete entirely the liberation of Brazil.

"We captured aviation squadrons at Recife and Natal. Viva revolution Brazil."

Capture of federal aviation squadrons when the northern insurgents took the cities of Recife (Pernambuco) and Natal was announced at revolutionary headquarters.

A message from the rebel headquarters in Parahyba stated that troops would be sent northward into the vast regions of equatorial Brazil to spread the revolution there.

Volunteers Flock to Rebels.

Meanwhile, in the Southern States which gave birth to the revolt, thousands of volunteers continue to join the rebel colors—some of them civilians, some state police and some soldiers of the regular army. Many of the latter are commanded by their officers, although in some cases the commissioned ranks refused to fall in with the movement and were permitted to go to neutral territory.

Chieftains of the revolt assert that 100,000 men already have been mobilized, with 30,000 marching toward the Uruguay River for a union with the main and onward toward the capital district in the north.

The La Nacion correspondent here received a report today which, if verified, would mean a severe blow to the federal government. They said that revolutianaries had seized the railway junction at Lorena, a city in the State of Sao Paulo midway between the city of the latter name and Rio de Janeiro. Its capture would cut contact between the capital and city which is the first goal of the rebels, destroying one hope of the federal government to effect joint action between the republic's two largest cities.

Faces Federal Attack.

In the north, Capt. Juarez Tabora commands a rebel army which faces an attack by federal forces, under Gen. Santa Cruz, which will operate out of Bahia. Tabora's army, composed of Pernambuco insurgents and recruits from Parahyba, is reported marching through the small State of Alagoas, which was taken over, to meet Santa Cruz's troops.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The American & Foreign Power Co., which has public utility subsidiaries in Brazil, announced today that the only damage to properties of its companies in that country was suffered at Bahia, where some street cars had been destroyed.

Private advices, the statement said, were to the effect that business was proceeding as usual in Bahia, Pernambuco, Porto Alegre and other cities.

Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The Brazilian federal government, faced by revolt in nearly all directions from the neighboring cities of Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, marshaled its forces today for a conflict with the oncoming rebels in the state of Parana. This state borders on Sao Paulo.

Gen. Costa, of the loyal troops, is preparing for an engagement with a revolutionary force commanded by a rebel chieftan of the same name, Gen. Miguel Costa. The federal Gen. Costa is basing his operations from Florianopolis, state of Santa Catharina, and extending his lines into Parana from there. His chief offensive arm is five regiments of cavalry, containing 500 men each.

At the same time his use of Florianopolis constitutes an important strategic move as this city lies between Rio Grande do Sul, where the revolt began last week, and revolutionary contigents now on the march in Santa Catharina and Parana. Thus two important rebel strongholds are divided along the coastline.

Federal Successes Reported.

Meanwhile the government reports some success in regions other than southward. Federal airplanes were reported to have bombed BelloHorizonte again today, with the rebels there said to be about to surrender. Bello Horizonte is the capital of Minas Geraes.

In the north the Rebels hold the City of Pernambuco and are reported marching through the State of Alagoas, but Gen. Santa Cruz has been ordered to establish a federal base of operations at Bahia and operate against insurrectionists in the upper states. The government also hopes to recapture the States of Rio Grande do Norte and Parahyba, which are north of Pernambuco.

Another northern state, Amazonas, was reported on the side of the government, with the legislative assembly voting fealty to President Luis. Amazonas occupies a large area divided by the Amazon River in the extreme Northwest of the country.

Para Scene of Battle.

Far to the northeast the City of Para (or Belem) was reported to have been the scene of a battle, with warships and loyal police firing upon soldiers who had revolted.

The government is gradually restoring train service in Mina Geraes, the large state which lies just north of Rio de Janeiro. Federal engineers today opened a line as far as Juiz de Fora, about 100 miles north of the capital, by reconstruction of a bridge over the River Parahybuna, and also took 125 miles of line below Bello Horizonte, which lies directly north of Juiz de Fora.

Manpower is being assembled by a call to reservists. Land reservists between the ages of 21 and 30 were summoned several days ago, while naval reservists of the same ages were called today. They are ordered to prepare for instant duty when a second summons is issued. The first reservist to report was Victor Luis Pereira de Souza, youngest son of the president.

Police Also Volunteer.

Other recruits are volunteers and police, as in the revolutionary areas.

The government hopes to fight part of this civil war in the air and already has made inquiries in the United tSates regarding purchase of the latest type bombing planes.

In both Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo price scales have been set for food, to prevent profiteering, but there is said to be no danger of a shortage. Life goes along normally in both places, meanwhile.

Criticism was voiced in the local press today of prices fixed by the federal government for food supplies and staples. It was charged that they were higher than those in free markets of the city.

A federal deputy, Joao Suassuna, was shot and killed by an unknown assassin while walking in Riachuelo street. The assassin escaped.

Revenge Motive Seen.

The police are investigating in the belief that the killing was in revenge for the assassination of Joao Pessoa, state president of Parahyba, several months ago.

Suassuna fas a former president of Parahyba and had been active in opposing Pessoa.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Federal preparations to take the field against the advancing insurgent army from Rio Grande do Sul today set Brazil's biggest city, the Chicago of South America, awarming with activity.

Sao Paulo now is serving as the base of military movements against both Parana and Rio Grande do Sul, farther to the south. Reservists in large numbers reported for duty and were sent off to training camps.

Airplanes of both the federal army and the State police are being constantly used for reconnoitering near the rebel columns.

Other Activities Reported.

Troops from this city are also reported to be active in the campaign in southern Minas Geraes and are pushing on toward the important junction point of Pouso Alegre, where the revolutionary leader, Waldemar Paschoal, is reported to have been killed in action.

A federal advance upon the City of Curityba, State Capital of Parana, has been prepared, but the commander of the column is awaiting the effects of a recent proclamation to the troops in Parana. The president of the Stte is reported to have left the capital.

Afternoon newspapers here report recapture by the federals of several towns in the southern part of the State of Santa Catharina. These had been originally occupied by rebel detachments under Triffino Corrés.

Central West Virginia Doctors Name Officers

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Oct. 9.—Delegates returned today from the annual convention of the Central West Virginia Medical Association at Buckhannon, at which new officers were chosen for the coming year.

Dr. Hugh Dunn, of Richwood, was elected president; Dr. J. B. Dodrell, of Webster Springs, vice president, and Dr. H. V. Thomas, of Buckhannon, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. S. P. Allen, of Webster Springs, was chosen president of the auxiliary.

THE AUTOMOTIVE EXAMPLE

Perhaps in no other field is the increased purchasing power of the dollar so apparent . . . Today you can buy an eight-cylinder car for a lower figure than you would have paid for a "four" a few short years ago. Automobiles are now better constructed; they are safer, faster, longer-lived. In every way you get more for your dollar in the automobile field today, and, though it may not be so noticeable, the same is true in other lines of luxuries and commodities . . . Analyze present conditions—sum up your possessions and income as compared with six years ago. Isn't it true that your dollars are buying you more comfort, convenience and luxury than ever before? . . . And remember that improving economic conditions make it advisable to buy TODAY!

MISSING GIRL, 18, FOUND BY POLICE

Baltimore returned to the house shortly before dark last night, placed her in the same car and started back to Washington over the Washington-Baltimore boulevard. At Hyattsville they turned off over what is known as "the grapevine route" used by bootleggers and other underworld characters. This leads over Blair road through Takoma Park and into Silver Spring.

Reaching the viaduct at Silver Spring, the men pushed her out of the machine and told her to keep still as she was being constantly watched. The car sped away and Miss Deegan walked to the District line. She entered the bakery and called her home.

Two Theories Held.

She described her captors as two men about 30 years old. One was a small man with a defect in one eye, while the other appeared to be a foreigner, she said.

Police, responding to the call from Miss Deegan to her home that she was in Silver Spring, at once sent alarms to the Laurel and Baltimore police to be on the lookout for the car used by the abductors. Miss Deegan was unable to furnish a complete license number on the car but said it bore Maryland tags, the first three numbers of which were "116."

If she has recovered her composure sufficiently today, Miss Deegan will be taken to Baltimore by local police in an effort to identify the house in which she says she was held captive.

Police who investigated the case last night advanced two theories in the abduction. One was that the kidnaping might have been the work of a liquor gang attempting to "get even" with some other gang and capturing the wrong girl. The other was that members of a gang of "white slavers" whisked the Deegan girl away but became frightened when her disappearance caused such a stir in Washington and decided it would be safer to return their victim.

Police Scout Hurt.

Baltimore authorities report considerable activity on the part of gangs trafficking in women in recent months although no cases had been reported in the last few weeks. This fact added significance to the theory of the Washington authorities.

That the kidnapers were working under orders from "the man with the big nose" was indicated by the fact that the girl was not harmed in any way and that his decision to return her to her home met with no argument from the subordinates, the order being promptly executed.

During the excitement coincident to the announcement that Miss Deegan was in Silver Spring, Policeman J. W. Wessells, of the Thirteenth Precinct, narrowly escaped serious injury when the police car in which he was scouting ran over an embankment and struck a guide wire on a telephone pole.

Brothers in Speeding Car.

Wessells saw a car speeding out Georgia avenue and gave chase. At the District line the car suddenly stopped and to avoid it, Wessells went over the embankment and into the wire. Upon investigation Wessells learned that the other machine was occupied by William and Francis Deegan, brothers of the kidnaped girl, who were rushing to the bakery from which she had called. They took their sister home.

The time of Miss Deegan's return to the District is fixed at shortly after 7 o'clock by Philip McCurdy, 3033 Sixteenth street northwest, and Edward Cassady, 4821 Georgia avenue northwest, employes of German's Bakery. They said they had been listening to "Amos 'n' Andy" on the radio and that this broadcast had just ceased when Miss Deegan entered the store and went to a telephone booth in the rear.

McCurdy and Caccady told police they paid little attention to the girl when she entered, but began to notice her when they heard her say over the telephone "come and get me quick." When she emerged from the booth she was weeping, they said. Then she went out in front of the store where her brothers picked her up.

Milk Bottle Clew.

Detective Dennis Murphy, Lieut. J. H. Davis and Sergt. R. B. Carroll, of the Thirteenth Precinct, headed the investigators. Corp. George Windham, of the Montgomery County police, stationed at Silver Spring, also answered the general alarm when the girl was found.

Up to the time that Miss Deegan telephoned that she was safe, the only clews of her disappearance were a half-filled milk bottle found in an alley near her home and the report of an auto screeching to a stop and then speeding away.

Mr. Deegan, father of the girl, said he heard the machine grind to a stop in the alley, but being inside his own garage, paid little attention to it. He did not hear any outcry at the time his daughter was being spirited away, he told police. The milk bottle was of the brand sold by the store to which Miss Deegan had gone and the clerk there remembered selling her the bottle, leading to the theory that she was abducted after having completed her errand.

Many friends of the Deegan family had called yesterday in an effort to unravel the mystery of Katherine's disappearance, but none had been able to throw any light on the case. The theory of elopment had been advanced by police, but friends of the girl who attended Business High School last year, said they knew of no one with whom she had been keeping steady company.

U.S. MAKERS ATTACK CAR DISCRIMINATION

16 Manufacturers Declare Quota Plan Is Aimed at American Companies.

INQUIRY BEING SOUGHT

(Associated Press.)

Foreign protests against American tariffs were partially answered yesterday with a demand by domestic automobile manufacturers that nations abroad stop what the manufacturers term "indirect discriminations" against American motor car exports.

Sixteen leading auto makers, including Alvan Macauley, president, and Robert C. Graham, chairman of the export committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, called at the Tariff Commission and urged an investigation of these practices.

They objected particularly to "flexible methods of taxation as between cars of different engine rating," which, they said, was aimed at American cars, and the laying down of annual quotas since this country is by far the largest producer.

They said such practices were "gradually breaking down the spirit of our commercial treaties," and if continued would certainly result in decreased employment here, and, through increased costs to consumers would retard economic development of all kinds in other countries."

Mr. Graham said, "These treaties provide that American exports shall receive the lowest rate given on any commodity to any other country, but the effect of these and other indirect discriminations is to stifle our opportunity for equal competition."

"The effect upon the use of motor transport is particularly severe," he added, "in those areas where the car frequently is the only means of transportation and the inhabitants of these areas are forced to pay charges which have no economic justification."

DORAN DEBATES DRY LAW WITH CRUSADER

not strike at the greatest problem of the United States today. The big question is, 'How can we better our system of criminal law administration?'

"There are manifold schemes of delay in legal procedure. The essence of criminal law administration is the knowledge that the criminal will be detected and tried promptly, and if convicted that he will be sentenced. This country is sadly in need of reform along the lines of rapidity of trial and certainty of punishment. Then we'll have less talk of racketeering and the talk that prohibition supports Al Capone. We need to show that the arm of the State is long. I believe the President's Law Enforcement Commission is going to start the ball rolling in the direction of criminal justice in this country. Many things, like a judge loaning $10,000 for his appointment to the bench, won't happen. It will end the crime wave. It will increase our self-respect, and these other little matters of whether prohibition shall or shall not be repealed will be forgotten.

"And the administration of criminal laws in this country is not caused by the maladjustment of criminal laws and not by prohibition. Prohibition has been a contributing, but a rather a minor, factor.

"The object of statutory prohibition is not to impose a system of morals. It is to lessen the consumption of material that in the judgment of sociologists and public men believe should be minimized. It is not a question of driving in you idea that 'I am damned if I drink' or 'I am damned if I don't drink.' I see no way by which more whisky, more wine, more beer, can be sold without bringing with it every evil of mass consumption.

"Canada knows she will not drive people sober, that she will increase her productive capital, that she will not lessen highway or industrial accidents by increased consumption.

"I can see no advantage in the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It seems that it is necessary to aid the States to enforce their own policing statutes. It seems that the advocates of repeal close their eyes to the experiences we've gone through. W hear nowadays that the amendment should be repealed and that it should be left to the States to work out. We've had local option, closing at 10 and 9 o'clock, we have refused liquor to minor persons, we have licensed the sale of beer.

"I am not one who believes that the Government can engage in the saloon business. Where has our Government become so efficient that it could run the natural resources? We can't run the railroads. It's silly to think we could engage in the saloon business.

"What is needed is not a quick turn. First and foremost, we need a recognition that in this age alcohol is an incompatible material. It is the duty of the State to deal with it as it deals with interstate commerce. Secondly, we should reject once for all the idea that this thing can be carried on by man's own free will, by temperance, without any aids or restraints. We still have red and green lights on Sixteenth street, so some damn fool won't run into somebod else. We still have fourteen police precincts so some people will respect the rights of other people. There ought to be more restraints.

"The concurrent clause of the prohibition amendment says that Congress and the several States shall enact appropriate legislation to enforce the prohibition law. It doesn't say they may do it, it says they shall do it. The President has the right of force of arms to obtain a moral and legal obligation of the people to support the Constitution."

HYDE'S TALK HEARD BY ROAD CONGRESS

Speaker Says Money Spent for Highway Projects Is Good Investment.

SECTION MEETINGS HELD

Huge sums of money being spent in this country on highway improvement were represented as an excellent investment that is well justified by its economic advantages, in an address by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde last night at the dinner of the American Organizing Commission to delegates attending the Sixth International Congress.

The address of the Secretary came as a climax to the sessions of the congress earlier in the day, at which formulation of recommendations concerning road construction, maintenance and financing, together with the regulation of traffic with a view to achieving world uniformity as to methods of control, was completed for presentation to the delegates at the final plenary session this afternoon. At that time the official approval of the congress will be given the conclusions arrived at in the section meetings.

"On economic grounds alone," declared Secretary Hyde, "all the billions which we are paying out for hard-surfaced roads in this country are justified. Bad roads represent a continual drain upon the resources of our people. Every mudhole in the road, every ditch across the road, represents just one more strain or shock upon the vehicle, whether wagon, buggy or automobile. Every such mudhole, ditch or ledge requires just that much more energy, whether of horses or gasoline, to surmount it. Every such obstacle does to that extent lose time and impede progress. Every such obstruction is to that extent a never-ending expense in repairs, wasted energy and time. A careful and conservative estimate of the cost of bad roads to automobile owners alone, not including losses of time, is much greater than the cost of maintenance of good roads."

Social Advantages Cited.

Mr. Hyde went on to say that the value of good roads or the losses due to bad roads can not be expressed in money. The advantages of highway improvement were represented as answering the need of humanity for food, shelter and transportation, relieving the isolation of the country and bringing the benefits of rural life to the city worker.

"Our people do not need to be told that good roads pay," said the Secretary. "They no longer ask themselves whether they can afford to have them. They know by actual experience that they can not afford to be without them; that they simply could not live their lives as they want to live them were it not for the constant, intimate services of the motor vehicle and the road. Yet I would not have you think that we are plunging blindly and recklessly into a huge expenditure without regard to the economic consequences. On the contrary, we have very carefully counted the cost in cold dollars and cents and measured the benefits against those costs.

"Good roads have also an international implication," he continued. "They are latch strings of hospitality hung out for visitors to freely enter our house. In this spirit we offer you not only the lessons of our experience, but the use of the roads we have built. We wish you complete success with your own road program. We want to use your roads just as we want you to use ours—not merely as a means of transportation, but as highways to neighborliness and friendship."

Foreign Delegates' Responses.

Responses to the Secretary's speech were made by Oberbaurat Munster, of Vienna, Austria; Paul Christophe, director general of roads, Belgium; W. Reese Jeffreys, of the Road Improvement Association of Great Britain, and Jose R. Spiteri, president of the board of hard-surfaced roads, Madrid, Spain.

Problems relating to the regulation of traffic and the parking of vehicles in large cities were given the attention of the group studying traffic and administration. This discussion was led by Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Albert Russell Erskine Bureau for Street Traffic Research, Harvard University.

The technical phases of road development and construction in undeveloped countries were discussed by the section concerned with construction and maintenance, under the leadership of E. W. James, chief of the division of design, United States Bureau of Public Roads.

Dr. McClintock pointed out that several countries are making definite progress toward national uniformity.

Dr. McClintock's report called attention to the serious economic consequences that follow control measures based on guesswork. Traffic regulation, he said, was not a task for the amateur, but was a professional and technical problem. The desirability of uniformity of shape, color and symbols of traffic signals and signs, he declared, is generally recognized.

Suitable Designs Stressed.

Concerning the design and layout of roads, the report emphasized the proportioning of roadway widths to the various classes of traffic. It contained the statement that "planning should be based on a broad view of city and regional requirements substantiated by competent factual studies." By-pass routes around central congested areas were urged so that through traffic might avoid streets required for moving local traffic.

Parking was pictured as an "inferior use of public streets," which may be restricted or prohibited when it interferes with the requirements of convenient travel. The elimination of all parking in congested business districts was represented as a definite probability in view of growing traffic demands.

Four foreign delegates agreed with the recommendation of international uniformity. They were Dr. Julio G. Borda, of Argentina; Dr. Carl O. Fritsch and Eberhard van Schenck, of Germany, and Arturo Mercanti, of Italy. Signor Martini was of the opinion that it might be too late to effect any great change in European signals. Werner Felichenfeld, secretary of the Berlin, Germany, Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that every traffic regulation must be formulated with sufficient elasticity.

Remedies Are Proposed.

Remedies proposed for the facilitation of traffic in congested districts included the following: Parking restrictions, separation of vehicular traffic by lane markings, one way thoroughfares, rotary movement at intersections, control of turning at intersections and of "U" turns between intersections, and pedestrian regulation.

Also participating in the discussion of these problems were Edward J. Mehren, vice president of the McGraw-Hill Co., member of the United State delegation, and E. S. Shrapnell-Smith, of England.

It was agreed that optical signals should employ the colors green, amber and red, with red used to stop traffic. An amendment was proposed by Col. A. B. Barber, United States delegate and director of the national conference on street and highway safety, giving red also the function of marking obstructions in the roadway, having in mind the placing of red lanterns and the use of the red tail light on automobiles.

It was recommended that rail traffic should be removed from the street surface where economically possible and that pedestrians should be provided for in the provision of subways or bridges.

Beautification Needs Urged.

The need for roadside beautification also was emphasized. Others taking part in the discussions included Dr. H. C. Dickinson, of the United States Bureau of Standards; Jay Downer, of the Westchester County Park Commission of New York; E. Lorieux, of France; F. L. D. Elliott, assistant commissioner of Scotland Yard, London, and J. S. Pool Godsell, of the ministry of transport, England. C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways of Wisconsin, presided.

It was stated that rights of way 120 feet wide should be provided initially for main roads, 100 feet for secondary and 80 feet for third-class roads. Development in the western United States was cited to show that automobile revenues have increased as a result of road improvements being extended into undeveloped areas. In that area, it was said, total motor vehicle revenues in 1915 were $2,008,000, while they will be $108,500,000 in 1930. Grover C. Dillman, State highway commissioner of Michigan, presided.

Delegates attending the congress today will visit the Arlington Experimental Farm of the Department of Agriculture, where they will view an exhibit composed of thirteen sections illustrating researches into highway construction methods. The excursion will be under the supervision of E. F. Kelley, chief of the division tests, United States Bureau of Public Roads.

The delegations, representing 62 countries, were received by the President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House yesterday afternoon.

FLEMING TESTIFIES AT PACKERS' HEARING

Spaid Also Tells of Manual Giving Business Ratings of Chain Stores.

ADJOURNS TILL MONDAY

Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank, and William W. Spaid, a Washington broker, were among many witnesses who testified yesterday at the hearing on modification of the Packers' consent decree, which is being held before Justice Jennings Bailey in District Supreme Court. Both testified regarding an industrial manual which gives business ratings, and Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for the packers, announced yesterday that he intended to introduce Monday, when the hearing is resumed, copies of the manual which, he says, will show growth of chain store organizations during the past ten years.

The reason Mr. Hogan decided to introduce the manuals Monday is because it was decided to continue the case over the week-end. Friday is motions day in the court and Justice Bailey will be otherwise occupied, while on Saturdays the courts adjourn at noon.

Other testimony during the day was in regard to prices which farmers receive for their cattle and the prices which the consumer pays for meat in retail markets. These figures were given by Clifford V. Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer, of Chicago.

Mr. Gregory in his testimony, which was offered by the packers, declared that "some method of bringing the price the consumer pays and that the farmer receives closer together was the heart of the perennial farm problem." This, he said, not only related to meat products but to all other products of farms.

The witness also went on record as stating that he believed that if the packers were permitted to retail meats economical conditions might be effected "by cutting down overhead costs."

Packers are contending that under new merchandising conditions the consent decree signed in 1920 operates to the advantage of the chain store.

Martinsburg Business Man Dies.

SUPPORT DEBATED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Bipartisan Association in Long Session to Decide Political Ticket.

TWO CHOICES INDICATED

The Bipartisan Municipal Officers Association of Prince Georges County, which had not chosen the ticket it will support in the next election at a late hour last night. Indications were, however, that it would select candidates from both parties.

To judge from the tenor of the discussion one Democrat and one Republican candidate are practically decided upon. Mrs. Mary W. Browning probably will be supported for reelection to the Board of County Commissioners and Bird H. Dolby likely will be supported in the race for the Legislature. Mrs. Browning is a Democrat and Dolby is a Republican.

Answers to questionnaires sent out by the association had been returned by only about half the candidates. Democratic candidates for the Legislature sent in a joint answer. Other Democratic and Republican candidates answered individually.

David Jones, Prince Georges County deputy sheriff, was brought from the cell where he is held on a charge of attempted robbery, to testify against Rosie Gantt, colored, yesterday, when the woman was tried on a charge of possession of liquor. A jury freed her after hearing Jones' testimony.

Jones was acting as deputy sheriff at the time he made the raid on the woman's home near Fairmount Heights, Md., where fourteen bottles of beer were found. Later he was arrested with four others, on a charge of assault with intent to rob, on complaint of the son of a Washington policeman.

Jones and his companions have not been indicted on the charge. The grand jury, now in session in the courthouse in Upper Marlboro, has considered his case, but has not reported on it. In the meantime, the deputy is being held in the jail at Upper Marlboro.

The circuit court also freed Arthur Lancaster, living near Fort Washington, on a charge of assault and battery on Nathaniel Brooks. The two are alleged to have engaged in a fistic battle in a pigpen near Lancaster's home. The testimony did not bring out the cause of the altercation, however.

Maurice Payne, jr., of Suitland, was fined $125 on a charge of assault and battery on Raymond Ward, salesman for a Washington seed company. He had been convicted Wednesday, but sentence was not pronounced until yesterday morning.

His father, Maurice Payne, sr., was also fined $25 for the same offense.

CLASS OFFICERS OF WASHINGTON-LEE SCHOOL

The father agreed, when brought to trial yesterday, to rest his case on the testimony offered in his son's hearing, and was convicted on the same evidence.

Charles Dustin, who lives near Laurel, was found guilty of possession of 12 half-gallons of liquor. He had been convicted of the offense in police court, and appealed. Lawrence Sharps, of Bladensburg, was likewise convicted of possessing liquor. Sentence has not been pronounced in either the Dustin nor the Sharps case.

The grand jury probably will return some of its indictments this afternoon. State's Attorney J. Frank Paran said yesterday that an unusually heavy number of charges will be made.

The report which is expected to say something definite and sensational about the gambling situation in the county can not be expected until the middle of next week, however, according to the foreman.

Two more Republican rallies in the county have been arranged. They will be held in Fairmont Heights and Capitol Heights on October 21. The Capitol Heights meeting will be held in the firehouse at 8 o'clock, while the site of the other gathering has not been set. County candidates will speak at these meetings.

Arrangements will be made in the near future for other gatherings under the elephant standard, and an itinerary for the speaking tour of the county candidates will be drawn up.

Contracts will be awarded tomorrow to the Southern Maryland Construction Co. for the building of a 2-mile gravel road between Oakville and Sangate, subject to the securing of the right-of-way by the State Roads Commission. The cost will be about $12,000, according to Joseph Chaney, district engineer. Work will begin in about ten days and the job will be finished this fall.

Bids have been invited for the construction of a bridge over Brook's Run, between Hollywood and Leonardtown, and will be opened on October 14, Mr. Chaney said. The construction will be of concrete.

Mildred Morgan Named By Catholic Daughters

Special to The Washington Post.

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 9.—Miss Mildred Morgan has been elected grand regent of Court Isabella, No. 696, Catholic Daughters of America, for the ensuing year.

Other officers elected were: Miss Mary Fahey, vice grand regent; Mrs. J. J. Wallace, sr., prophetess; Miss Mildred King, financial secretary; Miss Virginia Patterson, historian; Miss Madeline King, treasurer; Miss Mary Lennan, monitor; Mrs. Guy Pinto, sentinel; Mrs. E. J. Gunn, lecturer; Miss Valera Morgan, organist; Miss Mary McDonald and Mrs. Enzie Kelley, trustees.

Judge Defers Herrick Sentence Until Today

Baltimore, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Pronouncing of sentence on Manuel Herrick, former Oklahoma representative, arrested while working at a still in southern Maryland, was postponed today. Federal Judge Morris A. Soper said he would sentence Herrick and two others convicted with him tomorrow.

Herrick was found guilty yesterday by a jury, which deliberated but 10 minutes, of the manufacture and possession of liquor. He was arrested along with William F. Airey and Pius B. Ennels, Negro, in a raid on a still in St. Marys County on August 8, where he was working as a $15-a-week helper.

BOYD-CONNOR OUT OVER SEA ON LONG FLIGHT TO LONDON

of transatlantic flying. One, Capt. Erroll Boyd, was the first Canadian to enlist in the Royal Flying Corps during the war, and the other, Harry P. Connor, was formerly a lieutenant in the United States Navy. They hoped to reach London in 23 hours.

Generally fair weather prevailed, and favorable winds followed their craft, which had one of the heaviest loads of gasoline and oil ever carried by a transatlantic plane.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The liner Lancastria reported to the Radio Marine Corporation today that it had passed the transatlantic plane Columbia "steering east" at 5:40 p. m. (E. S. T.). The position given by the Lancastria was about 400 miles east of Harbor Grace.

Tralee, County Kerry, Irish Free State, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Weather conditions on the west coast of Ireland were reported favorable today for the transatlantic attempt of the veteran monoplane Columbia. The civic guards here said, "The night is beautifully clear and there is practically a dead calm." Similar reports came from Galway.

Cobh, I. F. S., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Low-hanging clouds tonight rendered local flying conditions precarious for the transatlantic monoplane Columbia on its jump from Harbor Grace.

Civic guards all along the Irish coast in Free State territory have been ordered to keep on the watch for the Columbia.

Plane Flies Through Fog.

Harbor Grace, N. F., Oct. 9 (A.P.). Another transatlantic flight was under way tonight. Two men who have never made the voyage were winging their way to England in the tried and true Columbia, which flew the ocean three years ago.

Capt. Erroll Boyd, first Canadian to enlist in the royal flying corps in the World War, and Harry P. Connor, former lieutenant in the United States Navy, took off for London at 11:20 a. m., Eastern Standard time. Fifty minutes later the Columbia, in which Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine flew from New York to Germany in 1927, flashed over St. Johns and was on her eastward course to added fame.

At 12:55 she was seen flying only 200 feet above the water by the crew of the steamer Quaker City, 100 miles east-northeast of Cape Race. Hours of silence followed, but this was easily explained by fog which lay over much of the north Atlantic and which would have hidden the plane from ships unless she passed very close.

Connor Expert at Blind Flying.

No anxiety was occasioned by this fag, because Lieut. Connor is an experienced navigator and an expert at blind flying. He was the navigator of the Columbia several months ago when it was flown to Bermuda and back by Boyd and Roger Q. Williams, transatlantic pilot.

On its flight today the old Columbia is driven by the same engine and the same wooden propellor it had on its first ocean hop. The plane has had many adventures since that day. Mabel Boll was flown in it to Havana. Williams started for Rome in it and cracked it up. Miss Boll came in it to Newfoundland to fly the ocean, but went back when Amelia Earhart got away first. Levine smashed it up somewhat in a rollicking ride over Roosevelt Field.

It proved to be a plane that could not be spoiled. Through all its trials it sailed with seeming unconcern and after each job of patching gave proof of being just as good as ever.

Held Up by Details.

Boyd borrowed it from Levine last spring, and he and Connor had hoped to get away long before this. But one thing and another held them up. For a while the ship was grounded by the courts, Williams obtaining a writ of seizure in connection with some money he claimed from Levine for the Bermuda flight. When that was fixed up, weather caused further delay. At last the start was made from Montreal, but a forced landing at Charlottetown wasted another two weeks.

Fog has lain thick over Newfoundland recently, but today for the first time it lifted temporarily and permitted a hurried departure. The plane was loaded with fuel and provisions, so when the fog broke Boyd and Connor jumped in and were away as soon as the old engine was warm.

Although they are expected to encounter fog and rain over most of the course to Croydon, a strong, favorable wind was predicted for almost the entire journey over water.

Columbia Log on Hop To England Over Sea

(All Time Is Eastern tSandard.)

11:20 a. m., October 9—Took off from Harbor Grace, N. F., with Capt. Erroll Boyd, pilot, and Lieut. Harry Connor, navigator, on nonstop flight to Croydon Airdrome, London.

12:10 p. m.—Pased over St. John's, N. F., and out to sea.

12:55 p. m.—Sighted by steamship Quaker City 100 miles east northeast of Cape Race.

5:40 p. m.—Sighted by liner Lancastria "steering east' 'about 400 miles ast of Harbor Grace.

WOMAN ASKS CITY TO PAY FOR RABBITS

Alexandria Council Is Told $300 Should Be Due for Death by Dogs.

IS FIGURED ON INCREASE

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The most unusual case ever presented to a city council of Alexandria, in the opinion of the present members of that body, came up yesterday when Mrs. Mary B. Nicol, of 503 Washington avenue, Mount Ida, presented a claim which she said should have been for $300, but for which she was willing to accept $65, for the killing by dogs, of five valuable Chinchilla rabbits. Mrs. Nicol figured that by this time the progeny of the rabbits would have reached a total of 50. She wrote the council:

"In July dogs came to my yard and tore to pieces the rabbit pens and killed five very valuable Chinchillas. Their cost and work made their value to me $400. The treasurer told me to send in affidavit and he would mail me a check at once, but instead he sent a game warden who did not know the difference in registered Chinchillas (fur animals) and old field rabbits (same difference as in a race horse and a plow mule).

"I did not expect to get their value to us, but I do ask you to pay me out of the dog fund enough to replace them, which will be $60 for the five does and besides one had five babies and I spent over $5 for milk trying to raise them but could only raise one. That makes a loss of nine by dogs. For the four little ones I ask only the milk and nothing for all my hard work."

In a letter to the city manager, transmitting her request for payment, Mrs. Nicol states: "Don't you think $65 is very little to pay me. It is paid out of the dog tax and is no loss to any of the city officials. I would have had more than 50 rabbits now."

It appears that the State allows a fee to be paid owners of sheep killed by dogs, this fee to be paid out of the dog license tax, and evidently Mrs. Nicol figures that rabbits are in the same category as sheep. At the rate of increase figured by the owner of the rabbits, which appears to be compounded quite frequently, the city, if forced to pay for the potential loss, may face a deficit unless the matter is settled promptly.

The request of Mrs. Nicol was placed on the docket for consideration at the next meeting.

A request of J. S. Blackwell for a permit to conduct a repair shop and storage garage on the 100 block of North Washington street, was granted.

Application of F. C. Johnson for a license to operate a seafood dining room at 116 South Royal street, was referred to the zoninz commission.

A communication from the city manager was received, setting forth tha Paul Finks, of Glendale, owns property on which there are delinquent taxes outstanding, together with court costs, amounting to $335. He states that no sewer connection has been made from this property to Hooff's Run sewer, and that negotiations have been made with Mr. Finks relative to his exchanging 35 feet from the eastern portion of his lot for the purpose of widening Washington avenue, for the consideration of the waiving of the delinquent taxes and a sewer connection. The city manager recommnded that $435 be appropriated to purchase this right of way. No appropriation was made.

Wallace Cairncross, of the Shawnell Signs Co., filed an application for a permit for the erection of signs for the Standard Oil Co. at Alexandria avnue and Mount Vernon avenue. The council indicated its willingness to grant the permit provided application is made by the Standard Oil Co.

An application was received from David G. George, State secretary of the Socialist party, for a permit to hold street metings in Alexandria on King street, South Columbus street, South St. Asaph street, or South Alfred street. The city manager recommended that the request be denied and his recommendation was approved.

J. E. Barrick was granted a permit for an extension to his house at 418 Queen street, subject to the approval of the city engineer. A similar application, subject to the same conditions, was granted to W. N. Jackson for a building permit at 331 North Payne street.

The council denied the application of the P. H. Morton Sign Co. for a permit to reerect signs on Mount Vernon avenue just north of Washington avenue, and Mount Vernon avenue south of Chapman avenue. This application was denied pending the general policy in regard to signs to be outlined by the council later.

An application of B. B. Erzine for a permit to open a gasoline filling station at the southeastern intersection of Washington and Franklin streets, with a frontage of 100 feet on Washington street and 125 feet on Franklin street, was referred to the zoning commission.

In the corporation court yesterday, Thomas Thorpe, 25 years old, charged with attacking a 17-year-old girl on July 16, was found guilty of assault and was sentenced to one year in jail and a fine of $500, the original charge being criminal assault, which is a felony, and the verdict being simply "assault," which is a misdemeanor under the Virginia law. Thorpe was represented by former Judge Robinson Moncure.

A singular coincidence in connection with the case is that two of the policemen who arrested Thorpe are dead. They are Policeman Pierce, killed by a negro bandit, and Policeman W. W. Lipscombe, fatally injured when a fire truck on which he was riding overturned at Four Mile Run. Sergt. Heber Thompson testified at yesterday's trial. Similar charges against J. W. Allison, 33 years old, and George Ford, 19, arrested at the same time, will be heard later.

The jury was composed of Nicholas J. Lawler, T. M. Jones, jr., L. F. Dyson, Charles . Tennesson, J. T. Sweeney, L. L. Armistead, B. L. Howell, J. K. Aitcheson, H. L. Ticer, John M. Reed, Alvin Friedlander and W. H. Thomas.

Fire Chief George S. Watson of the District of Columbia was guest of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club yesterday and gave a talk on fire prevention. He stressed the necessity of educating children to aid in every possible way to prevent fires, saying this would prove far more lasting than an endeavor to educate adults along the same lines.

The meeting was presided over by President Robert G. Carter and announcement was made that the annual ladies' night entertainment will be held on November 17 next.

Engine Co. No. 2, of Potomac, has elected the following officers to be installed and assume their duties on November 12: T. W. McHugh, president; S. J. Hammersley, vice president; R. A. Roseberry, secretary; T. A. Wilkinson, recorder; S. B. DeVaughan, treasurer; A. V. Brown, captain; J. L. Gordon, lieutenant, engine; J. P. Butler, lieutenant, truck; L. P. Strobel, lieutenant, rescue squad; L. S. Evans, sergeant, engine; J. E. Cobean, sergeant, rescue squad.

A meeting of the executive board of the Business and Professional Woman's Club will be held at 8 o'clock this evening with the president, Mrs. Mary W. Troth, 116 North Columbus street. A full attendance is requested by the president, as matters of great importance to be presented at the regular club meeting on Tuesday next will be discussed.

A verdict for $2,500 has been given in the Corporation Court, Judge William P. Woolls, presiding, in the suit of Oscar T. Mooney against the A. B. & W. Bus Line. The object of the suit was to recover damages in the sum of $5,000 for injuries sustained by plaintiff when injured June 16 last when a bus of the defendant company struck his automobile. Attorneys for the bus line gave notice of an appeal.

Zihlman to Wage Vigorous Campaign

Representative Plans Talks in All Counties of His District.

An intensive speaking campaign to hold his seat in the House will be launched Monday by Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, of the Sixth Maryland District, chairman of the House District committee, to vigorously oppose his Democratic opponent, former Representative David J. Lewis, now on the stump.

Representative Zihlman will address a meeting of Negroes Monday at Cumberland. On next Friday and Saturday he will speak at several points in Montgomery County. On October 21 he will speak in Garrett County, on October 21 in Alleghany County and on both October 22 and 23 in Washington County.

In Montgomery County appearances, Representative Zihlman is expected to be accompanied by Mayor William F. Broening, of Baltimore, Republican candidate for governor.

Plea to Congress Is Hinted in Strike

Union Officers in Danville Confer Over Terms of Statement.

Danville, Va., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Union officials stated this afternoon they had been in conference today over terms of a statement to be issued probably next week in connection with the strike here among the 4,000 employes of the Riverside and Dan River Mills.

It was learned from reliable sources that this statement will be in the form of a resolution addressed to Congress asking for an investigation of workers' conditions here.

It was reported that Francis J. Gorman, now at Boston attending the American Federation of Labor convention, has the text and plans to seek the approval and backing of the parent body.

Two Held in Attempt To Steal Stand of Bees

Special to The Washington Post.

Kingwood, W. Va., Oct. 9.—Charged with attempting to steal a stand of bees from the Ridenour home in Reno district, Theodore Funk and Benjamin Bolyard, of that neighborhood, have been brought to the county jail here.

Funk was shot by a Miss Ridenour, who is said to have caught them in the act and fired a shotgun at them. About 50 buckshot hit Funk. The defendants are members of prominent families in that section.

RENE DAGNEAUX RITES.

Services for Rauscher's Manager Will Be Held This Morning.

Requiem mass will be held at 9 o'clock this morning at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament for Rene Dagneaux, vice president and manager of Rauscher's, who died Wednesday. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. Dagneaux received his early experience in the restaurant business from Louis Sherry, nationally known restaurateur of New York. He came to this country from France, where his father was a successful caterer. Mr. Dagneaux is survived by the widow, Mrs. Augustine Dagneaux, two daughters and a son, all of this city. His mother and a sister live in New York. He has a brother in New York.

U. S. Officials See Cumberland Sites

Proposed Federal Building Locations Gone Over by Visitors.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 9.—R. E. McCormick, Treasury Department site inspector, and J. H. Pickett, representative of the Postoffice Department, are in the city conferring with city officials, officers of the Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations regarding a site for the new Federal building for Cumberland, the appropriation for which is now available.

In company with Representative Frederick N. Zihlman they today conferred with Mayor Thomas W. Koon, after which the mayor accompanied them on an inspection of several of the thirteen sites so far offered. The highest price asked is $231,000, by Charles G. Holzshu, for the property at Center and Bedford streets, opposite the city hall. The lowest is $62,000, by Webster L. Williams, for property on Baltimore avenue and Ridgeway terrace.

One offer, by J. Philip Roman, would, it is said, keep the Federal building on the City Hall Plaza and directly opposite the city hall.

Retired Rail Engineer Is Dead in Annapolis

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 9.—Augustus Sewell, 87, retired railroad engineer, who served many years as an assistant custodian of State buildings and grounds in Annapolis, is dead at his home in West Annapolis.

He was one of the oldest citizens of this vicinity and death was due to general debility. Funeral services will be held from his late residence tomorrow afternoon, followed by interment in St. Anne's Cemetery here.

Baltimore Robber To Serve 10 Years

Alleged Chicago Gangster Receives Longest Term Law Allows.

Baltimore, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Willie Niemoth, alleged Chicago gangster, convicted of participation in a $47,000 holdup here in 1926, was sentenced today in criminal court to ten years in the penitentiary. It was the heaviest sentence possible under the law affecting the case.

For three years Niemoth fought extradition from Chicago, but was brought here in June and convicted. A motion for a new trial was rejected a few days ago by the State Supreme Court.

Niemoth and two others held up and robbed the paymaster of Henry Sonneborn & Co. on October 1, 1926, and fled in an automobile. Later the car was found abandoned with one of the robbers on a seat, dead from a bullet wound.

Niemoth testified he was in Chicago at the time. Several witnesses identified him, however, as a man they had seen in the robbery car.

Morgantown District League Plans Are Laid

Special to The Washington Post.

Grafton, W. Va., Oct. 9.—Plans are being made for the annual convention of the Morgantown district of the Epworth League here October 22-23. Methodist churches are cooperating toward entertaining the young people who will attend.

Cities and towns in western Pennsylvania and eastern Maryland will be represented, along with Fairmont, Morgantown, Rowlesburg, Tunnelton, Terra Alta, Kingwood and other nearby points.

KANSAN NAMED HEAD OF AMERICAN LEGION

O'Neil Elected as Boston Session Ends; Proposal on Dry Issue Defeated.

PAINTING GIVEN VIRGINIA

Boston, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The 1930 national convention of the American Legion came to a close here today. A seven-hour session, during which national officers were elected, important resolutions adopted and committee reports accepted, closed one of the most successful conventions in the history of the legion.

Ralph T. (Dike) O'Neil, of Topeka, Kans., was elected the next national commander over Col. J. Munroe Johnson, of Marion, S. C. National vice commanders chosen were: Harry B. Henderson, jr., Cheyenne, Wyo.; Bert S. Hyland, Rutland, Vt.; Neal Williams, Excelsior Springs, Mo.; Roland B. Howell, Thibodeaux, La., and James A. Duff, Martinsburg, W. Va. The Rev. Joseph Barnett, of Oshkosh, Wis., was named chaplain.

The legion again defeated what many delegates charged was an attempt to drag it into politics by rejecting a proposal for the immediate payment of 80 per cent of the face value of adjusted compensation certificates. Proponents of the measure held it would be a great aid in relieving the hardships of veterans who are unemployed, but the opponents saw in it a slap at the Republican administration which sponsored the present program of compensation.

Dry Issue Opposed.

A move to bring the prohibition question before the assembly also met with defeat when Commander O. L. Bodenhamer ruled it was out of order.

The New York and Texas delegations were cosponsors of the compensation movement but found only scant support as a roll call evidenced the tremendous opposition to the measure. The resolution dealing with prohibition was brought into the convention by the department of New York and called for the legion to go on record for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Several preparedness resolutions were adopted. These included indorsement of a standing army of 12,000 officers and 125,000 men and a national guard of 210,000 men. Others favored a merchant marine which would be a credit to the Nation in peace and of assistance in war; further experiments in lighter-than-air craft; support of a bill for the construction of an airship for the army and the continuance of exploration for new sources of helium. A resolution was also adopted favoring new medals for bravery because of the unsatisfactory circumstances inseparable from the silver star citation and citations without the silver star.

Capital Men In Race.

There were eight contestants for the five vice presidencies. Henderson, Hyland, Williams, Howell and Duff were chosen from a field that also contained Harold D. Redden, of Springfield, Mass.; Paul J. McGahan, of Washington, D. C., and Dudley Owens, of Jackson, Miss.

Mr. Barnett, who is an Episcopalian minister, had as opponents the Rev. Irving Askine, of Fullerton, Nebr., and the Rev. Martin Haferman, of Lindstrom, Minn. The vote was Barnett, 788; Askine, 280, and Haferman, 144. The absence of religious feeling in the legion was evident as Catholic priests dominated or seconded both Barnett and Haferman.

Other national officers who are to be elected later by the national executive committee were appointed to serve until the November meetings of the organization when elections will be held.

Distinguished Guests Present.

During the day the department of Massachusetts presented to the department of Virginia a painting of Admiral Richard E. Byrd sailing for the South Pole. Virginia is Byrd's home State, but he now has his residence in Boston. Commander Richard Paul made the presentation and Commander W. Glenn Elliott, of Virginia, accepted the gift.

Alexander Stewart, lone representative of the department of Scotland, was presented legion colors to take back to Glasgow. He formerly lived at Worcester, Mass.

Among the guests of the day were Francisco Doria Paz, representative of the government of Mexico; Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts; James E. Jewel, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Col. Fred Abbott, president of the Fidac.

The legion will meet next year in Detroit.

Legion Auxiliary Honors Arizonian

Mrs. Wilma M. Hoyal Is Named President as National Convention Ends.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Mrs. Wilma M. Hoyal, of Douglas, Ariz., chairman of the child welfare committee of the American Legion Auxiliary and an active worker in the organization, was elected president at the closing session of the auxiliary's tenth annual convention here today. Mrs. Hoyal defeated Mrs. Ruth McCurry Brown, of Little Rock, Ark., 481 to 286, and on motion of Mrs. Brown the election was made unanimous.

Five divisional vice presidents were elected: Mrs. Hazel Dudgeon, of Welch, W. Va.; Mrs. Ralph S. Heaton, Closter, N. J.; Mrs. Rone Gilmore, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. A. C. Carlson, Wilmar, Minn., and Mrs. E. E. Laubaugh, Boise, Idaho.

The Greenville, S. C., unit received the national unit activities trophy for the best general program of activities during the year.

G.O.P. in Rhode Island Renominates Metcalf

Providence, R. I., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Jesse H. Metcalf, senior United States senator from Rhode Island, was renominated by acclamation at the Republican State convention today. Representative Clark Burdick, of Newport, and Richard S. Aldrich, of Warwick, also were renominated.

Notable in the platform which was adopted were planks pledging the party in Rhode Island to abide by the result of the 1930 referendum on the question, "The eighteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States—shall it be retained" and praising the work of the Hoover administration while denying that the National Government is responsible in any degree for business depression.

Opera Barytone Dies.

Kansas City, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Addison D. Madeira, 71, barytone with the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company more than twenty years ago, died at his home here last night. Madeira was one of the first singers to make phonograph recordings.

Man in Fire Case Is Refused Bond

Williams May Face Murder Charge After Woman Dies in Blaze.

James Williams, Negro, who was held for action of the grand jury yesterday as a result of the death of Miss Jessie Cammack last Friday at the Denver Apartments, 1419 Chapin street northwest, will not be admitted to bail and probably will face a charge of first degree murder, according to the United States Attorney's office.

This statement was made late yesterday by Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray, following his return from the inquest where Williams was accused of having set fire to the apartment house, an act which is alleged to have caused the death. Murray stated that the case would be presented to the grand jury within the next two weeks.

Williams, according to police, confessed to firing the Denver and two other apartments in addition to a business establishment.

Miss Cammack, who was blind, was found suffocated in her bed, although 200 other occupants of the apartments made their exit in safety.

New York Budget $615,869,038.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A tentative 1931 budget of $615,869,038 for New York City was announced today by Charles L. Kohler, director of the budget. The figure is approximately $46,000,000 above the final 1930 budget.

Four Killed, Three Hurt As Truck Smashes Auto

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Two men and two women were killed and three persons were injured when an automobile and a truck collided 5 miles southwest of here early today. The dead are Kenneth Everhart, 31, Muncie; Mrs. Marjorie Everhart, 24, wife of Kenneth Everhart; Miss Aletha Everhart, 28, Hartford City, sister of Kenneth Everhart; Gaylord Springer, 37, Muncie.

Kenneth Hauppin, of Anderson, driver of the truck, was seriously injured. Amputation of his left arm was necessary. The four persons killed were riding in Springer's car.

Five Indicted, Allegedly Took Informer for Ride

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Five men, accused of kidnaping George Kite, a prohibition informer of Tampa, and threatening him with death, were indicted by a Federal grand jury here today. The men named in the indictments are Jack Gillette, Horace Downun, William T. Rowe, Robert Jones and Sam Dougherty.

They are alleged to have taken Kite for "a ride" August 23 after he repeated to C. H. Hall, of Tampa Federal dry unit, that Jones, Dougherty and Gillette had violated the prohibition laws. Kite claims he was seized and taken from the city, threatened with death, but managed to escape.

Flier Reaches Karachi.

Karachi, India, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Lieut. C. W. Hill, of Henlow, Ohio, who left Croydon, England, Sunday in attempt to beat Bert Kinkler's record for a solo flight to Australia, arrived here this afternoon in the unprecedented time of five days.

Two Girl Students Die As Bus and Auto Collide

Ebensburg, Pa., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Two girl students at the Ebensburg Cambria Township High School were killed and four others were hurt in a collision of their automobile and a school bus near here today. The bus was damaged but little in the collision. The automobile virtually was demolished. The dead are Mildred Bertolone, 15, and Arding Olovacchini, 15, both of Colver.

Peter Tanda, 17, driver of the automobile, and Graciata Orielle, 16, suffered fractured skulls and other injuries. Elda Bertolone, 17, sister of the dead girl, and Anna Fedorka, 14, were hurt less seriously. They were taken to the Colver Hospital.

14 Detained Russians Granted 6-Month Stay

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Fourteen young Russians, detained at Ellis Island for investigation when they arrived Tuesday to study industrial and economic conditions, were granted permission today to enter the country for six months. Twelve others of the group were still held pending disposition of their cases.

Those admitted came into the country for six months after the Amtorg Trading Corporation had posted a $500 bond for each. Although second class passengers complained the Russians had made derisive and abusive remarks about the United States, no formal allegations were lodged against them.

74 Indictments Cite 10 In Albany Tax Scandal

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Seventy-four indictments were returned against ten individuals today by the grand jury investigating the Albany tax scandals.

The bills were returned against Deputy City Treasurer William J. Hughes, two employes in the city treasurer's office, and seven residents of the city who are charged with having manipulated tax payments.

The indictments were returned after three weeks of inquiry by the grand jury.

Senator Hale's Mother Dies at Home in Maine

Ellsworth, Me., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary C. Hale, 82, widow of United States Senator Eugene Hale and mother of United States Senator Frederick Hale, died at her home today.

Mrs. Hale was the daughter of United States Senator Zacharias Chandler, of Michigan.

What A Woman 45 to 49 Should Weigh

Beware of Fat

As women grow older they are apt to take on weight—best to watch out and keep from growing fat—weigh yourself today and see if your weight and height compare with figures below—If so you are lucky—your figure is ideally perfect and you can feel happy.

There still is time to install

Automatic GAS HEATING

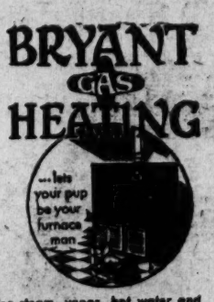
Installation can be done quickly and without any inconvenience to you. Your furnace need not be shut down for more than a half-day. Other than that, no change is ordinarily required in any heating system.

And—once your Automatic Gas Heating plant is installed—your basement takes on a new and cleanly usefulness. No fuel storage, no tools, no refuse, no soot or grime, no noise. Your furnace room can be transformed into a recreation room, den or play room.

Gas Heating is truly automatic because Gas Heating (1) demands no mechanical knowledge or effort, (2) has no revolving parts to wear out, grow noisy or get out of adjustment, (3) requires only semi-occasional visits to the furnace room, (4) "orders its own fuel as it needs it," (5) makes its own adjustments to changes in outside temperature and (6) holds inside temperatures uniform within a single thermometer-measured degree . . .

For how many more years will you and yours be condemned to "six months' hard labor and discomfort" every winter? How soon will you join the happy thousands who have proved by years of carefree winter comfort that "you can let your pup be Furnace Man?" Automatic Gas Heating has completely removed all dread of the furnace months from October to May in homes, large and small, the country over.

If your present heating plant is in good condition, it can be converted into a gas-burning boiler. Janitrol can be quickly installed for $175.



For steam, vapor, hot water and warm air systems in new houses and old residences, large and small.

The new low gas rate for house-heating brings this modern convenience within the reach of most Washington home owners. The cost will approximate that of coal plus furnace man. Let us give you a reliable estimate for your particular home. Call National 8280.

GOVERNMENTS' ACTS BLAMED FOR SLUMP

All Nations Meant to Help, but Intervened Wrongly, Barnes Declares.

PRICE FALLS DISCUSSED

Toronto, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—National treasuries and public authority may postpone but can not deflect economic law entirely, Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said tonight at the annual dinner of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He charged that government intervention is responsible in large measure for world economic depression.

Many postwar problems have been solved, he said, but the world now is faced with the menace of tariff competition. He defended the United States tariff, which he said did not aim at exclusion, but he challenged "overnight tariff revisions without discussion or warning" as violation of the whole teaching of economic law.

Reviewing world economic conditions, Mr. Barnes said that probably never before at one time have so many commodities fallen in value, paralyzed the buying power of whole peoples and shocked the business fabric of so many countries. It might be reasoned, he said, that these declines were inevitable because of accumulated surpluses.

Government Acts Harmful.

"But it is interesting and significant," he said, "to analyze briefly the stimulation to production, and to study the time element by which so many surpluses fell upon the world's trade structure at the same time. In such a study it is impressive that in so many instances acts of government set in motion these destructive processes. It is beside the question that these acts were in their origin aimed to be helpful. It is compelling that their cumulative effect, timed under an evil star of destiny, resulted in the prostration of the entire area of the world."

Mr. Barnes detailed the efforts of the governments to influence prices, noting particularly Brazil's efforts to control coffee marketing and prices. The average price of coffee a year ago, 16 cents, has fallen today to under 7.

The rubber situation, he said, offered a similar "transient record of apparent success" under the British restriction act effective in 1922, with new regulations in 1926. The price of rubber today is less than half the distress price of 1921, which was the cause for government control.

Proper Understanding Needed.

In conclusion Mr. Barnes said:

"The individual welfare of all people is wrapped up today as never before in a proper understanding and relationship between government and business. Government policies which obstruct and dislocate the functions of employing industry react into distress as never before. That distress individually reacts on government itself.

"The world shows this today in every direction. Dissatisfaction with conditions and the blame which rightly or wrongly attaches for these conditions on the government immediately in control, is showing today reactions in many forms.

"In a people of high literacy, trained in self-control and self-government, it takes the form of orderly expression through the process of ballot.

Revolutions Elsewhere.

"In people of lesser attainment in self-government or feeling more keenly the selfish or ignorant burden of ineffective government, it takes the form of military revolution. The headlines in the daily press show both processes under way continuously.

"They will continue in some measure until there is found between the exercise of government authority a harmony with the everlasting principles of economic law. Through this period I submit to you, with sober emphasis on the responsibility thereby laid, that the major continuous force in social stability lies in the field of economics of business, rather than the field of politics of government."

Two Typewriters Stolen.

Randell T. Ellicott, local attorney, yesterday told police that someone took two typewriters, valued at $60, from his office at 927 Fifteenth street northwest. The machines were reported to have been taken from the office Tuesday or Wednesday.

RASKOB ASSISTS CAMPAIGN OF WALSH BY CONTRIBUTION

support a wet Republican against a dry Democrat.

It so happens that in the present campaign Senator Walsh is the only instance of a dry Democrat being opposed by a wet Republican, and Walsh is an outstanding Democrat. The association is, of course, supporting his wet Republican opponent, Justice Alfred P. Galen.

For Mr. Raskob to give freely to the association supporting Justice Galen with one hand and to Senator Walsh with the other makes him considerable of a political enigma, and tends to confound his critics.

As a matter of fact, it is with a view to emphasizing Raskob's interest in wet candidates that Senator Nye, chairman of the expenditures committee bearing his name, and Senator Patterson have gone to Delaware. Raskob's friend, former Senator Bayard, is the Democratic wet nominee there against the Republican dry, Senator Hastings.

It is possible skull-duggery attending Bayard's getting the nomination that the committee hopes to get. From this distance it appeared at the time that Bayard and State Chairman Marvel, a dry, went into the Democratic convention pretty closely matched, if Marvel didn't have the edge. With the support of Raskob and the wet side of the Du Pont family, however, Bayard emerged from the convention the winner.

From Delaware, the committee intends to pursue the Raskob trail into North Carolina. In fact, it appears as though the Democratic chairman is to be the main attraction from now until November 4.

The Nye committee is armed with reports that Raskob money went into the Democratic primary to defeat Senator Simmons last summer. Simmons' supporters themselves made such charges during the primary. Since the primary in which Josiah W. Bailey was the victor, they have made no further squawks. Republican interests have insisted that the committee should go into the State, however.

During the primary the charges were unqualifiedly denied by Raskob and his friends insisted that he would hardly be so foolish. Whether the committee will dig up anything down there remains to be seen.

Although Mr. Raskob has unquestionably been quite generous with the Democrats, reports to the clerk of the House show that his generosity has been confined to national headquarters here commanded by Jouett Shouse and which he agreed at the outset to underwrite.

In fact, and surprisingly enough, the Democrats, despite the tremendous publicity campaign they have put on, appear to have no other central organization drives. Down in the office of Representative Joe Byrns at the Capitol there is a staff sending out literature in the congressional campaign and a similar activity in the office of Senator Tydings on the other side of the Capitol.

Meager Offices Kept.

These offices and those of the national headquarters in the Press Club Building seem to constitute all the Democrats have. The Republicans have a headquarters here, one in New York, one in Chicago and one in Denver.

Inquiry of the Democrats as to why they haven't other organization headquarters elicits the response: "We haven't the money."

Seriously, after all the noise the Democrats have made, one is surprised to see their meager establishment. Democrats as yet have not given any financial assistance to State or congressional campaigns, or rather the reports as of August 31 showed they had not at that time, and they say they have not yet. Republicans, on the other hand, have sent $45,000 into Maine, $5,000 into Utah, $6,000 into New Mexico, and they gave the senatorial committee $40,000 and the congressional committee $25,000.

From what one hears from a lot of the politicians, however, neither side seems to be rolling in funds.

ATTERBURY BOLTS BACKING OF PINCHOT

road magnate in the primary election.

Former Gov. Pinchot recognized the Atterbury resignation as directed at him. He issued a statement accusing Atterbury of "treachery" and saying:

"My demand that Atterbury as national Republican committeeman from Pennsylvania should either perform the duties of his office or resign has borne fruit. There was only one other man in Pennsylvania, who by bolting the Republican party could have helped the State ticket as much as Charlie Hall has helped it and that man was Atterbury."

Pinchot charged Atterbury with "using the employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad to do his political bidding" and said such a course "should be resented by stockholders of the road as well as the public."

Pittsburgh, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Twenty-five Pittsburgh district business and industrial leaders tonight announced organization of a ways and means committee to support the liberal party candidacy of John M. Hemphill, who also is the Democratic nominee for governor of Pennsylvania, as opposed to Gifford Pinchot, Republican.

The committee, in a statement, said it believed the "best contribution that can be made at this time to the promotion of stabilization of employment and industry and to the safe-guarding of the public welfare generally, is to keep 'Pinchotism' out of the State government."

ARREST EXPECTED IN SLAYING OF BUSH

"The Jewish community of Washington has lost a great pillar in its philanthropic and social structure by the death of Louis Bush. As a member of the board of trustees of the Jewish Community Center, he was responsible for the development of this institution. His sincere interest in the welfare of the youth of this city has effected concrete results. A man of great kindliness, generosity and personal charm has been lost to his people. His passing leaves a gap in the board of trustees of the Jewish Community Center who have labored together since its inception."

GRAND JURY ISSUES SUBPENA FOR JUDGE

Investigators of New York Judiciary Act After Refusal to Appear.

RESIGNATION IS RUMORED

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A special subpena was issued today requiring General Sessions Judge Amedeo A. Bertini to appear before an extraordinary grand jury investigating the city judiciary. Special Prosecutor Todd said the subpena was issued in view of Bertini's refusal to appear voluntarily before the grand jury.

While the judge refused to see newspapermen all day, the Evening World said he was preparing to resign his position under threat of a possible special session of the Senate to consider removing him.

Gov. Roosevelt yesterday, informed that Judge Bertini "declined to testify" before the grand jury, requested Attorney General Ward to send him that body's records concerning the case for possible consideration by the Senate.

The word from Albany tonight was that the governor would demand the records despite the attorney general's warning that he believed such procedure might be illegal.

The grand jury proceedings were interrupted today by two refusals by a witness, George Stern, of Jamaica, to answer questions. Supreme Court Justice McCook ordered him to answer eighteen "pertinent" questions, but the day's session was adjourned before Stern could be reexamined.

Stern is a real estate operator and member of the Cayuga Democratic Club, which numbers former Magistrate George F. Ewald and Martin J. Healy, Tammany leader, among its members. Ewald and Healy were indicted in office-bartering charges. Joseph F. Crater, the missing supreme court justice, is also a member of the Cayuga Club. Stern refused to answer questions about his dealings with Healy. The questions, as read before Justice McCook, dealt with a $2,000 note which Stern, as an officer of the Moline Construction Co., gave to Healy.

The note was dated February 12, 1930. Todd said examination of the records of the city board of standards and appeals showed that on February 11, the board granted an application "on condition" made by Stern on behalf of the Moline Construction Co. as "owner" for erection of a gasoline service station in Queens. The same application was previously turned down unanimously by the board.

Man's First Wife Files Divorce Plea

Albert von Steinner-Goltl Sued on Charge of Misconduct.

Albert von Steinner-Goltl, jeweler, of Tenth street northwest near E street, who divorced his first wife in Virginia more than a year ago and then married Miss Bonnie Love, was named defendant in a supplemental petition for divorce filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by the first wife, Mrs. Alma Desio von Steinner-Goltl.

On July 30, 1929, the first wife obtained an injunction in the local court to restrain the jeweler from prosecuting a divorce action in Alexandria, Va. Despite the injunction, however, the case was heard by the Virginia court the next day and a decree awarded to the man.

Since then Von Steinner-Goltl has been cited before the District court on a contempt charge in connection with the alleged violation of the injunction, but Justice Gordon has not handed down his decision.

In the supplemental bill, filed through Attorney Raymond Neudecker, the first Mrs. von Steinner-Goltl charges the jeweler with misconduct with his present wife. The petitioner bases her charge on allegations that the jeweler was not a bona-fide resident of Virginia when he prosecuted her and obtained a decree of divorce.

TRADE GROUP DRIVE NETS 54 MEMBERS

Chamber of Commerce Daily Prize Given to Team of Ewaldson.

LARGE INCREASE NOTED

Further gains in the membership campaign being conducted by the Washington Chamber of Commerce were reported yesterday at the second luncheon of the directors of the drive at the Washington Hotel. Fifty-four new members were announced.

The daily prize went to the team headed by A. Ewaldson for enrolling the greatest number. Mr. Ewaldson, who heads No. 8 team, which covers the gas companies, made a brief talk. George A. G. Wood, president of the Washington Gas Light Co., gave his indorsement to the campaign. Col. Edward Bliss presided.

An increase of about 40 per cent in the single memberships over yesterday was reported, but a drop in the plural enrollments was noted because of the failure of all save one of the ten committees to report.

The leading teams in the drive yesterday and their totals for the two days follows: No. 8, 31, Mr. Ewaldson, captain; No. 16, 9, Henry T. Peters; No. 11, 8, Mrs. Ada C. Payne; No. 19, 5, Fenton W. Fadeley; No. 21, 4, Martin McNamara; No. 3, 3, James E. Benty; No. 17, 3, E. L. Huffman.

Today's luncheon for workers will be at the Washington Hotel.

Cruisers Ordered to Yorktown.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy Department yesterday announced that the light cruisers Pensacola and Chester had been ordered to attend the celebration at Yorktown, Va., on October 2, commemorating the surrender of the British forces under Lord Cornwallis there in 1781.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS.

Democratic spokesmen overreached themselves in attributing hard times to interference of the Government in business. The Republican party has always resisted attempts to involve the Government in fields of activity that ought to be left for private enterprise. Some leading Democrats are more liberal in this respect, and at times they have sponsored socialistic measures, such as the equalization fee and export debenture plans for agricultural relief. In the present campaign, however, Democratic spokesmen have sought to uphold the traditional Republican principle, and have charged President Hoover with ignoring it. Former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, accused the administration of precipitating a world-wide depression by interfering with business, and the issue has been taken up by various other campaigners.

This accusation was captious and unwarranted, but it was not successfully refuted until President Hoover delivered his address to the American Bankers' Association in Cleveland. He said:

> I have never believed that our form of government could satisfactorily solve economic problems by direct action—could successfully conduct business institutions. The Government can and must cure abuses. What the Government can do best is to encourage and assist in the creation and development of institutions controlled by our citizens and evolved by themselves from their own needs and their own experience and directed in a sense of trusteeship of public interest.
> Without intrusion the Government can sometimes give leadership and serve to bring together divergent elements and secure co-operation in development of ideas, measures and institutions. That is a reinforcement of our individualism. It does not cripple the initiative and enterprise of our people by the substitution of government.

A sharp distinction should be drawn between the efforts of Mr. Hoover to promote business stability and actual participation of the Government in socialistic projects. Leadership of the administration in economic crises can only strengthen the existing system of private enterprise. Operation of industrial or business projects by the Government can only weaken it. In the one case the Government cooperates with private enterprise for the benefit of the whole country, and in the other the Government would compete with its own citizens.

Some misunderstanding has also arisen over the policy of protecting American industries against the subversive dumping program of Communist Russia. Naive economists ask how the policy of noninterference with business can be reconciled with the demand for protection against the products of bolshevism. The answer is so simple that it hardly needs stating. It is the function of the Government to protect its citizens from ruinous competition from abroad, especially when that competition is designed to undermine American civilization. But the protection the Government affords against foreign enemies of industry and labor can never be an argument for participation of the same Government in domestic enterprises.

The Republican doctrine of keeping the Government out of business is firmly established. President Hoover has made a distinct contribution to the party by reasserting and clarifying it.

MILDER WINTERS—MAYBE.

It begins to look as if the old-timers who have been saying that winters are not like they used to be have science on their side. Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the Weather Bureau, has completed a study of temperature trends in this region, and he finds that the average winter is slightly warmer than formerly. The entire area known as the East Central States is so affected, but no such trend has been detected in the Gulf, Northwestern or Western States.

The trend was noticed by a study of average temperatures in Washington and was confirmed by the records of Atlantic City, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore, Lynchburg and Norfolk. Records extending back as far as 1870 show a trend toward warmer temperatures and diminishing precipitation. The last ten winters in these sections, according to this report, have been notably warmer.

Folks have been skeptical about the memory of the old-timers, and doubtless will continue to be so. While the Weather Bureau report tends to confirm what the veterans of Washington frequently say about the change in climate, it repudiates equally vehement claims of old-timers in other parts of the country. The tradition that the weather is milder than it was a few decades ago is country-wide. It is probable, also, that the trend in this region toward more agreeable winters has been so slight as to be imperceptible to any but statisticians.

Jupiter Pluvius is a capricious god. No further evidence of his inconsistency is needed than the floods with which he scourged the arid West and the drought with which he seared the luxuriant East this year. There is not the slightest reason to believe that winters in and about Washington will continue to be more mild. In fact, the opposite trend may develop at any time, or meteorological ferocity and suavity may be mixed in an inextricable jumble. But it is safe to conjecture that even should a colder trend set in the old-timers will continue to tell their grandchildren that winters are not what they used to be.

NAVY REORGANIZATION.

The drastic reorganization of the fleet, worked out by Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of operations, is held to be in the interest of increased operating efficiency. "The purpose of the fleet," says Admiral Pratt, "is naturally one for training. Nobody expects to have all the ships in peace which he will want in time of war, but what we need is a nucleus of a fleet sufficiently large to adequately train a large number of men to perform all the tactical exercises required to keep the fleet up in shape." With this in view, the floating organization has been overhauled. Forty-six ships of an aggregate displacement approximating 120,000 tons have been ordered decommissioned; naval enlisted personnel will be reduced by 4,800, and savings estimated at close to $11,000,000 will be made possible by the end of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932. "The basic organizaton of the fleet," says Admiral Pratt, "has not been changed in any respect."

There is no reason to doubt the desirability of naval reorganization. Nevertheless, an overweening desire to lead the way in disarmament and to make a record for drastic economy in the Governmental establishment seems to have influenced the decision to effect the reorganization at this time. The reorganization will cut the strength of certain categories to below the treaty limit. The active destroyer mine-layer tonnage, for example, will be reduced to 93,426, although the treaty limit for the United States is 150,000 tons.

That the United States, by a single stroke of the pen, is able to reduce its fleet to the treaty limit comes as somewhat of a surprise. By inference it is represented that the ships to be decommissioned are fit only for the junk pile. If this be true, the strength of the Navy all the while has been no greater than the minimum requirement insisted upon by the American delegation during the London conference. The vaunted strength of the fleet consisted of rusty, inefficient vessels that were better out of commisson than in active service. Viewed in this light, the reorganization seems to be a forerunner of an extensive replacement program. If the present efficient fleet is no stronger than the treaty permits—which is the minimum strength required to safeguard commerce—then by 1936 additional tonnage will have become obsolete and the fleet will be below the efficiency contemplated when the London limitations were accepted. It appears that the Navy is to be operated on a pitifully small margin of strength.

LAW COMMISSION AND PROHIBITION.

President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission has plunged head first into the intricacies of the prohibition problem, in the hope of having a report ready for submission to Congress early in the forthcoming session. The commission this week held its first general meeting since June, during which Chairman Wickersham, who is also chairman of the subcommittee created to study prohibition, presented a voluminous collection of data on the subject gathered during the summer months. The first session was taken up almost entirely with a discussion of prohibition. It is likely, says Mr. Wickersham, that prohibition will come in for almost exclusive consideration until a report is prepared. The attitude of the various commission members on the subject has not been newly revealed, but Mr. Wickersham says for himself that "if prohibition proves unenforceable, this commission should say so."

That anything would be gained if the commission should declare prohibition to be unenforceable is doubtful. It would be most unique if the commission were to render such a report, but it would not be conclusive. Organized wets would be heartened, but organized drys would not surrender. The only satisfactory service the commission can render is to analyse the workings and effects of prohibition with the view of recommending modifications or improvements calculated to improve enforcement.

Dealing with the prohibition problem is made doubly difficult in that no one is willing to return to conditions as they prevailed before the enactment of the eighteenth amendment. If the law is to be changed, a system superior to the old will have to be substituted. No one yet has brought forward a satisfactory compromise plan. It is the lack of a plan that weakens the modification cause. State and local option has been tested and found wanting. The Government properly has no right to be in the liquor business. The State option and Government sale plans are not satisfactory, but they are the only plans that have been brought forward by the modificationists.

The Wickersham commission unquestionably is headed toward trouble in its consideration of the prohibition problem. But, inasmuch as Congress in appropriating funds for its support, called for an "inquiry into the problem of the enforcement of the prohibition laws of the United States, together with other laws," there seems to be no possibility of sidestepping the issue. The commission has to go through with its investigation of prohibition, even though the process may tear the commission asunder and result in its death sentence when Congress considers its report.

FIRST CATCH THE BEAR.

The business conduct committee of the New York Stock Exchange is to be commended for the steps it has taken to curb bear raids, but one may well apply to its investigation a phrase made famous by Ruth Hanna McCormick, namely, "What is it going to do about it?" True, the constitution of the stock exchange forbids "purchases or sales of securities, or offers to purchase or sell securities made for the purpose of upsetting the equilibrium of the market and bringing about a condition of demoralization in which prices will not fairly reflect market values," providing for the suspension or expulsion of all who may be guilty of the practice. Sections of the New York penal code and the Martin blue sky act give the attorney general power to act against those who willfully depress the price of securities. But, although the finger of suspicion may point toward certain bears, it is quite another matter to pin evidence of improper conduct upon an individual. So long as it is held necessary to permit short selling the way will be open for manipulators to depress prices by circulating false reports.

Short selling is, of course, a necessity if the stock market is to be kept free. The bear is the safety valve in bull markets. If his influence were not ever present there would be nothing to prevent the rigging of prices upward until they collapsed under their own weight. One of the factors that contributed to the great bull market of a year ago was that there were no bears to contribute a sobering influence to the excess of bullish optimism. Today the situation is exactly reversed. There are too many bears, with the result that the market is being manipulated exactly as it was a year ago, with the important difference that the manipulation is downward instead of upward.

The investigation of the business conduct committee and the threat of the attorney general to invoke the penal code and blue sky laws against manipulators should have a steadying effect. It may be that threats of action will be sufficient to put an end to organized raids. But when it comes to pinning down "malicious reports in connection with short selling operations," a prerequisite to prosecution under the State law, or proving deliberate intent to "upset the equilibrium of the market," a necessity if the business conduct committee is to act, that is something else again.

PUNISHING CRIME

From the Christian Science Monitor.

So much sentimentality, misdirected mercy and newspaper glory have been given to the criminal that the law-abiding public has been slow in coming through to any better attitude toward the criminal than that solely of wishing him to be severely punished. This slowness has prevailed in spite of the fact that mere punishment of persons has never alone done any permanent good and never can—because punishment in itself is a negative, destructive measure. The thing which society really wishes to destroy is crime—the malicious motive, not its human cat's-paw.

This is why prison wardens and guards gradually are turning away from the idea of punishment of prisoners to that of protection of both society and the prisoner from their common enemy—crime. That is why the Tenth International Penal and Penitentiary Congress, held in Prague last month, chose as the first of the two big issues for discussion, "how to cause punishment to protect society."

Society will be most effectively protected when the punishment is that of criminal thoughts and criminal motives. Wayward members of society who have been deceived into believing that crime can bring any sort of satisfaction need to be won over to a desire to be constructive. They can not often be so won while stung with a sense of personal punishment. Their cooperation toward their own redemption will come more quickly when they see that protection of the community and every individual in it rather than revenge upon themselves is the goal. Two of the best means toward this constructive end are an opportunity for further education and an opportunity to live up to the responsibility of a gradually restored freedom.

Just a year ago Prussia embarked on a radical course of prison reform. Prison officials there are changing punishment into what they call "treatment in stages." There are three stages of freedom and educational opportunity, increasing from one to the next as it is earned. Graduation into a new stage is planned to take place every six months. The course is intended to lead a man back to contributive citizenship.

Magistrates in America are saying that the question of punishment has got to be reexamined, that if imprisonment does not improve criminals the system of imprisonment must itself be improved. Many prison officials have learned that more than punishment is needed to lift a person's thinking out of resentment and rebellion into a voluntary determination to do better.

Most lawbreakers need to be dealt with firmly. But if the thinking of a lawbreaker is changed through a process of treatment that causes him thereafter to hold his thoughts to wholesome purposes and if he has become strong against the day of temptation, then justice has been satisfied—and crime has been punished, for it has been put where it can not talk, breathe or live. Then man himself is protected from his own mental enemies and society from its actual enemies.

FEAR OR THRIFT?

Is it thrift or fear of accident that keeps so large a proportion of Americans from trying flights at commercial airfields?

Perhaps the question was answered by the experiment of the Gates Flying Service at the Holmes Airport, Jackson Heights, recently, says the Brooklyn Eagle. A $1 minimum price for the day was announced. This meant one minute, one thrilling minute, in the air. For $2.50 one could be taken to the Queensborough bridge and back. And for $5 the trip circling the Battery was a bargain.

The final showing was 5,182 tickets sold, nearly all the $1 flights. The crowd had to be herded in with ropes. There were old men and old women, mothers with youngsters, beaus and sweethearts, laughing and careless; not an evidence of fear anywhere.

As a matter of fact, not a single accident was recorded. The natural conclusion is that among Americans air-shyness is almost non-existent, but pocket-shyness is nearly universal.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE BRIGHTER HALF.

Oh, there are care and tears to face
And many tasks to do,
But as we stray life's winding way
We come on laughter, too.

'Tis true some tasks are burdensome
And heavy oft is care,
But beauty smiles along the miles
And friends are everywhere.

Not all is bad, not all is sad,
Not every sky is drear;
Some days seem long, but mirth and song
Still brighten every year.

And though at times we suffer pain
And sorrows must be borne,
The storms pass by, a smiling sky
May greet us with the morn.

The garden now is bleak and bare
And heavy lies the gloom,
But glad were we its charm to see
With all the flowers a-bloom.

When the Pot and Kettle Rub Shoulders Neither Can Blacken the Other.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN people first began to insist upon a single standard of morality for men and women, their idea was that men should be judged for their sins as women were.

The rule that condemned the woman and forgave the man was obviously unjust and unreasonable. Logic required a single standard.

But as the years passed and women gained new freedom, the original conception of a single standard was forgotten. Instead of demanding that men behave as well as women, the new advocates of fair play demanded that women be permitted to follow the example of men.

And thus the single standard, originated as a reform, became an excuse for the degradation of women.

The woman who wished to be immoral had an alibi. "Men get away with it," she said, "and I have as much right as they."

Women of that type, however, are still relatively few. The great majority, rich or poor, of high or low estate, are as decent now as women ever were. They do not sacrifice their self-respect merely because men aren't respectable. They don't degrade themselves to get even. Their standards of virtue have not changed.

When women like these are told that men still demand purity in their mates they answer: "We demand the same chastity in our husbands as they expect in us."

As a matter of fact, they don't get it. As a rule they fall in love without being too inquisitive and marry without probing the past. They ask nothing more than fidelity in the future.

But there are women in every community—often the finest to be found—who are unwed at 30 because they will not marry without love, can not love without respect, and can not respect men who demand decency in women and will not preserve their own.

Men aren't all "bad." Many in their twenties have never so much as kissed a girl. But those who have run wild have no right to expect more than they can give. There is no injustice when one man uses counterfeit money to buy another's fake jewelry.

PRO AND CON

Various Aspects of Political Issues Discussed by the Press.

Hoover on Tour.

Richmond Times-Dispatch.

In his frequent speaking appearances, more than in what he says, lies the significance of President Hoover's tour of a wide section of the country. And his choice of audiences tends to show that he has mapped out his program with great care. The audiences comprise a large, intelligent, powerful cross-section of American citizenship. For the most part, his speeches have been well thought out. Mr. Hoover started out to make a good case for the administration at a time when it was not so popular and when the congressional elections were close at hand. How well he has done we shall know within the next few weeks. It is the general opinion that he has strengthened his party.

Revolt Against Pinchot.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Pennsylvania has never had a political campaign quite like the one now in its last furious month. In both old parties there is plain mutiny and open rebellion. In the big cities Republicans are giving comfort and aid to a Democratic candidate. Upstate there are Democrats offering aid and comfort to a Republican nominee.

The Philadelphia Republican organization does not love Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee for governor. It has meditated mutiny since the day he was named. Some of its most powerful leaders are now openly hostile. In Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other densely populated areas there is much rebellion against Mr. Pinchot.

A good many rather amusing desertions from Republican ranks have been recorded. Spokesmen for this group of Pinchot's foes explain that public utilities must be regulated, but they do not want them regulated with an ax. They insist the Pinchot program will mean losses to a grand army of small investors. They say it will mean uneasiness and confusion and that business conditions, now slowly recovering, will not be helped in Pennsylvania by Mr. Pinchot. They also frankly admit that they do not like Mr. Pinchot's affiliations with the Brookharts, Nyes and Norrises of Western insurgency.

So run the reasons and the motives of some of Mr. Pinchot's enemies. The situation is well-nigh unprecedented in the State. Lack of leadership and an upsurge of wet sentiment in the May primaries led to this amazing interlude in the politics of Pennsylvania.

Our Policy In Cuba.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The administration's announcement in regard to Cuban affairs that it will follow in letter and spirit the Root policy of 1901 is an encouraging sign for Pan-American relations. This policy states that our duty to insure Cuban independence and an adequate government, as assumed under the Platt amendment, does not mean meddling or interferinng with Cuban affairs, but acting only if "veritable anarchy" exists. This Government can not consistently deny the right of revolution if Cuba desires to change rulers. "Preventive intervention," as practiced in previous crises, also would be an encroachment on Cuban freedom. Only if anarchy results will there be an excuse, under the Platt amendment, for interference.

The results of previous interventions, in Cuba and elsewhere, have seldom been happy. For instance, the period of Cuban occupation from 1906 to 1909 has been described by a Cuban historian as "the most disastrous in the island's history." The administration will be wise to accept as a guide the lessons of previous experience.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Better Be Careful About Catching Cold—Dangers in Sinus Infections.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Dr. Burton Haseltine, of Chicago, issues a timely warning for the prevention and cure of head colds, acute catarrhs and sinus infections. The most important requisite for the prevention of colds is a good state of general health and a certain amount of regular daily exercise, preferably in the open air. Rooms should be well ventilated and moderately heated, both for sleeping and working. Also one should avoid as much as possible being in indoor crowds. There is a certain element of contagion in acute head colds, but the danger is slight in the open air and perfectly ventilated rooms.

"The nasal sinuses," says Dr. Haseltine, "are cavities that normally exist in the bones of the head, containing only air when in a healthy state and connecting by small openings with the nasal passages. They are lined with mucous membrane continuous with that of the inside of the nose, and therefore any inflammation or infection within the nose can easily extend into any or all of these cavities. When this condition occurs it is called a sinusitis. This may vary from a slight temporary inflammation to a most destructive and even fatal disease. In practically all cases sinus infection is, in the beginning, a head cold, and it is the lack of proper treatment of colds that results in the acute or chronic sinusitis."

A person having a cold should consult his physician before applying any forms of medication, as often these cure-alls prove very harmful. A cold discovered in its early stage and treated by a capable doctor who employs modern methods of treatment should not prove troublesome nor develop any serious complications. M. D.

White Lines Not Adequate as Safety Zones—Put in Platforms.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Many cities are provided with safety zones for the protection of pedestrians during rush-hour traffic. It is not unusual to read accounts of terrible accidents occurring in these so-called safety zones. Often a driver has to swerve to avoid colliding with another car, and it is then that the unsuspecting people gathered in a safety zone are mown down by the swerving automobile. Common sense tells one that a white line will not stop an automobile!

Washington has been fairly fortunate, as there have been few fatalities here, but there is that good old saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The majority of the safety zones in this city are the type that are marked off by white lines. Safety zones should be elevated platforms, and then the pedestrians will have some protection against the swerving automobile that heads for a safety zone rather than collide with another automobile. Do away with the safety zones that are designated by white paint and replace them with elevated platforms. The increasing number of automobiles in this city necessitates such a move for the protection of the pedestrians.

Why Not Utilize Device That Automatically Takes Phone Messages?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Germany reports the invention of a telephone that electrically registers messages. In England a similar device was shown about two years ago. Why hasn't this invention been put to practical use? It would be of great value to business concerns after closing hours.

The new device is so arranged that when the phone rings a robot answers it, announcing that every one is out, but would the speaker kindly leave a message. The machine then shifts to the recording instrument and continues this until the speaker is disconnected. The message is thereby recorded electrically. Now that reports come from Germany of a similar device it may be put to practical use by offices and stores, as well as by those who are kept on the jump keeping important social engagements. R. B. Lazy School Children Threaten Strike—A Contrast With Old Times.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In one of the public schools in New York the pupils threatened to go on a strike because there was no elevator to carry them to the second and third floors of the building. They had to go to the great effort of climbing the stairs.

What is the meaning of such laziness on the part of these children? Years ago one was only too glad to get a free education, regardless of the numerous hardships encountered in getting to and from school. Often the old-time scholars had to trudge three or four miles to get to and from school, after which they would assist in the chores around the house until dark.

What the youngsters in this New York school need is a bit of stern discipline. A. J. F.

Nearby Author Has Written on the Subjects of Fads, Frauds and Physicians.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am in full accord with your editorial on the disorganized state of the medical profession as it faces the problem of preventive medicine. There is much additional ammunition along this line in my book, "Fads, Frauds and Physicians," which will issue from the Dial Press, New York City on October 28. The work is fully documented and examines the entire field of economic and scientific medicine as it is today. It places particular emphasis upon the fact that present disorganization prevents medicine from applying the best that medical science has to offer to the cases of all individuals who need scientific medical therapy.

MILLIONAIRE BRITON WINS LABOR OFFICE

Sir Oswald Mosley's Election Over Thomas Sensation of Party Session.

LOSER IS PREMIER'S AID

Llandudno, Wales, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The defeat of J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for dominions, in today's election for national executive for the Labor party, by Sir Oswald Mosley, wealthy Socialist, provided the sensation of the session of the national Labor party conference.

Thomas, Labor party minister since the government separated the posts of dominions and colonies, came out at the bottom of the poll. Observers offered two explanations. One was that this major party upset seemed to show that the minister's stock with the Labor party had taken a decided slump. Another was that the Labor movement in general intended the downfall of Thomas as censure of the manner in which he handled unemployment as lord of the privy seal.

There was yet another viewpoint. This was that the vote was intended to register the personal unpopularity of the cabinet members, whose dress suit and social activities among the aristocrats had been regarded unfavorably by a section of the trade unionists. The truth may be a combination of all of these.

Speculate on Cause.

At any rate the conferees looked on and cheered, and some of them laughed, as the millionaire ousted the railway locomotive engineer and Sir Oswald secured election for the first time to the party's national executive body.

Political writers, speculating over the outcome, remarked that Sir Oswald, of course, also is addicted to the dress suit, but both he and his wife, who is a daughter of the late Lord Curzon, made it quite plain when they joined the Labor party that they had no intention of surrendering their former customs, and Labor as a whole appeared content to accept them on these terms.

Thomas' fellows, the writers speculated, did not fancy his witty little after-dinner speeches at more or less socially exclusive gatherings.

Disarmament Vote Loses.

The personal issues involved in the election rather overshadowed other business, but a resolution urging the government to introduce a pensions provision of a pound sterling weekly was passed by a large majority on a card vote.

Arthur Greenwood, minister of health, announced that the government intended to work out a national maternity service in an effort to reduce the mortality in childbirth. The conference later went into secret session to discuss party finances.

Earlier Fenner Brockway, member from the East division of Leyton, offered a resolution to force upon the government a policy of immediate action for total disarmament, but he was defeated when a vote was taken.

W. C. T. U. Lauds Bishop.

Bristol, Va., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A demonstration "for the honor and purity" of Bishop James Cannon, jr., was made by members of the Bristol Women's Christian Temperance Union at this afternoon's session of the Holston Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

As delegates were leaving State Street Church, conference headquarters, members of the W. C. T. U. arrived in automobiles carrying banners calling for support of Bishop Cannon, against whom charges have been filed by four traveling elders of the Church.

The W. C. T. U. members placed a large banner bearing the words, "W. C. T. U. White Ribboners Stand for the Honor and Purity of Bishop Cannon," on a wall within full view of the conference and visitors, and then passed through the delegates with copies of a newspaper defending and praising the bishop.

Dr. Martin Attends.

Dr. I. P. Martin, one of the four elders to prefer new charges against Bishop Cannon, is attending the sessions. Bishop Horace Dubose, of Nashville, Tenn., who recently said he had suggested to Bishop Cannon that he relinquish his church office, is presiding over the conference.

About 1,000 pastors and laymen attended today's session which opened a four-day conference. Substantial progress was reported in their districts by Dr. I. P. Martin, of the Abingdon district and Dr. L. P. Cobb, of the Big Stone Gap district, the only presiding elders who have not yet reported.

Dr. J. A. Burrow, of Bluefield, Va., reelected secretary for the thirty-eighth consecutive year, said 800 additions had been received by the conference churches in the last year.

More Stringent Laws to Check Activities Is Urged.

Los Angeles, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Recommendation for more stringent Federal laws to check communistic activities was made to the congressional committee investigating Communists today by Grover C. Wilmoth, United States immigration director at El Paso, Tex.

Mr. Wilmoth urged legislation directing the Postoffice Department to bar from the mails any matter teaching or advocating Government overthrow by force or violence and making it a criminal offense to become an active worker in any group advocating such Government overthrow. He also urged Communist newspapers be barred from the mails.

Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., chairman, asked Mr. Wilmoth concerning his troubles with Mexican immigrants in connection with communistic activities. He replied his "department has less trouble with Mexicans than with any other foreigners."

SAMOANS TO SEEK LIBERALIZED RULE

New Government Form Will Be Put Before Congress in January.

NAVY WORK IS PRAISED

(Associated Press.)

A liberalized form of government that will bring American citizenship and rights to the 10,000 inhabitants of American Samoa has been decided upon by the South Sea island chiefs and the American Samoan Commission. The new government will be proposed to Congress in January. It would replace the supervision by the Navy Department, which has continued since the islands were ceded to the United States 30 years ago. The naval system has been criticized by the islands repeatedly.

Resembling the government granted the Virginia Islands, the Samoan plan would entail an organic law, a bill of rights and provision for a legislature. A governor from either military, naval or civilian personnel would be appointed for long terms by the President. He would be authorized to approve or veto legislation, the legislature retaining the right of appeal to the President.

Under the present form, a naval governor at Pago Pago administers all criminal and civil matters, subject to an appeal to the President. Natives have complained, and under the new government they would have the right of appeal to the Federal court in Hawaii.

The report of the agreement of the new form was received yesterday from Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, chairman of the commission, who, with his colleagues, is en route to the United States from Pago Pago aboard the cruiser Omaha.

"We believe the Navy has done remarkably fine work," he radioed, "but that a Samoan Legislature should make laws subject to the veto of a governor with right of appeal to the President. Every effort has been made in our recommendations to preserve Samoan customs and prevent alienation of land by Samoans."

Senator Bingham, born in Hawaii and a student of Pacific problems, succeeded last year in having Congress ratify the Samoan cession, and initiated the movement to grant the islands a more liberal government.

Russian Match Cargo Brings Penalty Levy

(Associated Press.)

Customs officials announced yesterday that a shipment of safety matches from Russia had been assessed an additional 10 per cent duty because the markings on the boxes were so illegible they did not show the country of origin. Complaints against the shipment were made by the Swedish Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Customs officials said the law provided that when the marks on imported goods were illegible they should be held up and an additional 10 per cent duty levied.

The duty on Russian matches recently was increased 50 per cent through executive order when it was found they were being sold in the United States at less than the sale price in Russia.

CHINA FEDERALS SEE ALLY IN BITTER COLD

Winter Will Seal Rebels' Doom as Military Force, President Says.

RED OUTRAGES CONTINUE

Nanking, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—President Chiang Kai-shek arrived today from Honan province battlefields and said his troops had hurled Northern alliance rebels in full retreat from Chengchow toward the Yellow River. Their only refuge, he said, was the mountains of southern Shansi.

The bitter winter season, the famous generalissimo asserted, would "seal their doom as a military force," and peace was near.

A hint of the "silver bullet" policy of Chinese warfare, whereby opposing forces are bought or absorbed into the ranks of their adversaries was given by Chiang. The offer the Nationalist government made August 25 to incorporate rebels into its armies still held good, he said, but rebellion leaders, Feng Yu-hsiang and Yen Hsi-shan would be held responsible for their "arch crimes."

Famine Devastates Provinces.

Somewhat modifying the president's stern language were reports from Peiping asserting Chiang had agreed to meet Feng Yu-hsiang and Chang Hsueh-liang, dictator of Manchuria, soon in Peiping to arrange for rehabilitation of all China.

The scope of such reconstruction would be tremendous, for civil war, famine and banditry have devastated many provinces.

Reports continued of Communist and banditry outrages. Released from rebel armies, thousands of soldiers in South China flocked to Communist hordes. Reds were in control of virtually all Hunan province and others continued their looting of Kiangsi province, driving provincial forces before them.

"Fate Is Sealed."

President Chiang Kai-Shek said:

"The fate of Feng Yu-Hsiang and his fellow rebellious leader, Yen Hsi-Shan, is sealed. Our troops swept the rebels clear of the south banks of the Yellow River in the area eastward of the Peiping-Hankow Railway after capturing Chengchow.

"Our forces are advancing both westward and northward of Chengchow. The rebels' only avenue of escape consists of scattered retreat into the mountains of southern Shansi, where the coming winter will seal their doom as a military force. The day of restoration of peace is near."

Declining to forecast future developments Chiang said:

"I came to Nanking to participate in ceremonies of the national holiday Friday when republican China celebrates the nineteenth anniversary of the establishment of the republic."

NEW U. S. BUILDING PROGRAM IS RUSHED

147 Structures Are to Be Finished by End of Year, Says Treasury.

21 ALREADY COMPLETED

(Associated Press.)

The Treasury announced yesterday that 147 public buildings would be finished, put under process of construction or contracted for during this calendar year.

Answering an unnamed congressional critic, Assistant Secretary Heath said 21 buildings had been completed since January 1, 77 more were under construction, and 49 additional ones would be contracted for or on the market for bids by the end of December. Those now under construction will cost $100,000,000, he said.

The congressional critic had expressed belief that the Government was not pushing the expanded building program to the extent of its ability.

The Treasury explained that last January it had $40,000,000 worth of public buildings under contract and after Congress approved an enlarged program and provided funds for pushing the work it had let 66 additional contracts.

The original public building program called for $350,000,000 of construction, but Congress increased this to $568,000,000 to be spent in ten years. At the same time Congress increased the yearly expenditure from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000 and made the provision retroactive, enabling the Treasury to spend $45,000,000 this year. The building program started in 1928 was expected to be spread over a ten-year period.

Treasury officials expressed the opinion that about $40,000,000 of the total contracted for this year would be paid to labor for constructing the buildings and fabricating the materials which go into the structures.

The cost of the buildings for which the 66 contracts have been let this year was placed at $43,000,000 and the additional contracts will add $30,000,000 before the end of the year and with these contracted for before last January 1 will total well above $100,000,000.

Services for Dead In R-101 Set Today

Churches and Public Will Participate in Solemn Ceremonies.

London, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Great Britain's mourning for her 48 dead of the R-101 disaster will reach its climax tomorrow with the churches and public participating in solemn ceremonies. The bodies will be transferred to Westminster Hall which tomorrow will form the center of the memorial.

Religious ceremonies will be conducted in St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Cathedral, the latter for the Catholic members of the dirigible's party. A broad catafalque was constructed today and all of the coffins will rest upon it in two long lines, past which the public will be permitted to file. The Prince of Wales will represent the king at the services and Parliament and cabinet members will attend.

This afternoon the body of Samuel Church, R-101 rigger, who died yesterday in Beauvais Hospital just a little while before his father and fiancee arrived from England, was brought to London in a special coach draped in black attached to a Dover mail train.

Chicago Greets Hearst With Thompson Slogan

Chicago, Oct. 9 (A.P.). — William Randolph Hearst was greeted by Chicago today in a civic demonstration which took for its keynote the familiar slogan of Mayor William Hale Thompson—"America first."

The demonstration started with a 25-mile parade, which included 50 bands and from 3,500 to 5,000 automobiles. It reached its climax in a mass meeting in Soldiers Field, where the mayor and other city and county officials praised Mr. Hearst for what they termed his "outstanding Americanism."

LIFTING OF HELIUM EMBARGO IS ASKED

Chief Engineer of Ford Auto Company Sends Letter to President Hoover.

R-101 TRAGEDY IS CITED

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was urged yesterday by W. B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Co., to give "serious consideration" to lifting the embargo against exporting helium for aircraft of other nations.

Mr. Mayo, who also is chairman of the technical committee of the Aircraft Development Corporatoin of Detroit, said in a letter to the President that the disaster to the British dirigible R-101 "is one we all deplore," but that "the development of airships must go on."

"Because of its monopoly of helium," Mr. Mayo added, "the United States owes a responsibility to the world which in good faith can not be ignored. I believe it is time to give most serious consideration to the lifting of the embargo against the export of helium for peace-time purposes.

"It is estimated that over 100,000,000 cubic feet of helium, flowing from uncapped natural gas wells, go to waste annually in this country. The lifting of this embargo would salvage much of this wastage, would encourage private enterprise to engage in the production of helium, and would create sufficient additional demand to effect marked economy in its cost."

Washingtonian Named In Girl's Assault Suit

Dedham, Mass., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—James M. Gibson, Washington and York Harbor, Me., and Archibald M. Denny, jr., Boston and Harvard, Mass., were sued in superior court for $50,000 each by Florence E. Shedley, Brookline, Mass., alleging they were in a party of five which assaulted her and John L. Clark, Boston newspaperman, on Ogonquit, Me., beach August 17.

Clark also filed suit against both.

Autoist and Taxi Firm Named in $25,000 Suit

Claiming that he had been injured when the taxicab in which he was riding was in collision with another automobile, Paul H. Elkins, of Fredericksburg, Va., yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to award him $25,000 damages. Elkins names the Black & White Taxi Co. and Frank W. Deaton, of 626 Twenty-second street northwest, as defendants.

In his declaration of suit Elkins charges that on November 25, 1929, he was riding in a cab when at New Hampshire avenue and M street northwest, it was in collision with a machine operated by Deaton. Negligence on the part of both defendants in not keeping a proper lookout is charged. Attorneys Burkart & Quinn appear for the plaintiff.

Hammerstein Cleared Of Charge by Dancer

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Arthur Hammerstein, theatrical producer, was cleared of a charge of assault today, after he and his former dancing director of his current musical comedy had told the court the details of an altercation which interrupted a rehearsal several weeks ago and resulted in the dancing master's dismissal.

Sally Rand and her brother Harold, members of the chorus, also were cleared when the magistrate dismissed assault charges against them. After the hearing Jack Haskell, the dancing director, posed with the producer for photographs to show they still were friends.

Shelby Is Silent On Campbell Tale

Claim He Said Conviction Was Impossible Meets With No Response.

Inspector William S. Shelby last night refused to comment on the statement made by Herbert M. Campbell, indicted for the murder of Mary Baker, that Shelby "told Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins that he never could convict me." The statement was made to reporters who talked to Campbell at the District Jail Wednesday.

All that the inspector would say was, "I have no comment to make."

In his statement Wednesday, Campbell placed all the blame for his present situation on William Gloth, Arlington County Commonwealth's attorney, and stated that he did not expect any consideration from either Gloth or Collins.

Woman Reports Theft Of $110 From Home

Miss Louise James, of No. 2, Dupont Circle, last night reported to police that someone had entered the house at that address during yesterday morning and taken a pocketbook containing more than $110 in bills, personal papers, a driver's permit and keys.

Entry into the house was gained by a door which Miss James says she left unlocked when she was out.

Two Held to Grand Jury After Rum-Car Chase

Hyman Levin, 20 years old, of Thirty-third street near Broad Branch road northwest, and John Litmus, 24 years old, of M street near Fifteenth street northwest, were held for the action of the grand jury yesterday when they were brought before Judge John P. McMahon in Police Court on charges of transporting liquor and operating a smoke screen.

Levin was later released on $5,000 bond, and Litmus on $2,500 bond. They were arrested Wednesday morning after a chase which led through the Southwest section for more than a mile, with a police car pursuing them. When caught, police say the men had more than fifteen cases of alleged liquor in the car.

White House Policeman Named in Damage Suit

Robert N. Legg, a member of the White House police force, was named defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Charles Teufel, of 807 H street northwest.

Teufel alleges that on March 16, 1929, he was struck down and injured by an automobile owned by Legg and operated by his agent at Eleventh and H streets northwest. Negligence on the part of the operator of the automobile is charged. Attorney Melville Walker appears for the plaintiff.

Hoovers Hold Reception for Road Congress

Delegates Welcomed in White House by President.

THE Nation's hospitality was extended yesterday to representatives of 67 countries. With the President and Mrs. Hoover receiving as honor guests the delegates to the sixth International Road Congress, the cordiality of the country found expression in the welcome accorded at the White House where hundreds of guests assembled about 5 o'clock.

It was the climax of a crowded program that has marked the week in entertainment of the foreign visitors and of hundreds of delegates from all parts of the United States. Contrary to their usual custom the President and Mrs. Hoover entered the blue room from the elevator, departing from the usual procedure of descending the stairway, escorted by the aids and with the Cabinet members. Entering the blue room to the strains of "Hail to the Chief," they received as usual, near the long windows that open to the lawns. They greeted first the heads of missions and the few representatives of the Cabinet group now in town, all of whom had assembled in the state dining room.

With the Marine Band stationed in its usual place and the long line of guests moving through the great hall and into the state dining room to the blue room, there was little departure from the usual routine. Embassy and legation chiefs and the small Cabinet procession broke into groups until the stately blue room, decked yesterday with ferns and marguerites, became a buzz of animated conversation.

Mrs. Hoover had chosen for the reception a rose-colored printed chiffon combined with black lace. The even hemline almost touched the floor, and with the costume was a smart coat of the lace. She wore no hat. A friendly clasp of the hand, with occasional greetings in a foreign tongue, supplemented the gracious note of hospitality evidenced, too, by the President.

As the visitors were greeted by the Chief Executive and First Lady they continued the line into the east room. Among the ranking guests lingering in the blue room were Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Mrs. William de Witt Mitchell, Mrs. Walter F. Brown and Mrs. James J. Davis, of the Cabinet group, which was lacking yesterday in masculine representation.

Blue and black with white were the favored colors chosen by many of the guests, Mrs. Gann selecting a gown of blue chiffon with coat and hat of black velvet. Both Mrs. Hurley and Mrs. Davis wore striking costumes of black velvet with white fox. Also in black with a neckline of white was Frau Kiep, who came with her husband, Dr. Otto C. Kiep, Counselor of the Germany Embassy.

The Italian Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, just returned from an absence in Italy, was the center of an interesting group welcoming him back to Washington. Also attending was the Ambassador of France, M. Paul Claudel, who has been in town but a short while from an absence abroad. The Ambassador of Chile and Senora de Davila were present and also the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Katsuji Debuchi.

Others present of the diplomatic group included Mr. Constantin Brun, Minister of Denmark; the Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro; the Minister of Greece, Mr. Charalambos Simopoulos; the Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochnik; the Minister of Norway, Mr. Halvard H. Bachke; the Minister of Lithuania, Mr Bronius Balutis; the Minister of the Irish Free State, Mr. Michael MacWhite, and the Roumanian Minister and Mme. Nano.

Also glimpsed were the Counselor of the Swiss Legation and Mme. Lardy, the Charge d'Affaires of Canada and Mrs. Hume Wrong, Miss Gertrude Lamont and Mr. E. J. Henning, former ranking Assistant Secretary of Labor and Mrs. Henning.

The battery of White House aids was on duty, marshaling the assemblage in orderly procedure. In the blue room Miss Ruth Fesler and Miss Mildred Hall, secretaries to Mrs. Hoover, saw that every one was engaged in enjoying the fete. The red room was gay in bowls of red roses arranged effectively near the wide mirrors and on the mantels.

Minister and Mrs. Peter To Arrive on Sunday.

The Swiss Minister and Mme. Peter will arrive in New York on Sunday aboard the Lafayette, after passing several months in Europe. They will be at the Ritz Tower for a short time before coming to Washington, and will see their sons who make their homes in New York.

Mr. Victor Podoski, First Secretary of the Polish Embassy, will also arrive on the Lafayette after passing the summer in Europe.

The Minister of the Netherlands, Mr. J. H. van Royen, and Mme. van Royen, who arrived in New York several days ago after passing several months in Europe, came to Washington last evening. They will pass only a few days in Washington before leaving for a trip to California. They will be away about five weeks.

The Minister of Czechoslovakia sailed Wednesday on board the liner Vulcania on leave of absence. He will proceed to Czechoslovakia where he will join Mme. Veverka, to stay until January. Dr. Jan Skalicky will be charge d'affaires ad interim.

Mrs. David H. Kincheloe, wife of the former representative from Kentucky, is the guest in whose honor Mrs. Eleanor Cox Griffith will entertain at luncheon today at the Carlton.

Mrs. Kincheloe will leave soon for New York, where her husband will assume his duties as judge of the Customs Court. Former Representative and Mrs. Charles Stengle have taken the Kincheloe house at 5002 Thirteenth street.

The Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. W. Irving Glover, entertained at a dinner last evening at the Wardman Park Hotel in behalf of the officials of his bureau and the railway mail service. There were 27 guests.

Maj. Neill Edwards Bailey and Mrs. Bailey have sent out invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy May Bailey, to Mr. Harold Norman Walsdorf, on Tuesday evening October 21. The ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock in Christ Church, Georgetown.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt arrived at Hot Springs, Va., yesterday to join the autumn colony. Mrs. Vanderbilt has closed her villa at Newport for the season.

The Governor of Maryland, Mr. Albert C. Ritchie, will give a luncheon tomorrow in Annapolis in honor of the delegates to the sixth International Permanent Road Congress. The luncheon will be held at the Annapolis Beach and Tennis Club, and later the visitors will inspect the Naval Academy.

Gen. Holbrook In Command at Fort Hamilton

Brother and Nephew Are Well Known in the Capital.

With commanding officers of the First Division and their staffs in attendance Brig. Gen. Lucius R. Holbrook, overseas veteran of the division, took command of the peacetime organization of the A. E. F. unit on Tuesday at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, while the troops of the division stationed at the fort passed in review.

Gen. Holbrook is the brother of Maj. Gen. Willard A. Holbrook (retired), who makes his home on Wyoming avenue. His nephew, Lieut. Willard A. Holbrook, jr., U. S. Cavalry, is stationed at Fort Myer and last year served as aid to President Hoover.

Gen. Cumming to Receive Degree in Philadelphia.

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, of the Public Health Service, and Mrs. Cumming left yesterday afternoon for Philadelphia, where they will be guests of Dr. Cumming's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Wynne Cook. While in Philadelphia Dr. Cumming will be honored with the degree of doctor of science, conferred by the University of Pennsylvania, which, at the same time, will also confer degrees upon Dr. William Gerry Morgan, of Washington; Dr. Welch, of Johns Hopkins, and Sir Walter Fletcher and Prof. Hill, of London.

Miss Catherine Fechet, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. James E. Fechet, leaves today by motor for West Point, to remain over Sunday. She will be accompanied by Miss Mary Jacobs and they will attend the dances at the Military Academy this evening and tomorrow evening, returning to Washington Monday.

Mrs. Kendrick, wife of Senator John B. Kendrick, sails from New York the middle of next week for the Virgin Islands, where she will visit her nephew and niece, Capt. and Mrs. Calvin Cumming.

Miss Barbara Wright, the daughter of Mrs. Hamilton Wright, who has been visiting Mrs. Anne Archbold at Bar Harbor, has joined her mother in New York.

Miss Elsie Tuckerman and Miss Ruth Tuckerman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman, entertained at a small party Wednesday night in their home in honor of Miss Carolyn Walker, who is making her debut late in November. Among the guests were Miss Rose Hayes, Miss Betty Saunders, Mr. Page Hufty, Mr. Henry Bell Gwynne, Mr. Kenneth Watson, Mr. James Rogg and Mr. Walter Watson.

Mrs. A. Kelly Evans was hostess yesterday at Hot Springs at a benefit bridge for the Episcopal Church. Among the Washingtonians who attended were Baroness Rosencrantz and Mrs. Francis S. Whitten.

Mrs. Francis G. Newlands is spending a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Orme Return From Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Philip Orme have returned from Newport, where they spent the summer with the latter's mother, Mrs. E. H. Elder, at Elmhurst. Mr. and Mrs. Orme will receive in their home at 1631 Massachusetts avenue on Sundays throughout the season from 4 until 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Harry Kimmell, after visiting friends at Blue Ridge Summit, has returned to Washington and will be at the Hotel Dupont until the first of November, when she will leave to spend the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. Winfield W. Scott, U. S. A., and Mrs. Scott at Fort Sill, Okla.

Other guests at Hotel Dupont include Mrs. Winfield Scott Edgerly, widow of Gen. Edgerly, and Mrs. William J. Barnett, widow of Admiral Barnett.

Towers Will Make Home in Georgetown

Navy Captain and Bride to Live in Hartigan Mansion.

Capt. John H. Towers, assistant chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. N., and his bride, the former Mlle. Anne Pierette de Grandmont, have joined the smart colony in Georgetown. They have taken the house at 1400 Twenty-ninth street, the home of Commander and Mrs. Charles C. Hartigan, who are in Peking, China, where Commander Hartigan is serving as naval attache at the American Legation. Mrs. Hartigan is a sister of Kathleen Norris, the novelist.

The marriage of Capt. Towers and Mlle. de Grandmont was one of the most attractive and colorful events of the summer season. It took place early in August at the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pell, in Ticonderoga, N. Y., in the presence of the ranking officials of the Navy, all old friends of Capt. Towers.

Mrs. Towers is the daughter of Mme. Pierre Chauvin de Grandmont, of Paris. Mr. Pell was appointed guardian for Mrs. Towers, and thus the wedding took place at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bernard Clark have motored up from their home in Bird Haven, Va., and are at the Carlton.

Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, after a prolonged absence, has returned to Washington. She came to attend the dinner which was given last night by Mrs. William Adams Brown, of New York, in the interest of the Washington Cathedral. Mrs. Hert will spend the season here. She expects to reopen her apartment at 1785 Massachusetts avenue early next month. Last winter Mrs. Hert lived in Louisville, Ky.

Egypt Charge In Host's Role At Reception

Ambassador of Italy Entertains for Road Group.

The Charge d'Affaires of Egypt and Mme. Ismail Bey gave a reception yesterday in celebration of the anniversary of the coronation of King Fuad I, who succeeded his brother, Hassein I, in October, 1917. The legation was brilliant with flowers and palms, the staff assisting in reception of guests as they moved through the drawing rooms. During the afternoon an orchestra gave a group of themes from the opera, "Aida," and several light operas of Egyptian motif.

Nearly all of the chiefs of missions now in town attended the fete. The Ambassadors of Italy, France, Chile, Japan and Turkey were noted entering the legation shortly after the White House reception. The Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro, the Minister of Greece, M. Simopolous; the Minister of the Irish Free State, Mr. Michael MacWhite, and the Minister of Lithuania, Mr. Bronius Kasimir, and the Minister of Guatemala, Senor Don Adrian Recinos Balutis, were seen chatting together.

Also, the Roumanian Minister and Mme. Nano, the Minister of Albania, Mr. Faik Conitza; Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark Bristol, the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. William R. Castle, jr.; the charge d'affaires of Persia, Mr. Hashem Mokarram Nourzad; the second secretary of the Polish Legation, Mr. Stanislaw Massalski; Senor Don George de la Barra, first secretary of the Bolivian Legation; the Counselor of the British Embassy and Lady Broderick, the counselor of the Turkish Embassy, Mr. Ahmet Bedi; Herr Rudolf Leitner, secretary of the German Embassy; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kaufmann, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McKenney and others.

The Ambassador of Italy, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, entertained at CONTRACT BRIDGE.

With the above hand South bid one Club and, much to North's surprise, West bid one Spade. North now figured that, while his hand counted only 11, he had three tricks in Spades, help in Clubs and the King of a third suit; he had nothing in the fourth suit, but felt that two No Trumps would be a sound bid for him to make. Bidding only one might not sufficiently encourage a partner who could bid only one Club. Lacking a stopper in a suit (Hearts) other than the one bid originally (Clubs), North needed a count of 13 to justify two No Trumps; but North with three tricks in the adverse suit (Spades) and his other assistance was justified in his two No Trump bid. After East's pass, South made the game-going raise to three No Trumps, as he had more support for No Trump than his original one Club had indicated.

Fortunately for the Declarer, East led a Spade to his partner's bid, and of course North's three Spade tricks were at once assured. Counting his hand, Declarer could see that in addition to the Spades he was sure of four Clubs and one Heart. He needed one other trick to make game. It might be there in the King of Diamonds, but it might not. However, if West could be induced to lead a Diamond, one trick in the suit probably would be made. There was no hurry about leading the Clubs, and it was important to keep the adversaries from leading Hearts, so Declarer made a bluff Heart lead, North playing the Six and South finessing the Nine after East played small.

West won with the Jack and found nothing to do but lead the Queen of Diamonds. The outcome of the first trick barred Spades, North's bluff Heart lead made that suit look dangerous, and South had bid Clubs. North played the King, East the Ace and South small. Then East fell into the trap and returned a Diamond, which set up the trick that gave Declarer the game.

Dare Interprets the MODE

Simple and very elegant is this gray ensemble, the dress of gray crepe, the coat of gray wool with flat gray fur collar. (Courtesy Redfern, Paris.)

New York, Oct. 9.

L A mode est demode!

So says a famous Parisian courturier, who represents two generations of knowledge of the matter.

"When women had nothing better to do with their brains," says this authority, "they used them trying to outwit other women in the matter of style. But the twentieth century woman has a great deal more to do with her time and mental energy than that! A woman who is always 'the last word' in the mode indicates her frivolity of mind and lack of purpose. Whereas l'elegante, who is always dressed in perfect taste, indicates the intelligence of the modern woman."

* * * * *

Which leaves very little more to be said, even though Monsieur Heim did go on to say that America would have to learn that the day of quick style changes was over. There is no reason why styles should change any more rapidly than architectural ideas, or furniture, for example. That they have done so in the past is only an indication of woman's frivolous mentality.

Monsieur Heim prophesizes the day when women's garments will be as standardized as men's are now.

I wonder!

* * * *

Good-taste is expected of a house that has catered to queens and princesses for nearly a century. That is why I am delighted with but never surprised at ensembles like the one I have illustrated for you today, when I see them at Redfern's. The dress is gray crepe, the coat gray wool trimmed with black fur, the effect is one of extreme smartness coupled with good taste. Don't you think so yourself?

* * * *

You ought to know about the sleeves and necklines of the fall and winter season, now honestly you should. You should for so many reasons—one, so that you may know what's what when it comes to buying your new fall and winter togs. Another, so that you may know just how to make a new fall model out of last year's coat or dress. Any way you look at it, you had better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet of 40 sleeves and necklines.

* * * *

Technically no one dresses on the last night on board a boat, for the very good reason that all baggage has to be packed and out of the staterooms by 9 o'clock. But if the boat arrives late in the afternoon, baggage does not have to be packed before 10 o'clock in the morning, and as a consequence no one knows whether to dress for dinner or not. I always decide to dress, because the general atmosphere of a boat is one of elegance. Then, too, what woman does not prefer to wear evening clothes if she has them and when she can? Oh-hum!

* * * *

We just know you won't regret it if you look each Sunday for Dare's weekly fashion letter. It's always in The Sunday Post.

Au revoir!

Foliage Plants.

WHEN we consider how few flowering plants we have that really do well in the house in winter we are truly thankful for the large number of foliage plants that may be depended upon to not only live but grow.

The hardiest plants that we have are the aspidistras. There is more than one variety of aspidistra, but all of them have splendid constitutions. They are seemingly all quite oblivious to neglect. We can water them spasmodically, set them in the sun or shade, keep theme where the air is dry and dusty and they will still live on. This is much more than can be said of most house plants. If, however, we provide these plants with a rich soil and give them plenty of moisture, they will make a rapid growth and leaves will soon appear. There is a variegated aspidistra that several readers have been asking about. This variety has white stripes on its leaves. If this aspidistra happens to make a rapid growth you will be surprised to see that the new leaves come up without the white stripes. This is simply a peculiarity of this plant.

The sanseviera, or New Zealand hemp, known in some sections as snake plant, is another plant with so rugged a constitution that it will stand more than a minimum amount of neglect.

This plant is attractive because of the unusual formation of its leaves. These tall parallel lines of green are most attractively marked with unique transverse patches of grayish white.

The sanseviera enjoys a rich soil, plenty of light or, better still, sun and fresh air in abundance. If you supply these wants and give it a daily drink it will be perfectly happy and, while it will show only slow growth, it will live and be a decorative asset in any room.

The aracuaria, or Norfolk pine, is a plant with which we are all familiar. Its foliage is bright green and is produced in regular whorls of five at regular but short intervals. This plant will also stand some neglect, but not so much as the other varieties I have mentioned. The araucaria must be kept in a cool place and the soil about its roots must be kept moist at all times. Never make the mistake of breaking a branch of this plant, for if you do you have marred its beauty in a way that can not be repaired.

The Sago palm is a reliable foliage plant, but it is a slow grower and is never at its best in a small room. It is a large plant, demanding space. This palm is usually indifferent to either dust or gas. It requires, however, a well-drained soil and will succeed in any room even though the temperature varies.

The dracaena is another worthwhile house plant. The secret of growing this plant to perfection is a rich soil. This it must have, otherwise it will die. It also demands plenty of fresh air. While it may get along with only moderate heat, it must have water every day.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

Ferns for Sunless Windows

A cheery substitute for flowers, aren't they? And so easy to grow, if they are given the little bit of care they require. You'll find the ones best adapted to house use, and their culture, in a leaflet which may be had simply by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LIBRA."

IF October 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 a. m. to 10:45 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon, and from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

"Decidedly unsettled" are the astrological indications for this date, and nerves will be keyed up to the breaking point. Speculators are slightly favored. Silver clouds with dark linings. Mind less efficient and acute than usual—postpone important transactions and decisions.

The child born on this October 10 will have an extremely jealous nature, which will drive it into passionate fits of temper. It will be very generous, and on the whole very unselfish. It will be artistic, refined, studious, sociable, kind-hearted, and very fond of sports.

You are suffering from the perils of a shut mind. You doubtless do not realize that you live and have your being in a bigoted, egotistical shut-in world of your own. You wag your head to all timely suggestions, no matter how clever they may be, if they come from outside of your little horizon. Your imagination is too atrophied to carry you into its magical kingdom, and you are not quick to respond to the manifold glories which surround you.

Under all your physical courage—which is great—lurks a layer of intellectual cowardice. You run away from intellectual adventures. You do not like the unusual, you like the expected, and you are disconcerted when you meet the unfamiliar. You fear nothing except being made a fool of. You have the modern fear and distaste of being alone, of being left to your own resources of amusement, and so you follow the crowd. You are unsettled, restless, ever in a hurry, always wanting to go somewhere and do—what?

You are liable to extremes of temper and mood, and are easily angred, but as readily pacified. You do not carry your grudges for long, and you are always anxious to straighten out misunderstandings. You are outspoken, almost to the degree of being tactless. Your word is absolutely good, and you never mean to go back on a friend. You are loyal and have never been known to become a "turncoat." You should benefit through marriage.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

FOODS TO FIGHT SCURVY.

TOMATO juice, turnip greens, and a mixture of spinach, lettuce and carrots are about on a par with orange juice as foods which prevent scurvy and keep the teeth and gums in good condition. Daldorff and Zall have measured the antiscorbutic properties of these several foods by the latest and most approved methods. For this purpose they used rats.

Feeding rats for 20 days or longer on a base diet that was right except for vitamin C and to which was added 15 minims of orange juice, they found that the animals developed mild scurvy. If, however, they added 75 minims of orange juice instead of 15 the animals showed no evidence of scurvy.

When tomato juice was used as a scource of vitamin C it was found that 30 grains daily was not enough to completely protect against scurvy. But 60 grains, or any amount over 60, gave ample protection. Turnip greens made a record that was on a par with tomato juice. One ounce of a mixture of spinach, lettuce and carrots was also effective. The experiment did not include trial or smaller quantities of these three common vegetables.

The teeth of rats grow continuously and far more actively than do those of men. The test consists in noting the rate of growth of the rats' teeth and in sawing off the outer ends and examining them microscopically.

If the food does not supply enough vitamin C the teeth grow slowly and the microscope shows, abnormally. Studies of the long bones show that in scurvy their growth is abnormal, after the pattern of that found in the rat's tooth. This method of testing the antiscorbutic properties of foods is coming into general use and appears to be destined to displace the Sherman method.

Of all the vitamins the only one that appears to keep poorly is C. Whenever a food ages or dries out, ferments, or is much exposed to the air its vitamin C content drops. Therefore, vegetables and fruit should be eaten when in prime condition. It is also the only vitamin which does not stand cooking very well. To get it the eating of raw foods may be necessary. However, canned tomato juice seems to be rich enough in it. Boiling milk for five minutes reduces its vitamin C content by only 20 per cent.

CAUSE OF CANKER SORES.

Mrs. W. M. G. writes: I have a message for S. B., and others who suffer from those nagging pests, canker sores.

It does little good to tell such persons to change their diets unless you tell them how. I have finally studied out, to my own satisfaction, the cause of canker sores. It is not indigestion nor disordered stomach in the usual acceptance of those terms. It is due to a deficiency of calcium and vitamin C. Milk and oranges added to the daily diet will prevent canker sores. Neither will do it alone, but together they are effective. One or two glasses of milk and one or two large oranges daily will be required. Of course, it is assumed that the diet is normal in other respects. This discovery has been of great importance in my life, and I should like to have others share its benefits. The constant nagging of canker sores warps both judgment and disposition.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

An Interesting Mother.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am a constant reader of your column and ask you to please write something on mothers being pests and interfering with the home life of married children. I am married, have a very good husband and a lovely little girl, a nice home and go to work every day. If we ever have a couple of friends to spend an evening and do no ask my mother, she just eats the head off me the next day.

We have a car and if we want to go for a ride at night and don't ask mother and dad, why there is war. My mother is the flapper type of a grandmother. She goes to see the best of shows while I work. Comes home about 6 p. m., just when we come in from work tired and hungry, and makes my husband cross.

I have the best mother-in-law that ever lived. When we ask her to come out with us she says, "No, you both work all day and should have your evenings together." She takes my little girl and keeps her on a Sunday. If we are asked to go out for the day. But my mother is wild if we don't take her with us. My husband just gets angry, and now he says we must move far away from my mother. I have a sister and a brother, and mother is just the same with them. Just tries to run our lives for us.

My sister's husband will not let mother in his house, and when she sees my sister on the street she just blows off a lot of steam. Mother and Dad can well afford a car of their own but they will not. Mother is just the same as when we were children—selfish. I hope I will not be like that when I get to be her age—try to spoil my girl's life.

Mother reads your column every night, so answer this as soon as you can so she can see how wrong she is. I hate to move my home, but my husband is just about fed up with my folks. If this is too long to answer make it short, but do help me to keep my home and job and not be always having some one fussing with us.

PEG.

There are thousands upon thousands of people who go through life and raise families without ever achieving a mental development beyond that of a child 12 years of age. These people should not be too harshly judged for their seemingly reprehensible behavior toward others. They simply lack adult intelligence and judgment. They should, however, be handled with the firmness required in handling a child. They invariably respond just as a child does.

You should stop visiting your mother, and should tell her very kindly but firmly that you are too busy at supper time to receive her. She may be resentful at first, but will ultimately accept the situation. And it is your one way out. When a man is ready to give up his home and his job if necessary to avoid outside interference in his home, it is time for his wife to act.

Simply be firm and stand your ground. Keep away from your people and insist that they keep away from you. Do that and your troubles are over.

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help those who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

BAKED RICE AND GIBLETS.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

One cup of cooked giblets
Two cups of cooked rice
Two cups of gravy
One teaspoon salt
One-quarter of a teaspoon pepper.

Chop the giblets fine, mix them with the other ingredients, pour the mixture into a greased baking dish, and bake it for 20 minutes. A little finely chopped celery or green pepper may be added if desired. This dish will make eight to ten ordinary servings.

STEWED KIDNEYS AND RICE.

Two or three veal kidneys
One teaspoon salt
One quarter teaspoon pepper
One onion, chopped
Four tablespoons butter or fat
Two cups cooked rice
One cup of water
One tablespoon flour.

Trim, split and cook the kidneys for ten minutes in boiling water. Cut them in small pieces, add the salt, the pepper and the chopped onion and saute them in fat until brown. Place the browned kidneys and onions in a baking dish with the cooked rice. Make a brown gravy by adding the flour and water.

A Becoming Waistline for the Women of Dignity

Obviously, every woman can not wear the extreme waistlines of this season. Such a dress as this black Canton crepe, with its deep yoke of beige lace, is cut with gracious dignity to complement the more mature figure with its surplice line and fitted hipline, yet it has the individuality demanded by the discriminating woman. $49.50.

Junior League Fall Meeting October 21.

The annual fall meeting of the Junior League of Washington will be held on Tuesday, October 21, in the clubroom at 1529 Connecticut avenue.

Mrs. Leonard Block and Mrs. George Maurice Morris have been appointed delegates to the regional conference of the Junior League in Wilmington, which will open November 11, and last for four days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hay Whitney, of Upperville, Va., were visitors at the Laurel track yesterday, where Mrs. Whitney, the former Miss Elizabeth Altemus is now racing her stable on the Maryland course. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney were recently married in Philadelphia, and both are great horse fanciers. The former is a polo player of some note and Mrs. Whitney is a splendid horsewoman.

Their home at Upperville, where where they are spending their wedding trip, is furnished with a collection of rare antiques, among which is an original Chippendale sideboard of great beauty.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Thomas J. Stone, Secretary of the Canadian Legation, and Mrs. Stone entertained officers of the Danae at a tea at their home on Thirty-fifth street.

Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock has returned from Newport for the season. After closing Harrison House, her summer home there, she spent a few days in New York, accompanied by her nieces, Miss Dorothy Sollers, Mrs. Joseph Sollers, of Baltimore; and Miss Cornelia Sollers, of Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Louis Little is in New York for a brief visit.

Women's Alliance Gives Tea This Afternoon.

The Women's Alliance of All Souls' Church will open its program of activities with an afternoon tea, to be held in Hale Parish House, Sixteenth and Harvard streets this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Among those assisting will be Mrs. Arthur Sturgis, Mrs. John L. Hyde, Mrs. John W. Adams, Mrs. Proctor Dougherty, Mrs. Laurence C. Staples, Mrs. Sanford Bates, Mrs. Truman Abbe, Mrs. Fred G. Harden, Miss Helen Nicolay, Mrs. Samuel Flagg Bemis, Mrs. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, Mrs. W. R. Maxon, Mrs. McFall Kerbey, Mrs. R. H. Higgins, Mrs. J. C. Gilbert, Mrs. Ernest Knaebel, Mrs. Harold Fish, Mrs. Thomas Hensey, Mrs. Elwood Street, Mrs. James M. Doran, Mrs. Austin H. Clark, Mrs. J. F. Yorkeeper and Mrs. Arthur Bryant.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker Stone, and their young son, Charles Lanier Stone, will be the guests of Mrs. Stone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Brooke for the next few weeks, until the apartment at 1723 Massachusetts avenue, is ready for them.

Mrs. Brooke has returned to her home at 1787 K street, where she and Mr. Brooke will remain for the winter, plans for building on their property on Massachusetts avenue having been canceled for the present. Mrs. Brooke has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan on Long Island.

Dr. Theodore Maynard, Georgetown University, was the guest of honor at the Arts Club last evening, when he presented several readings. Mrs. William Wolff Smith and Mr. Ben deMier Miller were hosts.

Mrs. George H. Miles, president of the Women's Republican Club in the State of New Jersey, has arrived in Washington from her home in Rumson, N. J., and is stopping at the Carlton.

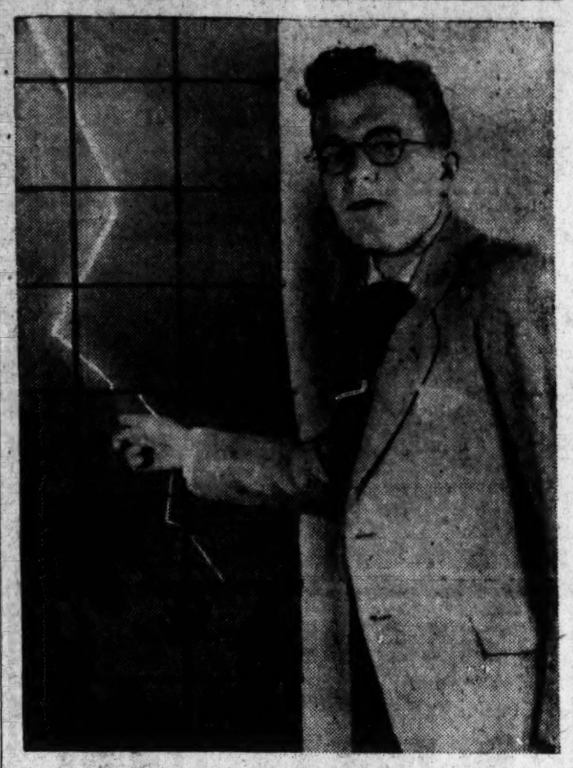
Mr. and Mrs. Wade H Ellis are having an interesting sojourn in England. Recently they luncheon at the American Embassy as guests of Ambassador Dawes and Mrs. Dawes, and Mr. Ellis, at one of the sessions of the court, sat on the bench of the Old Bailey.

Parent-Teachers' Group Elects New Officers

Mrs. Walter C. Jones was elected president of the Wheatley School Parent-Teachers Association, at a meeting held yesterday in the school auditorium to fill the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Mrs. Edna Rowlings. Other officers elected at yesterday's meeting—the first of the fall season—were Mrs. Alice Manning, first vice president, and Mrs. E. I. Duerr, second vice president.

Prizes for summer garden activities were awarded to Dora Garner, Sylvia Steward and Peggy Uphold, students living in the vicinity of the school. Other prizes, to be awarded later, were on exhibition. Those present engaged in a round table discussion on the subject of "Shaping the child's education for useful citizenship."

IT WAS LOCKED - - By JOHN HAWKS



"Did you see that flash?"

READ THIS FIRST:

Robin Smith, a young and rising but extremely sensitive poet, is invited to make one of a country house party. He accepts because Lady Gwendolen Winston, with whom he is desperately in love, will also be present. At the house party Robin meets Lady Gwendolen, the Earl of Winston, her brother, Donald Flint, wealthy business man and Andree Opie, with whom Robin had once been in love. Prince Pozolevsky snubs Lord Winston, and Lady Dorothy, who has arranged the party, believes it will be a failure. Robin is reprimanded by Winston, later in the garden, when the young poet quarrels with Flint because of his attentions to Gwendolen.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER V.

Lady Gwendolen, who had been sitting silently during all this time, found her first amused delight turning to annoyance. Above anything, she hated a scene. Not that her brother Edward was likely to precipitate one. He was far too cool for that. Still, she could not but feel the electricity in the air. She noticed with astonishment that it was quite dark.

"There must be a storm coming up," she said, irrelevantly, hoping to divert the three men from each other. Mr. Flint was taking it very well, she thought, with a touch of pride. She wasn't sure, after all, that she would not be wiser to accept his ardent pleading to become his wife. He was a man worthy of any woman, she felt sure. Why wait for the great love that would never come?

"Let me take you back to the house," said Mr. Flint, courteously, offering his arm to Lady Gwendolen. "You must pardon this, Lord Winston. Mr. Smith seems bent on causing disturbances." He turned to Winston with a suave wave of his hand, dismissing the matter.

"It wasn't . . . I didn't . . ." Robin started to protest angrily.

But no one appeared to notice him. Lady Gwendolen and Mr. Flint had already disappeared, and Lord Winston stood with a perplexed frown on his face, staring straight in front of him, and absently flicking the ash from his cigarette. He did not appear to be aware of the poet's existence. For some time Robin stood staring sulkily at the tall, lean man. Then abruptly he turned on his heel and made his way back to the lighted terrace.

When Robin re-entered the music room Lady Dorothy and Lady Opie were already there. And no sooner had he taken a seat than Gwendolen came in. A furtive glance at her showed her face flushed, and not unhappy. She was evidently laboring under some repressed excitement. But she chattered away with the women as if nothing had happened. Robin was puzzled. What queer creatures women were, anyhow! There was no making head or tail of them. His own feelings were confused. And his mind was in a whirl. He wished he were out of this whole mess. This was only Friday night, and he must live through till Monday morning. How thankful he would be when the time came for departure. He cursed himself for coming. What business had he here among these people who treated him as though he were no more than a clown? It served him right, too! "Never again!" he vowed to himself.

He sat there silently, and watched the others come in, one by one, separately. First came Sir George Opie, who, to Robin's now moody, exaggerated vision, looked like an overfed member of the German middle classes. How could Andree have ever married him? Money, of course. Was the key to everything desirable money, always money? Robin decided he would rather be dead than think quite that.

Sir George was immediately followed by Muriel Haddon, whose face was wistful. Two years before it was expected that she would announce her betrothal to Lord Winston; but it was an open secret that a break had occurred for no ostensible reason. Edward Winston had kept to himself for months, and then gone away to Canada on a hunting expedition, from which he had just returned, and from that time, two years before, Muriel Haddon often had a baffled, hurt look, which was present tonight. On entering, Miss Haddon went straight to her violin. Robin was glad of that. He had heard her play at Queen's Hall, and admired the skill and temperament she displayed. It would be a delightful change, he thought, from the hours he had just lived through. Music was divine; human nature, too often not, he thought.

Robin fell into a mood of reverie. He often did this quite unintentionally. The gentle murmur of voices uttering sophisticated nothings lulled him into a state of half-sleep, from which he was awakened by the explorer. As soon as Robin heard his voice, he pricked up his ears. Here, at least, was one man who had something to say. But this time he was only remarking on the weather.

"Did you see that flash?" he was asking Lady Dorothy, who sat up very straight in the carved oak chair, her aristocratic profile turned toward Robin. "We are in for a regular storm. Better close the windows, hadn't we?"

"Oh, I don't think so . . ."

A second and brighter flash interrupted Lady Dorothy. The guests all moved uneasily. The air was heavy with suppressed thunder. The shrill cry of the peacocks made itself heard, and added to the evening's mood already charged with nervous excitement.

"Where's Edward?" Lady Gwendolen suddenly asked, showing her anxiety.

"Tebort poberi evo!" muttered Prince Pozolevsky under his breath.

The explorer stared strangely at the Russian, then turned to Lady Gwendolen.

"I left your brother smoking in the garden," he said.

"I think I see the light of his cigarette now," called Mr. Flint from his position near the French-doors.

"Oh, he's all right, Gwen!" Lady Dorothy reassured her. "Let's have some music and be cheerful. We've all lived through thunderstorms before."

"Yes, do play, Miss Haddon!" pleaded Robin, finding his tongue. "We need music. Please!"

The violinist smiled at the young man. She liked him for his honesty and naturalness, even if his occasional boorishness was disconcerting. She felt he had something to him; a forceful virile quality to which she responded.

"I'd like to play for you, Mr. Smith," she said. "Oh, Prince Pozolevsky," will you do me the honor of accompanying me?" "It is you who honor me."

The prince bowed deeply as he took his place at the piano.

Lady Dorothy drew a sigh of relief. This was better, she thought. She did so want her week-end to be a success. The sight of Lady Gwendolen talking in the corner to Mr. Flint added to her satisfaction. She had hopes of Gwen marrying this newest of her suitors. He was so splendid in every way, and she admired him especially for being "self-made." It indicated so much more character if you forged your way from the bottom than if you were born at the top. Gwen once said lightly that he was too old; but Lady Dorothy liked him better for that. He would take care of the girl. And he was handsomer than any man in the room; the gray at his temples added distinction.

The music was proceeding as these pleasing thoughts passed through Lady Dorothy's mind. They were playing the Kreutzer Sonata. Robin realized it with a start. It awoke in him all his yearning for the lovely girl in the corner. It nearly drove him to desperation to see her talking so intimately and gaily with that man. God, it would have been better to stay at home! There, at least, he could dream of her in peace, without any wealthy lovers intervening.

Lady Dorothy noticed that the poet was frowning sulkily. She wanted him to enjoy himself; she really had a maternal affection for Robin, which would have amazed him had he known it.

She slipped quietly from her chair, and stood beside him.

"Go, get your poems, Mr. Smith; there's a dear," she whispered. "We all want to hear you read them after the music."

Robin frowned more crossly. So he was here in the capacity of a performing bear. How delightful!

"I don't care to read tonight," he said, with finality.

Lady Dorothy looked so genuinely hurt that Robin was immediately repentant. After all, she had always been mightly decent to him. He mustn't blame her for her guests.

"All right," he smiled up at his hostess. "I'll get them. Don't mind me, please. I'm in a bit of a funk."

Lady Dorothy suspected the cause, and felt sorry for him. But it was the way of the world, and she realized that she couldn't change it. It was best to be philosophical.

"Run along!" She patted Robin gently on the back. "You can easily find your room. It's off the main hall, in the left wing, down four steps; the door on the landing. You can't possibly miss it. I'm sorry I had to put you way off there; but I'm awfully crowded. . . ."

"Oh, that's all right," Robin came gallantly to the rescue. "You saw this morning what I'm used to!"

Robin rose and gently pressed Lady Dorothy's hand, a liberty he had never taken before. He wondered what was getting into him. As he climbed the wide staircase, with its magnificently carved rail, the music grew fainter and fainter in his ears. A blinding flash of lightning, followed almost instantly by a long, deafening rumble of thunder, cut him off altogether. He no longer heard the music. Perhaps they had stopped playing.

PROPOSED NAVY CUT AROUSES OPPOSITION

ment, Mr. Britten intimated, he is going to start a fight.

Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), of New York, viewed the Navy's economy program from the standpoint of national unemployment. To reduce the Navy personnel by 4,800, he said, is simply to aggravate the unemployment situation.

The President, he recalled, had called the captains of industry together last year and had begged them to keep men employed. And now, he said, the Navy turns around and "lays off" 4,800 men.

"It is an outrage," he said, "and a very bad example in a country where 5,000,000 men are out of work."

Navy officials explain that no lay-off is contemplated; that they simply plan to reduce the number of recruits accepted each month from 400 to 200 until the reduction of 4,800 is effected.

But the result is the same, Senator Copeland replies. If 4,800 fewer men are accepted by the Navy, he says, it leaves just that many to find jobs at home.

All this, he said, he had pointed out in a letter which he had written to President Hoover, urging him to rescind the order for the personnel cut.

Just as Senator Copeland viewed the naval economy program against a background of unemployment, so Representative Britten viewed it against a background of prohibition enforcement.

"The maintenance of a proper national defense," he said, "is much more important to the peace of mind of the country than a further waste of money for the extension of a silly and unpopular law.

"I am told that the Prohibition Bureau has requested an increase of $2,000,000 for enforcement next year when all other branches of the Government are asked by executive order to curtail.

"If the Army and Navy are to be reduced in the interest of economy at a time when all Europe is sitting on a volcano, I think that retrenchment should be doubly applied to prohibition and to other departments not directly concerned with the national defense.

"Congress will not countenance unreasonable naval restrictions in favor of further unpopular Federal prohibition enforcement."

Chairman Britten advocated early abandonment of all vessels required to be scrapped by the London Treaty, and an early start on the ships that are needed to place the Navy at its maximum efficiency and on a parity with Great Britain.

He said he expected that the committee would insist on building up to the limit of the London naval pact, excepting for 8-inch gun cruisers.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

The French couturiers are spending much time and effort creating models that will make the larger woman appear slender.

Here's a charming example. It molds the figure beautifully about the waist and hips. The shirred sides soften the bodice at the front. The godets at either side of the back of the skirt form a center panel that gives height to the figure.

Style No. 575 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust measure.

It adapts itself especially well to canton crepe, flat crepe, crepe marocain and crepy woolens.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY.

LENORE ULRIC'S new play, "Pagan Lady," with which she opened the regular season at the National Theater, is now in the process of rewriting, recasting and reconstruction. Dudley Digges, one of the masters of stagecraft and last seen here with the Theater Guild production, "A Month in the Country," has the job of making over "Pagan Lady" for Broadway presentation. Several new faces will be seen in the cast when the play braves the elements.

• • • •

Next week promises to be an exceedingly busy one in local theaterdom. Standing-room-only signs are being brushed off with the hope of placing them outside the Belasco and the National. At the Lafayette Square playhouse the advance sale for the opening night of "Scarlet Sister Mary," with Ethel Barrymore in the title role, is something enormous. Mr. Taylor wonders what to do with the overflow. At the National D. W. Griffith's first all-talkie, "Abraham Lincoln," gets started Sunday—a special matinee performance for school teachers and journalists, and the regular opening at night for Mr. and Mrs. John J. Public.

This season the Gayety Theater has switched back to Sunday openings, and Mr. Jimmy Lake, the erstwhile comedian who manages the house, reports an active interest in this brand of entertainment. The combination vaudeville and burlesque show getting under way this Sunday night is called "Novelties of 1930." Two Harrys are in the cast—Harry Clexx and Harry Meyers.

Theatergoers wending their way this week to the Belasco have had to crawl over all sorts of barriers, what with the street in front of the theater being paved; but next week, when Miss Barrymore appears in black face, the roadway will be cleared. Anyway, opines Mr. Taylor, 'twould make no never mind. Followers of Miss Barrymore wouldn't let a little thing like street construction stop them from seeing their favorite actress, even if she is smoking a pipe this season.

• • • •

After the Barrymore play, A. A. Milne's fantasy, "Michael and Mary," steps into the Belasco with the charming little actress, Madge Kennedy, as the lady in the case. This play is being sponsored and produced by the Professional Players, the same organization that owns and operates "Everybody's Secret," now current on the boards.

• • • •

Lloyd Osbourne, the playwright, who has not been heard from for many, many seasons, has a new play about to be produced. It is called "The Vinegar Tree," is being sponsored by Wiman, of the old firm of Brady & Wiman, who put on "The Little Show," and—here is the secret—it may have a Washington premiere.

• • • •

Add the latest bookings for Washington: Ed Wynne, the Perfect Fool, in "Simple Simon," coming to the Belasco the week of October 27, with the premiere American dancer, Harriet Hoctor, featured.

Jane Cowl is over in Baltimore this week in a Shakespearean production, "Twelfth Night;" something Washington will miss.

Unveiling of Titanic Memorial Is Deferred

The monument recently erected at the foot of New Hampshire avenue in memory of those lost when the steamship Titanic sunk will be unveiled April 14, 1931, the anniversary of the ship's loss. The monument was to have been unveiled this month, but officials of the Women's Titanic Memorial Association, which is sponsoring the program, advised Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and parks, that their plans had not been completed. Col. Grant then set the date for the unveiling on April 14.

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney is the sculptor of the monument, and the architect is Henry Bacon.

Cross-Country Plane Race By Woman and Boy Looms

Laura Ingalls and Robert Buck to Take Off From California Today in Pursuit of New West-East Transcontinental Records.

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A cross country air race between Laura Ingalls, diminutive St. Louis woman flier, and Robert Buck, 18-year-old continent hopper, is in prospect for tomorrow. Each made plans today to leave from different airports at 5:30 a. m. (Pacific standard time), tomorrow in pursuit of new West-East transcontinental records.

Miss Ingalls, after overhauling the motor of her Moth biplane herself, said the Government Weather Bureau promised fine flying in the morning. She will take off from Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale.

Young Buck, who was ready at the Western Air Express Field, Alhambra, to hop off today was forced by low clouds and rain storms to wait until tomorrow.

Both young fliers plan to make Kingman, Ariz., their first goal, where they will refuel. Both denied any intention of making a race, but each said, "It's all right with me if it's a race."

Miss Ingalls, who holds the world's record for 714 consecutive barrel rolls, arrived yesterday in possession of an announced "record for any woman to shoot at," a coast-to-coast flight in 30 hours and 27 minutes' flying time. Her return flight will have the same aim, setting a West-East record for women fliers.

The Elizabeth, N. J., boy will seek the junior West-East transcontinental mark. Arriving last Saturday, he captured the junior East-West honors with an elapsed time of 28 hours 33 minutes, beating that of his friend, Eddie Schneider, Jersey City, by 1 hour and 8 minutes.

Heads of Elementary Schools Hold Session

The District Association of Elementary School Principals held its first meeting of the school year yesterday afternoon in the board room at the Franklin Building. An address on "The Elementary Principalship" was made by Dr. Frank W. Hubbard, assistant director of research of the National Education Association.

Dr. Hubbard is considered one of the highest authorities in the country on the administrative duties in elementary schools. Other educational authorities are to address the association during the year. Officers for the year are Mrs. E. K. Peeples, president; Miss Cecil Dulin, vice president; Mrs. Charles K. Finckel, treasurer, and Miss M. E. Pepper, secretary.

Guiding Your Child

NO AUDIENCE.

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

The second grade teacher walked into the cloak room to discover one of her newest charges standing in the middle of the floor divested of every stitch of clothing.

His garments lay in a circle about him and with arms crossed on his chest he stood looking expectantly at the classroom door.

He did not see the teacher who had come in by a side entrance. She was about to speak to him when a dozen youngsters came in to get their wraps.

They looked at the strange figure just long enough to say hello and then hurried to pull on their caps and sweaters and rush out.

One called back over his shoulder as he ran, "Say, you, you'd better hurry up, we're late."

"Yes, Willis," his teacher spoke up quietly, "you'll have to hurry and dress, if you want to make the bus to the ball field. Besides I should think you'd be cold."

Looking a bit crestfallen, he stooped to pick up his clothing and put it on.

Obviously Willis had expected to cause a great commotion.

Certainly he had hoped for fireworks from his teacher. But she, wisely enough, had taken her cue from the children and had paid him no more attention than they had done.

He had undressed, hoping to focus attention upon himself and he had received only the scantest notice.

A subsequent talk with his mother revealed the fact that he had often done this very thing while yet a little child at home and that she had always been very shocked and had punished him severely.

Apparently the treatment which his classmates and teacher gave him was more effective, for, at least at school, he has never tried it again.

Eastman to Give $1,000,000.

NEW "BRIDE" FOUND IN HUNT FOR PERRY

SOUGHT AFTER SLAYING

Eagle River, Wis., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A fourth "bride" and another courtship were added today to the honeymoon trail of George (Jiggs) Perry, want-ad Don Juan, wanted for the slaying of his bigamous wife, Mrs. Cora Belle Hackett.

St. Louis police said they learned that Perry had been married to Mrs. Harriet Milligan, 40, a St. Louis widow, in Belleville, Ill., on Monday—the same day the decomposed body of a woman found last week in the Lac du Flambeau Indian reservation near here was identified as that of Mrs. Hackett.

Another St. Louis woman, Mrs. Dorothy E. Hagerty, a divorcee and mother of two children, said Perry had proposed marriage to her and that they were to have been married yesterday.

In both instances, the usual want-ad insertion—"woman companion, refined, to travel to California"—provided the introduction.

Heir to Fortune Claimed.

Mrs. Hagerty said Perry told her he was to inherit an $800,000 estate after he had been married a year.

A photograph of Perry, published by a St. Louis newspaper in connection with the Hackett death, was recognized by Mrs. Hagerty, she said.

The photograph was also recognized by a guest in the St. Louis hotel, where Perry was staying. The guest notified police, but when they reached Perry's room, he was gone—without his baggage.

Perry also met Mrs. Hackett, the widow of a secret service operative under President Roosevelt, through a want ad insertion. Hotel registers here indicated, police said, the pair was on a honeymoon trip when she was shot to death. A warrant charging Perry with her murder has been issued.

Two Others Claim Husband.

Two other women have claimed to be Perry's legal wives. One is Mrs. Katherine Gebhart Perry, of Cleveland; the other, Mrs. Mary Perry, living in poverty in Milwaukee with three children.

Mrs. Hagerty readily admitted to St. Louis police she knew Perry.

When showed a photograph of the fugitive, she said:

"Why, yes; I know him. That's the man I have been going out with. I met him through a want ad. He told me he was the heir to an $800,000 estate, but could not get it until he had been married a year. He asked me to marry him and wanted me to lend him $2,000 or $3,000 for the wedding and honeymoon."

Perry, Mrs. Hagerty said, showed her a card bearing Mrs. Hackett's name, saying she was "his wealthy aunt."

Widow's Will Leaves All To Woman Companion

Mrs. Henrietta I. Bolton, widow of Henry Covington Bolton, who died August 27, left her entire estate to Miss Ethel Grimes, who had lived with her for a number of years. The will was filed yesterday. No value of the estate was given.

Mrs. Bolton explained in the will that she considered Miss Grimes as her daughter and explained that but for a legal obstacle she would have adopted her. Miss Grimes and Grahame H. Powell are named as executors.

Mrs. Fields Rites Are Set Tomorrow

Services for Publisher, 100, Will Take Place at Rockville Church.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rebecca Fields, 100-year-old woman publisher of Rockville, will be held tomorrow morning, with the Rev. Charles O'Hara, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Rockville, officiating. Requiem mass will be said at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be George M. Hunter, Charles Veirs, Dr. William Trail, Dr. William Vinson, Hampton Jones, and Charles Maddox. Honorary pallbearers will be Judge Robert B. Peter, William P. Veirs, Henry A. Dawson, Dr. George M. Lewis, Thomas N. Bailey and W. A. Jones.

Mrs. Fields died Wednesday night at her home in Rockville. She was the publisher of the Montgomery County Sentinel, one of the oldest newspapers in this section of the country and is believed to have been the oldest woman publisher in the world.

Hyattsville Woman Missing; Hunt Begun

Washington police have been asked to search for Grace R. Ferris, 28 years old, of Hyattsville, Md., who has been missing from her home there since Wednesday.

According to Hyattsville police, the woman left her home early Wednesday afternoon, saying that she was going to a neighborhood store, but she has not been seen since that time. Her husband, Clyde E. Ferris, could give no reason for her disappearance.

Woman Errs in Medicines.

Miss Roscella Bergin, 29 years old, of Fourteenth street near Clifton street, northwest, was treated last night by Emergency Hospital physicians for a medicine that she took by mistake. Miss Bergin reached for a bottle and got the wrong one. The physicians said she had taken a harmless concoction.

Woman Swallows Poison.

Miss Ella Ambler, 21 years old, of Hiatt place, near Lamont street northwest, drank poison with suicidal intent at her home yesterday afternoon, according to police. After being taken to Emergency Hospital in an ambulance, she was treated and returned home.

CRIME COMMISSION ARGUES DRY REPORT

Wickersham Guards Nature of Discussions Which May Last Another Week.

SWIFT ACTION EXPECTED

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's Law Enforcement commission got down to business yesterday in secret session on the task of formulating its prohibition report, but Chairman Wickersham carefully guarded the nature of the first discussions on this controversial subject.

The demand of some members that prohibition be made the immediate order of business of the commission thus was acceded to.

This same group, including Federal Judge William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, and Kenneth Mackintosh, former Washington jurist, is insisting that there be "no pussyfooting" on the wet and dry report and that the commission go to the bottom of the problem.

Swift Action Seen.

Mackintosh said yesterday he did not expect the commisison's statement on enforcement would be ready "tomorrow or the next day," but added he was backing Chairman Wickersham's statement of Wednesday that the report could be expected for Congress "early in December."

This would mean swift action by the commission in coming weeks, since the statement first must go to the White House for the President's approval.

It became certain yesterday that the commission will devote not only the remainder of the present week, but perhaps all of next week to its task. Newton D. Baker, called back to Cleveland last night to work on the Youngstown steel case in which he is an attorney, said he would return next Wednesday to lend his aid here.

Silent on Conferences.

Judge Kenyon also left Washington last night with the expectation of returning here next week. Chairman Wickersham has cancelled an address he was to make Sunday at Louisville, Ky., before the American Prison Association in order that he may remain in the Capital.

Somewhat worn by the more than five-hour session behind closed doors yesterday, following upon the day and night meetings of Wednesday, all of the eleven commissioners maintained strictest silence upon details of their first conferences.

All questions were referred to Chairman Wickersham and he declined to talk. He would make no comment upon reports that members of the group have sharply divided on the prohibition problem.

Data Held Sufficient.

Emphasizing the secrecy of the deliberations, the former Attorney General told newspapermen they should not expect "to keep a finger upon the pulse beat of the commission."

It was indicated authoritatively last night, however, the commission now has behind it sufficient investigation to complete its prohibition report unless some point needing further amplification should arise during the discussions.

Wickersham said, "A vast amount of material" had been collected on the subject and it was understood the work to be done is primarily a shaping of the information in hand. The commission chairman also has said that if these investigations have shown that "prohibition is not enforceable I think we should say so."

BROKERAGE FAILURE IS SHOCK TO STOCKS

Prince & Whitely Suspension Sends Some Issues Under Panic Prices.

HOPE GIVEN CREDITORS

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Insolvency of a Wall street brokerage firm that had been meeting its obligations since the days of Commodore Vanderbilt and Jay Gould was a severe shock to an invalid stock market today.

Share prices, already sinking rapidly when the suspension of Prince & Whitely was announced from the rostrum of the stock exchange at 12:30 p. m., plunged under a huge wave of selling, and such issues as United States Steel common and American Telephone touched lower levels than were reached in the selling panic of last November.

Wall street kept its nerve, however, and there was no sign of demoralization on the floor of the exchange, even though the financial community had been under the strain of shrinking share prices for a month. Brokers stated that conditions had obviously been greatly stabilized since last autumn, and that a huge volume of stock had passed to strong hands controlled by cool heads.

Although such a prominent firm as Prince & Whitely has not failed in years, and announcement of its insolvency was highly unsettling to speculative sentiment, the firm's attorneys stated that its customers and creditors may receive every dollar. In the absence of J. Mitchell Hoyt, senior partner of the firm, other partners declined to comment, but the attorneys stated that the firm's difficulties appeared to be temporary.

Share prices recorded the sharpest declines since the break of August 6, which was in response to news of the seriousness of the drought in the farm States. The day's losses in many important stocks ranged from $4 to $8 a share, with a few lightly traded high-priced issues tumbling $10 to $43 a share. The total turnover of 5,050,600 shares was the largest since June 18. The market rallied substantially for a time in the last hour, but again turned downward, and closing quotations were close to the day's lowest.

Summer Residents Qualify as Voters

Washingtonians to Ballot in Fown Elections at North Beach.

Several hundred summer colony residents of North Beach, Md., yesterday registered as voters in the forthcoming town elections at a meeting of the board of registrars held at the Pythian Temple, 1012 Ninth street northwest.

A special provision in the town charter provides f orthe establishment of the registration of Washingtonians who maintain summer residences at the resort. The board of registrars, which also serve as a board of election judges, is composed of Joseph Royall, of 1028 Seventh street northeast; Edward Curry, 1320 C street northeast; Clarence King, of North Beach, Md.

Charles Murray, 3309 O street northwest, is election clerk. Charles Eckert, town tressurer, who is a candidate for reelection, was at the meeting to facilitate the paymnet of taxes bythe prospective voters.

Man Dies of Injuries In Automobile Crash

William Farrell, of Potomac, died last night at the Georgetown University Hospital of injuries he sustanied in an automobile accident on the Rockville Pike, nine days ago.

Farrell was knocked down by an automobile and was brought to the hospital by Maryland police. He suffered a fractured skull and possible internal injuries. His condition at the time was diagnosed as critical.

Paris to Get Sight Of oMunt Vernon

Hoover Approves Plans to Exhibit Reproduction at 1931 Exposition.

(Associated Press.)

Plans have been approved by President Hoover for the reproduction of Mount Vernon as the central building of the United States' group at the Paris Colonial Exposition, which will open May 1, 1931.

The room occupied by Gen. Lafayette on visits to Gen. Washington is to be reproduced as nearly as possible in its original form, including furniture similar to that in the mansion.

C. Bascom Slemp, of Virginia, commissioner general of the United States to the exposition, after obtaining the approval of the Chief Executive and of Ambassador Claudel of France, said, because of the special work involved, much of the building would be fabricated in this country and shipped to France to be set up. The "new Mount Vernon" is to be used as an administration building," Mr. Slemp said.

William A. Hall Will Gives Hospital Relic

Under the terms of the will of William A. Hall, retired tobacco merchant, who died October 3, a relic of St. Francis Xavier is left to Providence Hospital with the provision that it is to be loaned to St. Peter's Church during the annual novena. A relic of St. Teresa is left to Mary M. Hall, a daughter. Mr. Hall also left $500 to the Little Sisters of the Poor and established a $200 fund for masses.

No value of the estate was given, but the will provides that the wife, Mrs. Minnie M. Hall, is to have the life use of household effects and real estate. At her death everything is to be divided among the children. The Second National Bank was named as executor.

Yes, that's the car I'd like, Mr. Snifkins, but there is still the matter of the trade-in on my present car.
I'll have our man look it over and give you a figure, Mr. Wallet. Of course, you understand the market on used cars is very poor.
Yours is a 1926, Mr. Wallet, and the value as given in the purple book is $72. The accident you had damaged it about $50, making it's present value $22. However, we'll do better than that—we'll offer you $37.50 as is.
What, for a perfectly good car running like a top!
I'll keep it myself first! The engine is perfectly good. I'll build a boat and put it in or rig up a turning lathe.

Dangerous Deeds
Episode 17
As Gen. Monk and Athos made their way towards Newcastle Abbey D'Artagnan and his companion stole stealthily after them
Again, fate is on our side! Look, they are leaving the camp behind!!
But who is the mysterious man in the gray cloak? We may have to reckon with him also!!
Meanwhile Gen. Monk and Athos entered a marshy meadow surrounding the old abbey
There, sir, is what remains of the abbey!! I trust that your treasure is still where you left it!!
They now entered a great hall where the soldiers of Gen. Monk's vanguard were stationed Men, give me a lantern and see that no one disturbs us!!
Athos now led the general through various galleries and passages until at last they came to a crypt under the great hall
This stone with its iron ring conceals the stairway to an ancient tomb
A few minutes later, Athos broke the cement covering of a wall, disclosing two barrels of gold
Voila! Behold, it is as I told you!!
Watch for tomorrow's thrill!!

Tilda and Andy held as suspects in the great Mogul diamond robbery—
Say I stole the great Mogul—that I walked in my sleep—hid under the bed and grabbed the safe while Bim was sleeping—
How could I have gotten out of the room with that safe if I was under the bed? And left everything locked from the inside? It's a mystery to me—They can't put me in jail—Somebody will suffer for this—
My nephew, Andy Gump, in jail—preposterous—he didn't steal the diamond—no Gump ever stole—anything—and I'm here to bail him out if it costs a billion dollars—
Try to make my husband out a thief—
Well—he was the last man in your room—he threatened if you didn't watch it carefully—he'd walk in his sleep and might steal it—and in the morning it was gone—
Tilda still refuses to tell where she was between the hours of nine and ten thirty the night of the robbery and is being held without bail—
Well—Gumps will be Gumps—boy—they can't hold my nephew in a cell while I'm alive—
$50,000 bail—think of it—
Somebody will suffer for this—you'll see—

CAPITAL AWAITS G. U.-WESLEYAN GAME TONIGHT

Westbrook Pegler Says

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—The boys must have their mystery and thus Col. Jake Ruppert, the owner of the New York Yankees, a ball club, not a dance orchestra, is unable to say just yet whether Joe McCarthy or some one else will manage his team next year. Mr. McCarthy recently joined the army of the unemployed as a provisional recruit, but it seems unlikely that he will like the life and he has been trying to desert in at least two directions—toward Boston and the Bronx.

A dude private he is, with the savings from five years of hire at $25,000 a year. There be those among the patrons of the baseball business of such ready sympathy and indignation that another of those momentary vendettas has been declared against his late employer, Mr. Bill Wrigley, proprietor of the Cubs, on the ground that he did Mr. McCarthy some wrong.

Many Dry Eyes at World Series.

However, there were many dry eyes in all the baseball gatherings which I attended in connection with the late world series, as the woes of the jobless Joe were touched upon, the opinion being that any one who has received $150,000 in the last five years was no worse off than he might be. I always feel that sympathy or pity bespeaks a condescension by the party of the first part and regard it as unseemly to commiserate such opulent unfortunates.

Mr. McCarthy got out with a good share of his earnings and also with a salable reputation and if he is a victim of ruthlessness then a two-line ad in the help wanted, male, would bring an astonishing number of martyrs eager to suffer the same wrongs on like terms, or even for something less than half.

Ruppert Will Make Sudden Decision.

However, it seems very likely that when Col. Rupert has enjoyed his mystery and the publicity it will bring his ball club in the football season when baseball is nonessential, he will suddenly discern matchless qualities of leadership and strategy in Mr. McCarthy, hire him and say so in a breathless whisp of flimsy which will be handed to the press in the outer room of his offices, according to custom.

The job open, McCarthy is the best man on the loose at present and Babe Ruth has still one year to play before he retires to the bench according to a present plan. Mr. Ruth announced this intention in St. Louis. Eighteen years of combatant baseball and about four years of economy and care have yielded him an independent fortune, and he has lost his zest for long afternoons in the outfield, to say nothing of his perceptible dash. He has been investing in income insurance at a rate equal to the combined salaries of a half dozen fair journeymen outfielders and his living is as well assured until the end of his time as the future of the United States.

Fine Baseball Instinct Strong in Ruth.

Also Mr. Ruth, when he retires, will include among his assets and souvenirs a reputation as one ball player in whom the base ball instinct was so strong that he has rarely, if ever, been seen to commit an error of judgment. His way with ball players is such that he would make an agreeable executive and he would have taken the manager's job last spring but for the fact that he was receiving all the money any one man could exact from any one club for playing the game as a field hand.

In the further capacity of manager he would have wanted at least $25,000 more and he, therefore, decided to save this asset for individual exploitation at the end of his current contract which expires next fall.

"Then," he said, "I am going to hang up my shoes. Eighteen years is a lot of years and I'm getting tired. I'm well fixed now."

"But, after that, what?"

"Well," the Babe said, "I'll stick in baseball I suppose. Manage some club, maybe. I don't know. Wait for offers."

In consideration of which, it may be well for Col. Ruppert to make the term of McCarthy's contract one year only, without an option for Joe.

Hallahan Had Blister On Finger, Says Street

St. Louis, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—If it had not been for an unfortunate blister that developed on the important pitching finger of Bill Hallahan, star Cardinal twirler, there might have been a different story to tell about yesterday's final world's series game at Philadelphia, in which the Athletics won the sixth game and the series. So says Gabby Street, manager of the Red Birds, and Hallahan's team mates, a staff correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported today.

Street said he wasn't discounting the greatness of the two ace Athletic pitchers, Earnshaw and Grove, but that Hallahan's arm yesterday was in rare form, even better than in Saturday's game, when he stopped the Macks, and that if it hadn't been for the sore digit things would have been different. The blister developed as the final contest started, broke, and then Hallahan was unable to find the strike zone consistently and had to be taken out, Street said.

Barnett Tied For Section Golf Lead

Mac Farlane, Ruyon in Triple Deadlock With Capital Pro.

Scores of 147 Top Midatlantic Play After 36 Holes.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 9.—Half way through the 72-hole journey of the Middle Atlantic open golf tournament at the Woodholme Country Club seven professionals hold the key positions with scores under 150 for their first two rounds.

Three are tied with the best score of 147, as they prepare for the second two rounds tomorrow. They are Bob Barnett, of Chevy Chase, one of the contingent of Washington entrants; Willie MacFarlane, former national open champion, and Paul Runyan, winner of the North and South open this year.

Just a stroke away are Gene Sarazen, who also has held the open title, and Ralph Beach, pro from the Suburban Club here. Tied at 149 are Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, and Tony Manero, of New York. Manero, in a practice round, set a new course record with 70, one under par, but he could not match it today.

Sarazen Comes Back With 71.

Most interest centered in the performance of Sarazen, and his playing stamps him as the logical winner, according to followers of the game. In the morning round his score was 77, high for this sharpshooter, but he had never seen the course before and he had to go around without an inspection. How much this meant to him is evidenced by his score of 71, equaling par, in the afternoon.

Of all the fine field, only Barnett and Alex Taylor, of Hagerstown, in the morning round, were able to duplicate par figure, and nobody broke it.

Sarazen's best nine came in the outward journey of the afternoon. Starting with a birdie on the first hole, he clipped the wings of par on the second, fourth and seventh. He slipped one over on the third and eighth to score a 34, two under par.

Leagues Confer Today To Reach Draft Ruling

Cleveland, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The question of universal draft, which the two major baseball leagues wish to apply upon players of the minors, will be threshed out in conference here tomorrow at an assemblage of officials of the organizations.

Officials of the International and Pacific Coast Leagues, and the American Association will hold a preliminary session to decide a policy regarding the draft and then lay it before big league officials. Officers of the American Association met here to decide upon a line of action which they will propose to the other minors tomorrow.

The American and National Leagues wish to draft players from the minors when the players reach major league caliber. The minors have held to the limited draft under which they hold a player if they do not wish to sell him even though he has reached major league caliber.

The minor league policy, the majors maintain, cuts off many good players from advancement.

The session tomorrow will be a reception for Connie Mack, manager of the world title-holding Athletics, who arrived here tonight from Philadelphia. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, czar of baseball, will also attend.

Macks Need New Strength As Guarantee of Greatness; Stand-Pat Policy Indicated

Series Won by Pair of Pitchers Aided by Timely Homers.

Stamp of Greatness Withheld Despite Series Triumph.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

MONARCHS of the baseball world undisputably are the Philadelphia Athletics, glorying now in their second consecutive world championship, fresh laurels of triumph garnered in the rout of the Cardinals' bearing the standard of the National League.

A great team? Perhaps. Methinks they need replacements.

Don't be misled by the stark result of the world series that saw the Mackmen crush the Cardinals underfoot with only six games required and each of their victories by decisive scores.

Just as surely as the Mackmen won the series, George Earnshaw, Lefty Grove, Al Simmons, Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Foxx won it for them. There are five great ball players. The remainder of the Philadelphia cast is not great, a few admittedly weak for a championship club. The rest are just fair ball players.

Remember the Yankees Of 1929.

Too quick is baseball to apply its stamp of greatness to pennant winners and even world champions. The Yankees of 1929 are typical. They romped through the American League in 1927 and buried the Pirates in four straight in the world series. They won the pennant again in 1928 and crushed the Cardinals in four straight in the play-off. What paeans of praise were lifted in their behalf then. There was a major citation for every man on the team. It was great. And in 1929 they lost the American League pennant to the Athletics by a margin of ten games. Fame is surely fleeting if undeserved.

The glare of the Athletics' triumph does not leave us blind to their weaknesses. And there were occasions without number in those six games in which they were weak, but tided over by the grace of the truly fine pitching of Earnshaw and Grove, who accounted for all of the victories between them.

No Sustained Batting By Mackmen.

Just as the good pitching of Earnshaw and Grove stopped the Cardinals in a short series, the good pitching of Haines, Hallahan and Grimes stopped the Athletics. There was none of the sustained batting power that the Mackmen had shown in the pennant race. Their grand average, despite their victory, was .197, pathetic indeed for a world series winner and three points below the average of the Cardinals in the series.

Connie Mack himself indicated that Mule Haas, his regular center fielder, would hardly do. Haas failed to hit .300 in the regular season, as did Bing Miller, in right field. Two outfielders failing to hit .300 with a championship club is a situation that calls for entrenchment. And Jimmy Dykes, at third base, is not strong enough defensively to offset his lapses in the field, or strong enough defensively to offset his shortcomings at the plate. Mack would like another third baseman.

Boley and Bishop Weak at Bat.

Joe Boley and Max Bishop are a clever combination around second base. They could be carried easily by a championship club that was otherwise well fortified with hitters and more than two winning pitchers. Bishop is invaluable as a lead-off man and both he and Boley are splendid fielders but the latter is weak with the bat.

Connie Mack this season made an effort to strengthen his second base combination and acquired two fine looking rookies in McNair and Williams, but with Grove and Earnshaw practically pitching the team to the pennant, Boley and Bishop did well enough in the infield and the rookies were relegated to the bench.

Who is there to say that Grove and Earnshaw can pitch the Athletics to another pennant in their own league? Even in the face of the performances of these two stars during the regular season and in the series, Mack needs pitchers. There is Walberg, to be sure, and Shores and Mahaffey, but they are not winning pitchers even with the help of the Athletics' batting power.

Pennant in 1931 No Foregone Conclusion.

It is far from a foregone conclusion that the Athletics can win the pennant in their own league next year, unless there is retrenchment and replacements. Connie Mack has not made an intraleague player deal since 1928, when he sent Sam Gray to the Browns for Bing Miller, whom he waived out of the league two seasons before. He has stood pat on this line-up and can thank the pitching of Grove and Earnshaw and the home runs of Simmons, Cochrane and Foxx

Veteran Manager to Make 1931 Fight With Same Club.

Players Scatter as Series Ends; Many to Barnstorm.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Connie Mack, five times winner of the world's baseball championship, said today that the Athletics next year would try for their ninth American League pennant and sixth world title with virtually the same team.

The famous baseball tactician, who had announced during the playing season he would not regard his team as great until it had won its second world's championship in successive years, said that at present he did not contemplate any serious changes. The usual strengthening of the club, as is done by most managers, was to be expected, he added, but there would be nothing radical. He expressed his complete satisfaction with the present make-up, which demonstrated its ability to win.

Mack Interrupted At Work.

Connie Mack was at his office in Shibe Park Tower early today and ready to tackle a pile of work, but he was constantly interrupted by visitors and telephone calls to congratulate him on the victory of the Athletics over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The tall tutor, accompanied by Thomas S. Shibe, president of the Athletics, left for Cleveland tonight to attend the minor league meeting tomorrow.

It was learned at the A's clubhouse today that the beaten Cardinals in the depths of defeat showed themselves to be true sportsmen. Just before the game was over and the score 7 to 0 against them some of the Cardinals congratulated Athletic players and wished them well.

Three Stars Leave To Barnstorm.

With the world's title safety tucked away, the triumphant players are scattering. Jimmy Foxx, George Earnshaw and Al Simmons leave Philadelphia tomorrow night on a barnstorming trip. Their first stop will be made at Toledo, whence they will go to Milwaukee, Simmons' home town. Then they will work their way southward to Texas.

Another barnstorming group in quest of exhibition-game money, which will play under the title of Cy Perkins' All-Stars, is going to oppose the strong Pottsville Team at Cressona, Pa., Sunday. Perkins, Jack Quinn, Jack Boley, Howard Ehmke and Charley Gelbert and Sparky Adams, of the Cardinals, will be in the squad.

Most of the players have maped out hunting trips for some time or other in the autumn.

26 C. U. Gridmen Leave For Holy Cross Game

Twenty-six Catholic University football players and Coaches Bergman and Cross last night entrained for Worcester, Mass., where tomorrow the Cardinals will tackle the strong Holy Cross eleven. The Worcester team is favored to win easily.

For the third time in as many starts Catholic U. will go into battle with a crippled line-up. Hugh Flynn, the team's best tackle, is out for the season as a result of an injury sustained last Saturday. Johnny Oliver and Carl De Mello, half backs; George Menke, guard, and Ed O'Brien and Nick Monaco, tackles, are nursing injuries serious enough to slow them down considerably.

2 Notre Dame Players, Hurt, Miss Navy Game

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Poor Knute Rockne! Injuries have cut his Notre Dame Football Squad from 120 to 118 hand-picked players.

The two casuals will be missed Saturday when the Ramblers meet the Navy, however. They are "Moon" Mullins, first string full back, and Dick Donoghue, varsity right tackle, who were scuffed up in the Southern Methodist game. Coach Rockne said they will not be permitted to play in the Navy game.

WALES WINS CUP.

Sunningdale, England, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales today won the Golf Club Captain's Cup, beating out T. H. P. Kolesar with an 81 to an 83. The prince's handicap is 11 and Kolesar is at scratch.

Grimes-Cochrane to Team On the Stage, Is Report

ST. Louis, Oct. 9. (A.P.).—The arch enemies of the 1930 world's series are going on the stage.

Burleigh Grimes, belligerent star spitball pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Mickey Cochrane, scrappy catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, have arranged for a vaudeville tour, it was learned here today.

The always confident Burleigh confidently declared he can be an actor and said Cochrane can handle a saxophone almost as good as he does baseballs back of the home plate.

Grimes and Mickey, who barked at each other throughout the series and received much publicity because of the feud, patched up their differences just before the Macks took the sixth game and the series yesterday at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Gordon S. ("Mickey") Cochrane, peppery catcher of the world's champions Philadelphia Athletics, and Burleigh Grimes, star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, are not going to team up on the stage, says Mrs. Cochrane. The star backstop was not at home today when a report reached the Cochrane home that the two players would appear together in vaudeville. Mrs. Cochrane said Grimes approached her husband with such a proposition, but nothing came of the suggestion.

Mickey after resting a few days, will go on a hunting trip in Canada.

Major League Clubs Plan For 1931

Turn-Over in Managers This Winter to Be Small.

Replacements From Draft Aid Lower Place Teams.

By BRIAN BELL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—With the world's series gone, leaving a treasury of memories for the Athletics and a headache for St. Louis, clubs in the American and National League are making plans which they hope will get them in a world's series, next year or later.

The baseball season is over, but hope lingers on in every club owner's heart and no major or minor league stone will be left unturned to patch up the baseball fences before another spring sounds the annual call to arms.

The turnover in managers will be lighter this year than usual. One change already has been made, Rogers Hornsby succeeding Joseph V. McCarthy as head of the playing forces of the Chicago Cubs.

The genial McCarthy, however, is not expected to remain long in the ranks of the unemployed, for when the excitement of the world's series has died away, in all probability he will be summoned to New York to affix his signature to a contract to manage the Yankees.

Red Sox Temporarily Without Manager.

The Boston Red Sox are temporarily without a manager, but President Bob Quinn has his eye on a prospect and may introduce him to the fans at any minute. The canny Quinn, who has spent many years in baseball, is another who does not believe in giving out news when he has to compete with the world's series material for display in the newspapers.

Two catchers have been frequently mentioned in connection with the Red Sox billet—Steve O'Neill, formerly of Cleveland and St. Louis, who has piloted the Toronto Maple Leafs for two years, and Harold (Muddy) Ruel, an American League regular for twelve years, and the last eight with Washington.

Ruel caught for the Red Sox in 1921 and 1922, so he is no stranger in Boston. He also served with the Yankees in 1919 and 1920, and the late Miller Huggins always charged himself with an error for letting him go to Boston.

Majors Get Replacements From Draft.

The majors started bringing in replacements before the world's series started, with 21 players by draft from the minors, and later the Phillies made it 22 when they found that Topeka had not lost a man and still was a shining mark for a draft shot.

The Phillies expect Stuart Bolen, smart left-handed pitcher of Baltimore, to win some games for them next year, and their belated draft added the name of Roetz, an infielder formerly with the Browns, to their roster.

The Red Sox tail-end team of the American League, dragged back Wilcy Moore, former life saver of the Yankees, from the American Association, where he did some excellent pitching in 1930.

With the drafted players now removed from the market, direct negotiations will be opened between the majors and minors for any promising prospects who escaped the selection dragnet.

Dickering already is in progress between major league clubs and before the annual meetings in December several changes of uniforms may be announced.

The Phillies, who finished a bad last in the National League, are being besieged with offers for some of their stars who were held in high esteem by other clubs during the season, although they could win few games for the Phillies.

Brooklyn Angles For Philly Stars.

Brooklyn is understood to be angling for Lefty O'Doul, the hard-hitting outfielder, and Fresco Thompson, a first-rate second baseman. Some of the rail birds at the world's

NAVY LEAVES TO OPPOSE RAMBLERS

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 9.—Given a rousing demonstration by their comrades of the regiment as they left the Naval Reservation to board a special train, the Navy Football Squad left Annapolis at 5:30 this afternoon for South Bend, Ind., eager for the battle with Knute Rockne's Ramblers of Notre Dame to be staged in the new stadium Saturday. The contest will mark the formal dedication of the playing arena of the Irish.

The players were excused from classes early in the afternoon to enable them to engage in a final signal and formation drill. And a sharp workout it was. Head Coach Bill Ingram and his assistants have developed the team to a fine point for this first big intersectional clash of the season, and there is no doubt but that the players are much further advanced than in corresponding periods of recent seasons. The coaches ventured the statement that the lighter but powerful and alert forward wall should be able to outplay the heavier first-line defense of the Irish. On the other hand, it is realized that the foe has a decided edge in the back field, with a quartet of players of star caliber and veterans at the game.

Middies Drill Against Rockne Methods.

The middies have been well drilled this week in both offensive and defensive formations to cope with the Rockne system, the shock troops employing plays conforming with the enemy's style, the "lowdown" on which was brought back to, Annapolis by Ingram and Johnny Wilson, who attended the Notre Dame-Southern Methodist game at South Bend last Saturday. The Tars also have been drilled in a more diversified style of play in contrast to former years and are prepared to reel off a crop of plays calculated to give the Irish a lot of trouble.

Ingram was averse to announcing his starting line-up before leaving tonight. Ingram has given as much personal attention to polishing up the second team as to the varsity, and it would not surprise if the second-stringers go into the fray at the start. The indicated varsity line-up, however, is as follows:

Byng and Smith, ends; Bowstrom and Bryan, tackles; Gray and Underwood, guards; Black, center; Denny, quarter back; Kirn and Tschirgi or Cannon, half backs, and Haberg, full back.

Academy Superintendent Makes Trip.

The football party was made up of 50 players, officials of the Athletic association, headed by Capt. Henry D. Cooke, director, coaches and other attendants. Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison, superintendent, and Mrs. Ribosin, and a number of others also are making the trip on the "special."

afparinotoC4ij.qTmptgA:c' et etab s

The party included Capt. Charles P. Snyder, commandant, and Mrs. Snyder; Mrs. Cooke, commander and Mrs. Frederick G. Reinicke, Capt. and Mrs. John H. Newton, Capt. Paul J. Dashiell, Lieut. Comdr. J. L. Hall, jr., and Mrs Ingram. The naval contingent will be guards at a number of social festivities preceding and after the game.

SAME LINE-UP TO PLAY FOR MARYLAND

MARYLAND will stand pat on the line-up that started the Yale game last week for the contest with the powerful North Carolina eleven at Chapel Hill tomorrow.

This would send the eleven against the Tarheels as follows: Pease, left end; Fisher, left tackle; Hayden, left guard; Faber, center; Krajcovic, right guard; Carlis, right tackle; Norris, right end; Woods, quarterback; Chalmers, left halfback; Berger, right halfback; Poppelman, fullback.

Bill Evans, heady back field player, will be kept in reserve on the bench beside Coach Curley Byrd and will be sent into the engagement immediately one of the backs goes wrong or the Old Line machinery becomes clogged.

Byrd Has Charges Before Blackboard.

The game is looked upon as just as hard as that with Yale last Saturday, but the Old Liners are hoping to handle the ball cleanly and avoid tossing the breaks to the enemy as they did with such disastrous results at New Haven.

The Maryland players are in good shape and expect to put up a good battle against the Carolinians, but refuse to discuss the probable outcome of the game.

"Do your best and let it go at that" is Curley Byrd's slogan and he has just about instilled that attitude into his players. And if Maryland does its best against the Tarheels it should be quite a battle.

Lighted Fray To Attract Big Crowd

Advance Seat Sale for First Night Game Sets Record.

Georgetown Line-Up Changed; Battles Is Invaders' Star.

By JACK ESPEY.

THE eagerly awaited introduction of collegiate night football will be greeted by Washington fandom tonight in Griffith Stadium, where Georgetown and West Virginia Wesleyan will renew an old rivalry in a game beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Because of its novelty, the game takes rank with the most attractive ever held here, and Hilltop officials look for the largest crowd that a gridiron contest has drawn locally since 1922. Almost 22,000 persons that year witnessed Navy and Penn State clash on the stadium turf in an afternoon game. The advance ticket sale, it is reported, surpasses that of any other previous Georgetown offering.

The playing field will be illuminated by 68 1,500-watt lamps which shed light sufficiently bright to enable the spectators to follow every play. The lamps are mounted in reflectors on poles that reach a height level with the top of the upper grandstand.

Lights also have been installed in the stands and the automobile parking space.

Football Easily Distinguishable.

An idea of the degree of visibility afforded by the lighting system may be gained by considering the fact that a regulation football—brown in color—can easily be distinguished anywhere on the playing field. Also, the ball can not escape the eye even on the highest punt, or what football experts consider the highest a human foot can propel.

This is not the first night football game in Washington, but it is the first of the collegiate variety, and it is favored by more powerful lights than the nocturnal experiment made by the Seat Pleasant and Waverly sandlot elevens five years ago on the former's suburban field.

Georgetown got its baptism in the night game last Friday at Chicago, but Wesleyan will be initiated tonight. No advantage, however, is supposed to exist on Georgetown's side.

West Virginians Seek Revenge.

As for the fray itself, the fans may expect plenty of thrilling action, with a fighting team from the West Virginia mountains striving to gain revenge for a 19-0 defeat suffered last year. But in spite of the determina-

LOST AGNES, 30 TO 1, WINS LAUREL FILLY FEATURE

Outsider Wins Purse From The Spare

Kennedy Makes Late Challenge to Beat Sagamore Filly.

Boot to Boot Pays $24.10 in Bladensburg Purse.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 9.—The Anne Arundel Purse for fillies, featuring the card for the third day of the Laurel meeting, brought about a big surprise when both the public choices, the Sagamore Stable's The Spare and W. R. Coe's Sweep Out tasted defeat when the Montpelier Farm's Lost Agnes, outsider, closing with a rush on the outside, got the decision by a head over The Spare, with Sweep Out third and First Lady, a contender in the early running, fourth. The winner paid $63.90 for $2. Time, 1:12 flat, 6 furlongs.

A crowd almost as large as the gathering that marked the first two days of the meeting was out for the sport on as perfect a day for racing as could be imagined. Seven fillies were in the feature contest, most of the wagering being on the Coe filly and the Sagamore Stable entry, Sweep Out, being slightly the favorite over The Spare.

There was little time lost at the gate. The Spare took the lead, pursued by First Lady. Near the far turn First Lady was in front, but The Spare regained her position as leader and seemed safe home in the stretch until Eddie Kennedy challenged at the sixteenth and pressing the contest gained the decision at the wire. Bejshak laid on the whip and The Spare finished gamely, but was merely against a faster filly today, the winner having an advantage of 4 pounds.

It was foreign to the minds of the 12,000 present that any could win except one of the two favorites and when Lost Agnes breezed past the leaders it took the breath of the crowd. Leishman did not display his best horsemanship on Sweep Out. When the price of $63.90 was hung out on Lost Agnes, twice the amount expected by the lucky tickets, a cheer arose as is usual when a long priced horse wins.

Boot to Boot Scores Upset Victory.

E. R. Bradley's Boot to Boot, leading all the way, won the Bladensburg Purse by a length and a half. E. Watters up. Golden Auburn was second and Dinah Did Upset third. This was

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ONE ALONE, $5.60, $3.30, $3.10; GREEN LIGHT, $3.90, $3.40; DARK AYRESS, $7.60.

ONE ALONE broke fast, was hard hurried to hold a brief lead, saved ground and held on determinedly to outstay GREEN LIGHT. Latter followed close up, made repeated efforts and fought it out stubbornly. DARK AYRESS, prominent throughout, continued with good courage. ROSEVOLT was stoutly urged and finished gamely. MISCHIEVOUS went well. DWADLE unseated her rider before the start and ran off at a slow pace for three furlongs. VERVE stopped.

ONE ALONE HAS COMPANY IN FIRST.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $2,000; claiming. Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:25. Off at 2:26. Winner, Queen City Stable's b. g. (7), by Royal Weaver—Ballinoma. Trained by C. O'Leary. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 3:57. (14 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BALLY WEAVER, $14.40, $6.70, $4.80; LEDIGARD, $9.20, $4.60; THE ACE II, $4.20.

BALLY WEAVER, fencing well and kept within striking distance of the leaders from the start, displaced THE ACE II when approaching the twelfth fence, was hard ridden thereafter and was driving hard to withstand LEDIGARD. Latter, reserved off the pace for the first mile and one-half, finished with splendid courage. THE ACE II set a good pace, saved ground at all of his fences, but weakened the last quarter mile. RASPBERRY was never able to menace the leaders. JOE MARSHALL lost ground at most of his fences. ROLLING STONE fell at the ninth fence. MISTENFLUTE was taken back early, lost a lot of ground when moving into contention and fell at the twelfth jump.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OLD KID, $12.50, $7.60, $5.00; REFORM, $17.80, $9.10; SUNCHEN $6.90.

OLD KID, a slow beginner, settled in his best stride after six furlongs, closed resolutely in the final stages and was up in the last fifty yards. REFORM worked his way up on the outside early, slipped through on the inside at the stretch turn and just failed to get up. SUNCHEN went into a good early lead, but faltered in the final drive. VOWED VENGEANCE was used up forcing the pace and tired. PRINCESS HENRY had speed in spots.

OLD KID (ON OUTSIDE) OUTSPEEDS REFORM.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:30. Off at 3:33. Winner, H. P. Whitney's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PENNATE, $3.50, $2.80, $2.30; RA HORUS, $7.10, $3.90; RIP VAN WINKLE, $2.60.

PENNATE secured racing room on the inside to reach a forward position after the start, came through on the inside when entering into the home stretch, finished steadily and was up nearing the finish. RA HORUS set a good pace, shook off RIP VAN WINKLE and fought it out with good energy. RIP VAN WINKLE, hard ridden, showed a good effort. MAJOR LANPHIER closed steadily. SERGEANT DONALDSON had no excuses. MAD CAREER showed a dull effort.

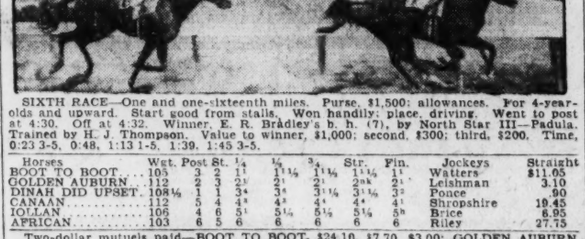
Two-dollar mutuels paid—LOST AGNES, $63.90, $15.20, $5.30; THE SPARE, $4.30, $2.60; SWEEP OUT, $2.30.

LOST AGNES, reted in close pursuit of the leaders, came stoutly for the final issue and, finishing gamely, was up in the final sixteenth. THE SPARE raced FIRST LADY into submission, saved ground and held on stoutly when the real issue came. SWEEP OUT, taken up at the break, made up a lot of ground to enter contention and was gradually wearing the first two down. FIRST LADY weakened from her early efforts. The others were outrun.

LOST AGNES (ON OUTSIDE) REACHES WIRE SAFELY.



SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500; allowances. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:32. Winner, E. R. Bradley's b. h. (7), by North Star III—Padula. Trained by H. J. Thompson. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $200. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:13 1-5, 1:39, 1:45 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOOT TO BOOT, $24.10, $7.70, $3.00; GOLDEN AUBURN, $4.10, $2.40; DINAH DID UPSET, $2.20.

BOOT TO BOOT, possessing keen speed, raced into the lead at once, was steadied along and had speed in reserve all during the stretch run. GOLDEN AUBURN followed close up, made repeated bids, but was not good enough. DINAH DID UPSET was blocked when attempting to move through on the inside when reaching the back stretch and could not get to the two in the final drive. CANAAN went well. IOLLAN and AFRICAN were outrun.

WATTERS BOOTS BOOT TO BOOT HOME AHEAD.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:00. Off at 5:01. Winner, J. P. McGovern's br. m. (5), by Theo Cook—Edna Stack. Trained by C. Rayner. Value to winner, $900; second, $250, third, $150. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:49, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:47 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RUBY KELLER, $5.00, $4.10, $2.60; NEALON KAY, $5.70, $3.90; DRUGGIST, $3.50.

RUBY KELLER, sluggish in the early running, saved ground when moving into contention, closed stoutly to displace NEALON KAY and was under pressure at the end. NEALON KAY, rated along in front, disposed of JANE RINEHART and continued gamely. DRUGGIST was unable to improve his position after reaching a forward position. JANE RINEHART faltered in the final drive. YOSAN could not keep pace.

DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL ELEVENS IN 5 GAMES TODAY

Central Team Entertains St. John

Gonzaga Is Host to Business in New Stadium.

Washington-Lee High Plays Western on Ballston Field.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

SCHOLASTIC football breaks out in nearly full bloom today as eight local schoolboy elevens await the kick-offs of the five scheduled games. The grid connoiseur may cull his day's fare from the following: Central vs. St. John's, at Central, 3:30 o'clock; Business vs. Gonzaga, at Gonzaga, 3:30; Western vs. Washington-Lee High, at Ballston, 3:30; Eastern vs. National Training School, at Eastern, 3:30; St. Alban's vs. Landon, at St. Alban's, 3 o'clock.

Central should experience little trouble in turning back the thrusts of Paully Byrne's youthful Saints. Central excels in exprience, weight and presents a more complex style of attack. Ty Rauber is taking no chances, however, and will use the slightly injured regulars, Colella, Morgan and Johnson. The rest of Rauber's line-up reads: Black, left end; Boyle, left guard; Koscis, right guard; Garret, right tackle; Mirman, right end; De Lisio, left half; Hinkel, right half; Pinckney, full.

Gonzaga-Business Teams Green.

The Gonzaga-Business batlte in Gonzaga's new 3,000 capacity bowl at Thirty-fourth and Benning road northeast, bids fair to eclipse all other local tusles in equality of keenness. Both teams are as green as last Christmas' jewelry and anxious to make a name for themselves. It should be close all the way, with Gongaza a bit stronger at the finish.

Eastern Fray Offers Upset Possibility.

Eastern found room on its schedule for Ed Crandall's eleven from the National Training School, and this is perhaps the "upset" encounter of the day. All but one of the Training School boys, including Capt. Leo Kiski, have never played football until this year. Coach Crandall has performed semimiracles with his boys and has moulded a team which has defeated Alaxandria High and held Emerson's coterie of stars to a 0-to-0 tie in its two appearances to date.

Coach Kelley's group will be somewhat weakened by the loss of Capt. Mades, one of his few seasoned men. Corridon, Wells, Smoak either Palmer or Ken Wade w. the ball carrying.

Western Encounters Powerful Foe.

St. Alban's and Landon open their season on St. Alban's Field. While a new coach, "Milly" Price, has been installed at Landon and six regulars are back in the line-up, it is not believed that they can quite turn the trick against the Wisconsin Avenue aggregation.

Here they are. Take your pick.

MANAGERIAL SHIFTS IN 1931 TO BE FEW

series who had been clocking the mental processes of Brooklyn's master minds, declared that the Robins had offered four for two, Ray Moss, pitcher; Jake Flowers, infielder, and Harvey Hendrick and Ike Boone, outfielders.

Rogers Hornsby had a chat with William F. Baker at Philadelphia and he may have asked the Phillies' president if he would consider an offer for Chuck Klein, sensational young outfielder and Arthur Whitney, a third baseman who can hit.

Soon after the appointment of Hornsby as manager of the Cubs and his succession to the seat at the head of the table, there were rumors that he would make some vital changes in the Cubs' line-up.

At Philadelphia he would not confirm these suggestions, avoiding the issue by saying the Cubs, like every other club in the two major leagues, would like to have more pitching strength.

It seems likely that some changes will be made in the championship teams of Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Moore Groomed by Connie Mack.

Connie Mack groomed his young outfielder recruit, Jim Moore, in late games of the American League season, for duty later and has paid particular attention to polishing his fielding. He has some smart young infielders, too, waiting for a chance to break into the lineup.

Almost any fan in St. Louis would tell one who asked that Collins, the Rochester home run hitter, would play first base for the Cardinals next season, even before "Sunny Jim" Bottomley went to bat 22 times in the world's series and made only 1 hit. Gossip linked Bottomley's name with that of the Reds, but Manager Dan Howley, of Cincinnati, professed not to have heard it.

The New York Giants expect to spend a busy winter in the baseball marts. Today they added by purchase, John Vergez, an infielder from the Oakland Club, of the Pacific League, and others will follow.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 9.—Sergt. Mickey McBride, star athlete at Fort Humphreys several years ago, is again stationed at the Virginia post after three years of foreign duty at Corozal, Panama. While at the Panama post, McBride starred on teams in baseball and basket ball. He expects to enter into the sports competition at the Virginia post this fall.

The Virginia Midgets football team will meet the Manhattan Club in Washington Sunday afternoon in their initial contest. Tonight the boys will hold an important practice on the shipyard field.

Episcopal's 100-pound team defeated the Red Robins yesterday, 12 to 6. Steptoe was the star for the winners. Moore made the lone touchdown for the Red Robins. The Friends School Team will be met by the boys next week.

Robert McDonald was named as chairman of the board of governors of the Northern Virginia Athletic Officials Athletic Assocantion at an important meeting held last night. Bill Entwisle, Rose Walker and Billy Wood are other members of the board. Dr. C. T. Dreifus, president, presided at the session. The meeting was largely attended.

Twenty-two A. H. S. youngsters left Alexandria yesterday for Hampton, Va., where they will represent the local high school in a game of football against the Hampton High team. The boys will return home Saturday. Coaches Given and Wilson were in charge of the team.

Les Deavers, manager of the Alpha Delta Omega eleven, announces that "Speed" Draper, Emerson Institute star, has been signed to play with his team. Draper will appear in Sunday's game with the Mercuries, of Washington. This is a Capital City League contest.

MANY WEAK LINKS IN MACKS' LINE-UP

for his pennants. It is a gamble to depend on two pitchers and the opportune home runs that the Philadelphia sluggers hit this season.

Surely the Cardinals are a better-balanced ball club. There is power all down the line of the St. Louis order, with two of the most promising recruits in recent years in Gelbert and Watkins. And the St. Louis infield overshadowed Mack's with the smoothness of their play defensively. Strange that such a team would lose four out of six games, but not strange that they should lose to Earnshaw and Grove. The National League does not boast such fire-ball pitching as the two aces of the Philadelphia staff displayed. They handcuffed the Cardinals' attack.

National League's Honors Redeemed.

The American League's supremacy was established in the series, but not so strongly established that the National League should now be included in the universal draft that is the bone of contention between the majors and the minors. The Cardinals redeemed in a great measure the prestige that the National League lost in 1927, 1928, 1929, when the Pirates, Cardinals, and Cubs were trampled down. Gabby Street produced a ball club whose fighting spirit is not its only virtue. The Cards can field and they can hit and slug, but not against the pitching of Earnshaw and Grove, the true heroes of the world series.

GIANTS BUY INFIELDER.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The New York Giants today announced the outright purchase of John Vergez, third baseman of the Oakland, Calif., Club, and one of the leading home run hitters of the Pacific Coast League.

LOST AGNES SCORES IN LAUREL REVERSAL

another surprise for the racing fans, as Boot to Boot was an outsider, while Dinah Did Upset and Golden Auburn ruled the choices. The winner paid $24.10 for $2. He ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5.

Boot to Boot, by North Star III—Paula, now a 7-year-old, won the American Derby at Chicago as a 3-year-old. His racing has not been sparkling since. He was in today with the light impost of 103 pounds, broke briskly and never let up in his speed. Bradley was in the stand and the dropping of the odds made it appear that the owner of Idle Hour Farm wagered heavily on his horse. The order of the three leading horses never changed after the field was straightened out. This race was the secondary feature on the card.

One Alone Wins After Delaying Field.

P. M. Walker's One Alone scored in the first race after proving that she was one of the worst post actors that Starter James Milton has run across in Maryland. She delayed the start several minutes, during which interim Mack Garner was powerless to get her in the stall. Then Bayard Warren's Dwadle, backed from 20 to 12 to 1, ran away for a quarter of a mile and One Alone was taken to the outside. Finally when the field of twelve maiden 2-year-old fillies was away to a very good start, One Alone went to the front and won by a half length from the Sagamore Stable's Green Light. A length further back W. S. Kilmer's Darkayress was third and Rosevolt fourth. The winner was favorite and paid $5.60. Time, 1:07 3-5, five and a half furlongs.

The Queen City Stable's Bally Weaver, F. Bellhouse up, won a hard battle in the first steeplechase of the meeting, after E. R. Bradley's Mistenflute, the favorite, ready to take the lead in the home streteh, fell on the last round on the back field. The Eastland Farm's Deligard was second and R. B. Strassberger's The Ace II, third. Rolling Stone lost his rider, D. Payne, but the jockey remounted and finished the course.

Thorndyke was uninjured in his fall on Mistenflute. The winner paid $14.40. Joe Marshall was an early leader, with The Ace II a contender. Mistenflute was held off the early pace. The turf was hard and dry and dust clouded parts of the race.

Old Kid Wins by Head Over Reform.

C. R. Allen's Old Kid got a head decision in the third race, a 1⅛-mile gallop, and more honors accrued to the new riding sensation here, A. Adams, apprentice. The boy brought his horse from nowhere to overhaul the favorite, Sunchen, at the sixteenth pole, and then to nose out Reform in the last stride, paying $12.50.

Sunchen, from the Sagamore Stable, led into the stretch, pursued by Vowed Vengeance. At the far turn, Old Kid, next to last, began to move up and saving ground on the stretch turn for home fought it out to the last notch and won due to a good ride. Reform was an outsider and paid $17.80 for place. Sunchen was $6.90 to show. Vowed Vengeance was fourth. The time was 1:47.

Harry Payne Whitney's Pennate, odds-on favorite, won the fourth race, the Glenmont Purse, for 2-year-olds, by a close margin from W. R. Coe's Ra Horus. The Sagamore Stable's Rip Van Winkle was third. Time, 1:12 2-5. The winner paid $3.50.

Workman had the mount on Pennate. The son of Pennate—Pageant broke badly in a tangle, and it took utmost perseverence on the part of the jockey to get in front. Ra Horus was off swinging from the gate and lost by a nose. Eight juveniles started. Major Lanphier, an outsider, finishing fourth, ran a good race, and will bear watching.

Ruby Kellar, 5-year-old mare, owned by J. P. McGovern, scored for favorite players in the seventh and final race of today's program with a length and a half victory over Nealon Kay after wearing down the pace setter in the long stretch drive. Ruby Kellar paid $5 in the $2-win mutuels.

LAUREL NOTES

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 9.—James Butler's Questionnaire took the track this morning and reeled off a mile in 1:41 2-5. The 3-year-old is going to be hard to whip in his stake efforts here.

Gwynn Tompkins, who handles the Brookmeade Stable's horses, states that the farm which Mrs. Sloan purchased in Virginia is one of the most complete of its kind in this section of the country. It has a building containing 30 stalls, with an inclosed training track 19½ feet wide on the sides and 22 feet wide at the far turns.

Louis Tauber was an arrival from New York with the eight horses that Ralph Beaver Strassburger recently purchased in France.

Brown Trap and Mikelina have been added to the schooling list.

Johnny Schorr, who handles the E. B. McLean Stable, has fifteen nice-looking yearlings quartered at Benning. They are by The Porter, Prince of Wales and Messenger.

William Bringle, who handles the Seagram string, of Waterloo, Ontario, was an arrival from Canada.

Chick Lang wired today from Toronto that he is shipping Ravine, Fast Life and Fine Lady down here.

Harry Hunt, who was badly shaken up when J. E. Widener's Prowler fell while working several mornings ago, was out galloping horses this morning.

Steeplechase Jockey Everett Nelson was an arrival from New York. He will go to Rosetree, Pa., next Wednesday to ride "Jock" Whitney's Capstone in a flat race.

Tom Healey, head trainer of the H. P. Whitney string, leaves tonight for the Brookdale Farm, where he will inspect the four yearlings being made ready for the 1931 season.

John J. Farrell has purchased Swift and Gay at private terms from Walter J. Salmon.

LEWIS JOINS MERCURYS.

Jakie Lewis, former Business High quarter back, will play with the Mercurys this year. The Southwest players will open their Capital City League season next Sunday when they play the Alpha Delta Omega Team of Alexandria, at the Gonzaga Athletic Field. The contest will get under way at 3 o'clock.

ST. STEPHEN'S TO DRILL.

St. Stephen's will work out tonight on the gridiron at Seventeenth and B streets northwest in preparation for its opening Capital City League game with the Marions next Sunday on the Silver Spring field. Coach Crouch requests the attendance of all Saint players at the drill.

G. P. O.-FEDS SEEK GAME.

G. P. O.-Federals are looking for a game for Sunday with a team in the 135-pound weight division. Call Eddie Canter at Lincoln 4571-W.

VA. POLY OFF FOR TEST AT NASHVILLE

Gobblers' Hopes for Beating Vanderbilt Rest in Passes.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Virginia Poly's football squad, 25 strong, left here tonight for Nashville to play Vanderbilt Saturday. The Techmen took to the air with a new assortment of passes in the final workout this afternoon. As Coach Neal prpeared other backs besides Capt. Hooper for the overhead game, Sam Hardwick, Mit Owens and Phil Spear all figured prominently in the aerial warfare practice for the Commodores.

Vandy's 200-pound line was expected to force the Gobblers into the open. Laterals, forwards, reversers—everything but straight football—were calculated to be the Gobbler's main hope against the conquerors of Minnesota.

The line-up for the game was not yet announced, but Neal planned to use several former reserves in the starting array. Bill Grinus, big sophomore tackle, and State record holder with the 12-pound shot, probably will start at one of the tackles, and Buck Chandler, tall wingman at end. Red Kasun, a sophomore, is slated for duty at guard and Hal Wimmer, at center in place of Brown, who was not fully recovered from injuries received in the Carolina game. Ottley, midget 148-pounder, will be in one of the half back positions.

The team will be put through a final workout at Nashville tomorrow.

Charlottesville Fives Defeat Staunton Juniors

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Oct. 9.—Fives, representing Charlottesville School for Boys, won their seventh straight victory of the season, defeating Staunton Military Academy Juniors, 27 to 7. Davis went over for the first score after 45 seconds of play. Harry Dinwiddie, 90-ponnd half back, intercepted a pass and dashed 55 yards for a touchdown as the turning point of the game. Marshall and Payne played great defense games for Fives. Walker made the S. M. A. touchdown.

The Fives have scored 307 points to their opponents' 59 this year. They play Woodberry Forest on Lambeth Field Saturday, and in Akron, Ohio, for the national championship next Thursday night.

CAPITAL AWAITING FIRST NIGHT GAME

tion of the visitors, Georgetown should win, and rather handily, too.

Georgetown has improved since the opening of the campaign and ought to show something of the form desired of it by the coaches. Following a disappointing 14-6 victory over Mount St. Mary's, the Hilltoppers easily conquered the highly touted Loyola Team of Chicago, 16-6, and during the practice period this week have displayed heartening precision in their movements. Mastery of detail of the Notre Dame system in vogue has been the big objective sought by Coaches Mills, Colrick, Smith and Murphy.

Wesleyan, as usual a rugged team, but lacking some of the experience it had last fall, absorbed a 41-6 walloping from New York University last Saturday. Several of its regulars were injured in that battle, but all except Cocaptain Paul Watson, left end, have recovered.

Battles, Half Back, Invaders' Star.

Clifford ("Gyp") Battles, left half back, is the star of the invaders. He probably will prove the most interesting figure in the game. He was outstanding when Georgetown met Wesleyan last year and has not gone back in his form.

Two changes have been made in the Georgetown line-up that was seen here two weeks ago. Aurel Tremblay is playing right guard in place of the injured Charley Brickman, while Russell Danieu holds down the right half back post formerly occupied by Emile Bozek. Another shift—Mancell Gillis for Leroy Bordeau at full back—was canceled last night, and Bordeau, the ramrod of the Hilltop offense, again will try to rip up the line.

Following are the probable starting line-ups, with numbers:

INTERCITY GAME CARDED.

The Knickerbocker A. C.'s football team will make its debut next Sunday at Richmond, where it will meet the strong Councilor Eleven. Players are asked to attend a short business meeting at the clubhouse tomorrow night at 7 o'clock to arrange transportation and other details.

Aerial Grid Battles Expected On South's Fields Tomorrow

Maryland and North Carolina Brush Up Passing for Clash at Chapel Hill; Georgia and Georgia Tech Enroute North.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Training camp reports from the Maryland proving grounds at College Park and the North Carolina workshop at Chapel Hill point to a fast-moving aerial battle between these teams Saturday.

The Tarheels took to the air last week to down Virginia Polytechnic, while the Old Liners proved themselves adept with the forwards by completing 13 out of 22 attempted against Yale. Although Carolina had little trouble trouncing Maryland, 43 to 0, last season, Coach Chuck Collins looks for a close score this year and admittedly fears the Terrapins' air offensive.

From other Dixie practice fields comes word of much passing and a like amount of antiaircraft defensive work. Florida, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Mississippi, Virginia Tech and Georgia are among the squads stressing the passing attack, and if fair weather prevails the air may be thick with floating pigskins Saturday.

Four Major Games Scheduled.

The four major games scheduled tomorrow bring together Oglethorpe and Manhattan at New York, Birmingham-Southern and Union at Birmingham, Mississippi A. and M. and Millsaps at Jackson, Miss., and Wake Forest and Baltimore at Wake Forest, N. C.

Oglethorpe went through final practice under the floodlights of the Polo Grounds in New York in preparation for the nocturnal engagement with the metropolitan team. Cagle's Aggie machine, beaten in both starts this year, deploys against Millsaps minus the services of its captain and guard, Miller Matthews, and the full back, Lawrence Lenoir. Both were hurt in the game with Mississippi College last week.

Dan McGugin at Vanderbilt is grooming Dixie Roberts, a sophomore, to replace the injured Jesse Thomas at half back against Virginia Tech, while Jester, a reserve end, has been tried at both center and tackle and may see service at either post.

Mississippi will be strengthened for the clash with Tennessee by the return of its captain, Dick Peeles, at end, but will be shy of its half back, Colon Brown, who resigned from the squad because he needed the time for his scholastic work.

Auburn Gridders Face Florida.

Encouraged by their win over Spring Hill last week, 31 Auburn gridders entrained tonight for Jacksonville to play Florida Saturday. Injuries have removed Capt. Harkins, center, and Will Bassett, half back, and Coach Chet Wynne will be forced to rely on substitutes. Coach Bachman, of Florida, announced Joe Hall, who has alternated as end and back, would play end the rest of the season and would start the Auburn game.

The loss of James "Twee" Floyd, half back, because of a shoulder injury, has added to the back field troubles of Coach Van Liew at North Carolina State in his preparations for the important game with Clemson.

Georgia and Georgia Tech were en route north today to face Yale and Carnegie Tech, while Tulane, Virginia, Hampden-Sidney and Centenary prepared to start toward the sites of their Saturday games with Texas A. and M.

Capital City League Clubs To Use Gonzaga Gridiron

THROUGH the courtesy of Gonzaga High School authorities, officials of the 1930 Capital City Football League, which is sponsored again this year by The Washington Post, yesterday were able to secure the Gonzaga Athletic Field, Thirty-fourth and Benning road northeast, as the site of the Brookland-Quentin, Alpha Delta Omega-Mercury inaugural clashes next Sunday in the unlimited section of the circuit.

League officials chose the field because of its well conditioned gridiron and its excellent facilities to handle spectators. Recently completed stands will seat more than 3,000 people.

With the Silver Spring field selected last Wednesday as the scene of the St. Stephen's-Marion engagement, all six of the unlimited teams playing next Sunday will be assured of excellent playing fields for their initial league battles. The seventh club in the division, the Seat Pleasants, drew a bye and will not open its league season until October 19.

Orrel Mitchell (Gonzaga) has been appointed field judge of the first game, which will start at 1 o'clock sharp. C. B. McClure (Georgetown) will officiate as umpire. The positions of these officials will be reversed in the nightcap, which will have a 3 o'clock kick-off.

Eight of the nine teams entered in the 150-pound division this fall also will inaugurate league play next Sunday. Intersection contests between these clubs will find Mardfeldts and Palace-D. G. S. meeting at Boyer Stadium, Seat Pleasant, Centennials playing the Del Rays, at Del Ray; Brentwood Hawks and Northern Preps clashing on the Mount Rainier field, and Wolverines and Petworth Pennants settling things on the Silver Spring gridiron. Each of these battles except the latter will start at 3 o'clock. Wolverines and Petworth, however, will start play at 1.

Howard U. Gridmen Off for Smith Game

Determined upon revenge, Coach erdell and his rejuvenated "Bisons" left last night to settle accounts with the "Golden Bulls" of Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte, N. C., on Saturday.

With htwo teams almost equally matched in every position, an extra center and another back, prospects of victory for Howard University seemed greater last night, as evidenced in the enthusiasm of the student body, than at any time last year.

Out of a squad of 62 men, with keen competition for every place on the team, the following players were selected to make the trip:

Swavely in Richmond For Battle Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., Oct. 9.—The Swavely School Football Team, conquerors last Friday of Business High School, will send its best team against St. Christopher's School of Richmond here on Saturday.

Coach Reeves has been working hard with his husky squad this week in an effort to develop a faster charging line and a more concerted interference play than was shown in the opening game with Business High.

Following Saturday's game, there will be no more home play until November 1, as the schedule calls for games against Randolph-Macon Academy, at Front Royal, on October 18, and Episcopal High, at Alexandria, on October 25.

DISTRICT COURTLESS.

There are no indoor or grass tennis courts in the District of Columbia.

THOMAS HOPE OF VIRGINIA AT PENN

Star of Back Field to Carry Burden at Franklin Field.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 9.—Bill Thomas is being groomed to carry the burden of Virginia's attack in the game with Pennsylvania on Franklin Field at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

In the three games the Cavaliers have played this season Thomas has attracted recognition as one of the outstanding backs in the South. In addition to scoring 19 points in the first two games, he averaged more than six yards each time he ran with the ball against Duke.

Playing Second Year As Regular.

Thomas is playing his second year as a regular in the Virginia back field. Last fall he attracted much attention and was selected as all-State half back on many mythical teams. With his shifty hips and his high-driving knees, he has been going better than ever in the three games played.

Earl Abell, Cavalier head coach, is putting finishing touches on his men this afternoon, and tonight the Virginians are leaving for Philadelphia. There will be 36 in the squad, including players, coaches and managers.

Many Virginia students will follow the team in time for the game Saturday. In practices on Lambeth Field the squad has so completely regained its spirits that there is high hope here of making a fine showing against the Quakers. This will be the first trip of the Virginians to Philadelphia since 1924.

Cleveland Indians May Drop Frederick Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 9.—The Frederick (Blue Ridge League) Baseball Club, which has been operated for the last three years as a farm by the Cleveland Club, of the American League, may be dropped from the Indians' chain-store baseball aggregation next year, it was learned here today upon the return of several Blue Ridge League fans from Philadelphia, where they attended the sixth and final game of the world series.

Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Club and its holdings, told the Blue Ridge group when he met it in the Quaker City that the parent club had suffered a big loss at the gate at Frederick in 1930, and, while no definite action had been taken as yet relative to 1931, there was a strong possibility that Cleveland would abandon the Little Warriors.

Evans did not make public the amount lost at Frederick, but it is reported to be in the neighborhood of $25,000. In 1929 the Frederick Club lost $21,000, according to Evans.

Cumberland Valley Grid League Opens Saturday

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 9.—The Cumberland Valley Athletic League, which embraces several States, will open its 1930 football season Saturday, with the Waynesboro (Pa.,) team opposing Winchester (Va.,) and Hagerstown (Md.,) meeting Charles Town (W. Va.).

The league is a high school combination which sponsors football, baseball, basket ball and other branches of sports. The teams which are not scheduled for Saturday will open their season a week later.

TRAPPE HIGH WINS.

Tilghman, Md., Oct. 9 (Special).—Trappe High School easily defeated Tilghman High School today in a very one-sided soccer game by the score of 15 to 2.

MIDGETS WANT GAMES.

The Virginia Midgets, claimants of the northern Virginia championship last year, are anxious to schedule games with District 110-pound elevens. Manager John Travers can be reached between 6 and 7 o'clock each evening at Alexandria 1396.

LOST AGNES, 30 TO 1, WINS LAUREL FILLY FEATURE

Outsider Wins Purse From The Spare

Kennedy Makes Late Challenge to Beat Sagamore Filly.

Boot to Boot Pays $24.10 in Bladensburg Purse.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 9.—The Anne Arundel Purse for fillies, featuring the card for the third day of the Laurel meeting, brought about a big surprise when both the public choices, the Sagamore Stable's The Spare and W. R. Coe's Sweep Out tasted defeat when the Montpelier Farm's Lost Agnes, outsider, closing with a rush on the outside, got the decision by a head over The Spare, with Sweep Out third and First Lady, a contender in the early running, fourth. The winner paid $63.90 for $2. Time, 1:12 flat, 6 furlongs.

A crowd almost as large as the gathering that marked the first two days of the meeting was out for the sport on as perfect a day for racing as could be imagined. Seven fillies were in the feature contest, most of the wagering being on the Coe filly and the Sagamore Stable entry, Sweep Out, being slightly the favorite over The Spare.

There was little time lost at the gate. The Spare took the lead, pursued by First Lady. Near the far turn First Lady was in front, but The Spare regained her position as leader and seemed safe home in the stretch until Eddie Kennedy challenged at the sixteenth and pressing the contest gained the decision at the wire. Beishak laid on the whip and The Spare finished gamely, but was merely against a faster filly today, the winner having an advantage of 4 pounds.

It was foreign to the minds of the 12,000 present that any could win except one of the two favorites and when Lost Agnes breezed past the leaders it took the breath of the crowd. Leishman did not display his best horsemanship on Sweep Out. When the price of $63.90 was hung out on Lost Agnes, twice the amount expected by the lucky tickets, a cheer arose as is usual when a long priced horse wins.

Boot to Boot Scores Upset Victory.

E. R. Bradley's Boot to Boot, leading all the way, won the Bladensburg Purse by a length and a half, E. Watters up. Golden Auburn was second and Dinah Did Upset third. This was

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ONE ALONE, $5.60, $3.30, $3.10; GREEN LIGHT, $3.90, $3.40; DARK AYRESS, $7.60.

ONE ALONE broke fast, was hard hurried to hold a brief lead, saved ground and held on determinedly to outstay GREEN LIGHT. Latter followed close up, made repeated efforts and fought it out stubbornly. DARK AYRESS, prominent throughout, continued with good courage. ROSEVOLT was stoutly urged and finished gamely. MISCHIEVOUS went well. DWADLE unseated her rider before the start and ran off at a slow pace for three furlongs. VERVE stopped.

ONE ALONE HAS COMPANY IN FIRST.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $2,000; claiming. Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:25. Off at 2:26. Winner, Queen City Stable's b. g. (7), by Royal Weaver—Ballinoma. Trained by C. O'Leary. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 3:37. (14 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BALLY WEAVER, $14.40, $6.70, $4.80; LEDIGARD, $9.20, $4.80; THE ACE II, $4.20.

BALLY WEAVER, fencing well and kept within striking distance of the leaders from the start, displaced THE ACE II when approaching the twelfth fence, was hard ridden thereafter and was driving hard to withstand LEDIGARD. Latter, reserved off the pace for the first mile and one-half, finished with splendid courage. THE ACE II set a good pace, saved ground at all of his fences, but weakened the last quarter mile. RASPBERRY was never able to menace the leaders. JOE MARSHALL lost ground at most of his fences. ROLLING STONE fell at the ninth fence. MISTENFLUTE was taken back early, lost a lot of ground when moving into contention and fell at the twelfth jump.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OLD KID, $12.50, $7.60, $5.00; REFORM, $17.80, $9.10; SUNCHEN $6.90.

OLD KID, a slow beginner, settled in his best stride after six furlongs, closed resolutely in the final stages and was up in the last fifty yards. REFORM worked his way up on the outside early, slipped through on the inside at the stretch turn and just failed to get up. SUNCHEN went into a good early lead, but faltered in the final drive. VOWED VENGEANCE was used up forcing the pace and tired. PRINCESS HENRY had speed in spots.

OLD KID (ON OUTSIDE) OUTSPEEDS REFORM.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:30. Off at 3:33. Winner, C. P. Whitney's b. c. (2), by Pennant—Pageant. Trained by T. J. Healey. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PENNATE, $3.50, $2.80, $2.30; RA HORUS, $7.10, $3.90; RIP VAN WINKLE, $2.60.

PENNATE secured racing room on the inside to reach a forward position after the start, came through on the inside when entering into the home stretch, finished stoutly and was up nearing the finish. RA HORUS set a good pace, was hard ridden, RIP VAN WINKLE and fought it out with good energy. RIP VAN WINKLE, hard ridden, showed a good effort. MAJOR LANPHIER closed steadily. SERGEANT DONALDSON had no excuses. MAD CAREER showed a dull effort.

PENNATE (ON RAIL) HOME FIRST IN FOURTH.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:01. Off at 4:01. Winner, Montpelier Farm's b. f. (3), by Over the Way—Golden Agnes. Trained by J. P. Jones. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $200. Time, 0:23, 0:47 3-5, 1:12.

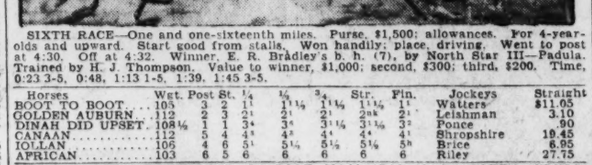
Two-dollar mutuels paid—LOST AGNES, $63.90, $15.20, $5.30; THE SPARE, $4.30, $2.60; SWEEP OUT, $2.30.

LOST AGNES, reted in close pursuit of the leaders, came stoutly for the final issue and, finishing gamely, was up in the final sixteenth. THE SPARE raced FIRST LADY into submission, saved ground and held on stoutly when the real issue came. SWEEP OUT, taken up at the break, made up a lot of ground to enter contention and was gradually wearing the first two down. FIRST LADY weakened from her early efforts. The others were outrun.

LOST AGNES (ON OUTSIDE) REACHES WIRE SAFELY.



SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500; allowances. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:32. Winner, E. R. Bradley's b. h. (7), by North Star III—Padula. Trained by H. J. Thompson. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $200. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:13 1-5, 1:39, 1:45 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOOT TO BOOT, $24.10, $7.70, $3.00; GOLDEN AUBURN, $4.10, $2.40; DINAH DID UPSET, $2.20.

BOOT TO BOOT, possessing keen speed, raced into the lead at once, was steadied along and had speed in reserve all during the stretch run. GOLDEN AUBURN followed close up, made repeated bids, but was not good enough. DINAH DID UPSET was blocked when attempting to move through on the inside when reaching the back stretch and could not get to the two in the final drive. CANAAN went well. IOLLAN and AFRICAN were outrun.

WATTERS BOOTS BOOT TO BOOT HOME AHEAD.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:00. Off at 5:01. Winner, J. P. McGovern's br. m. (3), by Theo Cook—Edna Stack. Trained by C. Raynor. Value to winner, $900; second, $250, third, $150. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:49, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:47 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RUBY KELLER, $5.00, $4.10, $2.60; NEALON KAY, $5.70, $3.90; DRUGGIST, $3.50.

RUBY KELLER, sluggish in the early running, saved ground when moving into contention, closed stoutly to displace NEALON KAY and was under pressure at the end. NEALON KAY, rated along in front, disposed of JANE RINEHART and continued gamely. DRUGGIST was unable to improve his position after reaching a forward position. JANE RINEHART faltered in the final drive. YOSAN could not keep pace.

DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL ELEVENS IN 5 GAMES TODAY

Central Team Entertains St. John

Gonzaga Is Host to Business in New Stadium.

Washington-Lee High Plays Western on Ballston Field.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

SCHOLASTIC football breaks out in nearly full bloom today as eight local schoolboy elevens await the kick-offs of the five scheduled games. The grid connoiseur may cull his day's fare from the following: Central vs. St. John's, at Central, 3:30 o'clock; Business vs. Gonzaga, at Gonzaga, 3:30; Western vs. Washington-Lee High, at Ballston, 3:30; Eastern vs. National Training School, at Eastern, 3:30; St. Alban's vs. Landon, at St. Alban's, 3 o'clock.

Central should experience little trouble in turning back the thrusts of Paully Byrne's youthful Saints. Central excels in exprience, weight and presents a more complex style of attack. Ty Rauber is taking no chances, however, and will use the slightly injured regulars, Colella, Morgan and Johnson. The rest of Rauber's line-up reads: Black, left end; Boyle, left guard; Koscis, right guard; Garret, right tackle; Mirman, right end; De Lisio, left half; Hinkel, right half; Pinckney, full.

Gonzaga-Business Teams Green.

The Gonzaga-Business batlte in Gonzaga's new 3,000 capacity bowl at Thirty-fourth and Benning road northeast, bids fair to eclipse all other local tusles in equality of keenness. Both teams are as green as last Christmas' jewelry and anxious to make a name for themselves. It should be close all the way, with Gongaza a bit stronger at the finish.

Eastern Fray Offers Upset Possibility.

Eastern found room on its schedule for Ed Crandall's eleven from the National Training School, and this is perhaps the "upset" encounter of the day. All but one of the Training School boys, including Capt. Leo Kiski, have never played football until this year. Coach Crandall has performed semimiracles with his boys and has moulded a team which has defeated Alaxandria High and held Emerson's coterie of stars to a 0-to-0 tie in its two appearances to date.

Coach Kelley's group will be somewhat weakened by the loss of Capt. Mades, one of his few seasoned men. Corridon, Wells, Smoak and either Palmer or Ken Wade will do the ball carrying.

Western Encounters Powerful Foe.

Western meets an almost insurmountable obstacle in its initial game today. Washington-Lee holds wins over Episcopal and Eastern and are deemed much too strong for Ahern's crew. Ahern is uncertain about his line selections, but Webb will call signals, Lyman, right half; Cochran, left half, and Amidon, full.

St. Alban's and Landon open their season on St. Alban's Field. While a new coach, "Milly" Price, has been installed at Landon and six regulars are back in the line-up, it is not believed that they can quite turn the trick against the Wisconsin Avenue aggregation.

Here they are. Take your pick.

series who had been clocking the mental processes of Brooklyn's master minds, declared that the Robins had offered four for two, Ray Moss, pitcher; Jake Flowers, infielder, and Harvey Hendrick and Ike Boone, outfielders.

Rogers Hornsby had a chat with William F. Baker at Philadelphia and he may have asked the Phillies' president if he would consider an offer for Chuck Klein, sensational young outfielder and Arthur Whitney, a third baseman who can hit.

Soon after the appointment of Hornsby as manager of the Cubs and his succession to the seat at the head of the table, there were rumors that he would make some vital changes in the Cubs' line-up.

At Philadelphia he would not confirm these suggestions, avoiding the issue by saying the Cubs, like every other club in the two major leagues, would like to have more pitching strength.

It seems likely that some changes will be made in the championship teams of Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Moore Groomed by Connie Mack.

Connie Mack groomed his young outfielder recruit, Jim Moore, in late games of the American League season, for duty later and has paid particular attention to polishing his fielding. He has some smart young infielders, too, waiting for a chance to break into the lineup.

Almost any fan in St. Louis would tell one who asked that Collins, the Rochester home run hitter, would play first base for the Cardinals next season, even before "Sunny Jim" Bottomley went to bat 22 times in the world's series and made only 1 hit. Gossip linked Bottomley's name with that of the Reds, but Manager Dan Howley, of Cincinnati, professed not to have heard it.

The New York Giants expect to spend a busy winter in the baseball marts. Today they added by purchase, John Vergez, an infielder from the Oakland Club, of the Pacific League, and others will follow.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 9.—Sergt. Mickey McBride, star athlete at Fort Humphreys several years ago, is again stationed at the Virginia post after three years of foreign duty at Corozal, Panama. While at the Panama post, McBride starred on teams in baseball and basket ball. He expects to enter into the sports competition at the Virginia post this fall.

The Virginia Midgets football team will meet the Manhattan Club in Washington Sunday afternoon in their initial contest. Tonight the boys will hold an important practice on the shipyard field.

Episcopal's 100-pound team defeated the Red Robins yesterday, 12 to 6. Steptoe was the star for the winners. Moore made the lone touchdown for the Red Robins. The Friends School Team will be met by the boys next week.

Robert McDonald was named as chairman of the board of governors of the Northern Virginia Athletic Officials Athletic Assocantion at an important meeting held last night. Bill Entwisle, Rose Walker and Billy Wood are other members of the board. Dr. C. T. Dreifus, president, presided at the session. The meeting was largely attended.

Twenty-two A. H. S. youngsters left Alexandria yesterday for Hampton, Va., where they will represent the local high school in a game of football against the Hampton High team. The boys will return home Saturday. Coaches Given and Wilson were in charge of the team.

Les Deavers, manager of the Alpha Delta Omega eleven, announces that "Speed" Draper, Emerson Institute star, has been signed to play with his team. Draper will appear in Sunday's game with the Mercuries, of Washington. This is a Capital City League contest.

for his pennants. It is a gamble to depend on two pitchers and the opportune home runs that the Philadelphia sluggers hit this season.

Surely the Cardinals are a better-balanced ball club. There is power all down the line of the St. Louis order, with two of the most promising recruits in recent years in Gelbert and Watkins. And the St. Louis infield overshadowed Mack's with the smoothness of their play defensively. Strange that such a team would lose four out of six games, but not strange that they should lose to Earnshaw and Grove. The National League does not boast such fire-ball pitching as the two aces of the Philadelphia staff displayed. They handcuffed the Cardinals' attack.

National League's Honors Redeemed.

The American League's supremacy was established in the series, but not so strongly established that the National League should now be included in the universal draft that is the bone of contention between the majors and the minors. The Cardinals redeemed in a great measure the prestige that the National League lost in 1927, 1928, 1929, when the Pirates, Cardinals, and Cubs were trampled down. Gabby Street produced a ball club whose fighting spirit is not its only virtue. The Cards can field and they can hit and slug, but not against the pitching of Earnshaw and Grove, the true heroes of the world series.

GIANTS BUY INFIELDER.

LOST AGNES SCORES IN LAUREL REVERSAL

another surprise for the racing fans, as Boot to Boot was an outsider, while Dinah Did Upset and Golden Auburn ruled the choices. The winner paid $24.10 for $2. He ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5.

Boot to Boot, by North Star III—Paula, now a 7-year-old, won the American Derby at Chicago as a 3-year-old. His racing has not been sparkling since. He was in today with the light impost of 103 pounds, broke briskly and never let up in his speed. Bradley was in the stand and the dropping of the odds made it appear that the owner of Idle Hour Farm wagered heavily on his horse. The order of the three leading horses never changed after the field was straightened out. This race was the secondary feature on the card.

One Alone Wins After Delaying Field.

P. M. Walker's One Alone scored in the first race after proving that she was one of the worst post actors that Starter James Milton has run across in Maryland. She delayed the start several minutes, during which interim Mack Garner was powerless to get her in the stall. Then Bayard Warren's Dwadle, backed from 20 to 12 to 1, ran away for a quarter of a mile and One Alone was taken to the outside. Finally when the field of twelve maiden 2-year-old fillies was away to a very good start, One Alone went to the front and won by a half length from the Sagamore Stable's Green Light. A length further back W. S. Kilmer's Darkayress was third and Rosevolt fourth. The winner was favorite and paid $5.60. Time, 1:07 3-5, five and a half furlongs.

The Queen City Stable's Bally Weaver, F. Bellhouse up, won a hard battle in the first steeplechase of the meeting, after E. R. Bradley's Mistenflute, the favorite, ready to take the lead in the home stretch, fell on the last round on the back field. The Eastland Farm's Deligard was second and R. B. Strassberger's The Ace II, third. Rolling Stone lost his rider, D. Payne, but the jockey remounted and finished the course.

Thorndyke was uninjured in his fall on Mistenflute. The winner paid $14.40. Joe Marshall was an early leader, with The Ace II a contender. Mistenflute was held off the early pace. The turf was hard and dry and dust clouded parts of the race.

Old Kid Wins by Head Over Reform.

C. R. Allen's Old Kid got a head decision in the third race, a 1¼-mile gallop, and more honors accrued to the new riding sensation here, A. Adams, apprentice. The boy brought his horse from nowhere to overhaul the favorite, Sunchen, at the sixteenth pole, and then to nose out Reform in the last stride, paying $12.50.

Sunchen, from the Sagamore Stable, led into the stretch, pursued by Vowed Vengeance. At the far turn, Old Kid, next to last, began to move up and saving ground on the stretch turn for home fought it out to the last notch and won due to a good ride. Reform was an outsider and paid $17.80 for place. Sunchen was $6.90 to show. Vowed Vengeance was fourth. The time was 1:47.

Harry Payne Whitney's Pennate, odds-on favorite, won the fourth race, the Glenmont Purse, for 2-year-olds, by a close margin from W. R. Coe's Ra Horus. The Sagamore Stable's Rip Van Winkle was third. Time, 1:12 2-5. The winner paid $3.50.

Workman had the mount on Pennate. The son of Pennate—Pageant broke badly in a tangle, and it took utmost perseverance on the part of the jockey to get in front. Ra Horus was off swinging from the gate and lost by a nose. Eight juveniles started. Major Lanphier, an outsider, finishing fourth, ran a good race, and will bear watching.

Ruby Kellar, 5-year-old mare, owned by J. P. McGovern, scored for favorite players in the seventh and final race of today's program with a length and a half victory over Nealon Kay after wearing down the pace setter in the long stretch drive. Ruby Kellar paid $5 in the $2-win mutuels.

LAUREL NOTES

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 9.—James Butler's Questionnaire took the track this morning and reeled off a mile in 1:41 2-5. The 3-year-old is going to be hard to whip in his stake efforts here.

Gwynn Tompkins, who handles the Brookmeade Stable's horses, states that the farm which Mrs. Sloan purchased in Virginia is one of the most complete of its kind in this section of the country. It has a building containing 30 stalls, with an inclosed training track 19½ feet wide on the sides and 22 feet wide at the far turns.

Louis Tauber was an arrival from New York with the eight horses that Ralph Beaver Strassburger recently purchased in France.

Brown Trap and Mikelina have been added to the schooling list.

Johnny Schorr, who handles the E. B. McLean Stable, has fifteen nice-looking yearlings quartered at Benning. They are by The Porter, Prince of Wales and Messenger.

William Bringle, who handles the Seagram string, of Waterloo, Ontario, was an arrival from Canada.

Chick Lang wired today from Toronto that he is shipping Ravine, Fast Life and Fine Lady down here.

Harry Hunt, who was badly shaken up when J. E. Widener's Prowler fell while working several mornings ago, was out galloping horses this morning.

Steeplechase Jockey Everett Nelson was an arrival from New York. He will go to Rosetree, Pa., next Wednesday to ride "Jock" Whitney's Capstone in a flat race.

Tom Healey, head trainer of the H. P. Whitney string, leaves tonight for the Brookdale Farm, where he will inspect the four yearlings being made ready for the 1931 season.

John J. Farrell has purchased Swift and Gay at private terms from Walter J. Salmon.

LEWIS JOINS MERCURYS.

Jakie Lewis, former Business High quarter back, will play with the Mercurys this year. The Southwest players will open their Capital City League season next Sunday when they play the Alpha Delta Omega Team of Alexandria, at the Gonzaga Athletic Field. The contest will get under way at 3 o'clock.

ST. STEPHEN'S TO DRILL.

St. Stephen's will work out tonight on the gridiron at Seventeenth and B streets northwest in preparation for its opening Capital City League game with the Marions next Sunday on the Silver Spring field. Coach Crouch requests the attendance of all Saint players at the drill.

G. P. O.-FEDS SEEK GAME.

G. P. O.-Federals are looking for a game for Sunday with a team in the 135-pound weight division. Call Eddie Canter at Lincoln 4571-W.

VA. POLY OFF FOR TEST AT NASHVILLE

Gobblers' Hopes for Beating Vanderbilt Rest in Passes.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Virginia Poly's football squad, 25 strong, left here tonight for Nashville to play Vanderbilt Saturday. The Techmen took to the air with a new assortment of passes in the final workout this afternoon. As Coach Neal prpeared other backs besides Capt. Hooper for the overhead game, Sam Hardwick, Mit Owens and Phil Spear all figured prominently in the aerial warfare practice for the Commodores.

Vandy's 200-pound line was expected to force the Gobblers into the open. Laterals, forwards, reversers—everything but straight football—were calculated to be the Gobbler's main hope against the conquerors of Minnesota.

The line-up for the game was not yet announced, but Neal planned to use several former reserves in the starting array. Bill Grinus, big sophomore tackle, and State record holder with the 12-pound shot, probably will start at one of the tackles, and Buck Chandler, tall wingman at end. Red Kasun, a sophomore, is slated for duty at guard and Hal Wimmer, at center in place of Brown, who was not fully recovered from injuries received in the Carolina game. Ottley, midget 148-pounder, will be in one of the half back positions.

The team will be put through a final workout at Nashville tomorrow.

Charlottesville Fives Defeat Staunton Juniors

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Oct. 9.—Fives, representing Charlottesville School for Boys, won their seventh straight victory of the season, defeating Staunton Military Academy Juniors, 27 to 7. Davis went over for the first score after 45 seconds of play. Harry Dinwiddie, 90-ponnd half back, intercepted a pass and dashed 55 yards for a touchdown as the turning point of the game. Marshall and Payne played great defense games for Fives. Walker made the S. M. A. touchdown.

The Fives have scored 307 points to their opponents' 59 this year. They play Woodberry Forest on Lambeth Field Saturday, and in Akron, Ohio, for the national championship next Thursday night.

tion of the visitors, Georgetown should win, and rather handily, too.

Georgetown has improved since the opening of the campaign and ought to show something of the form desired of it by the coaches. Following a disappointing 14-6 victory over Mount St. Mary's, the Hilltoppers easily conquered the highly touted Loyola Team of Chicago, 16-6, and during the practice period this week have displayed heartening precision in their movements. Mastery of detail of the Notre Dame system in vogue has been the big objective sought by Coaches Mills, Colrick, Smith and Murphy.

Wesleyan, as usual a rugged team, but lacking some of the experience it had last fall, absorbed a 41-6 walloping from New York University last Saturday. Several of its regulars were injured in that battle, but all except Cocaptain Paul Watson, left end, have recovered.

Battles, Half Back, Invaders' Star.

Clifford ("Gyp") Battles, left half back, is the star of the invaders. He probably will prove the most interesting figure in the game. He was outstanding when Georgetown met Wesleyan last year and has not gone back in his form.

Two changes have been made in the Georgetown line-up that was seen here two weeks ago. Aurel Tremblay is playing right guard in place of the injured Charley Brickman, while Russell Danieu holds down the right half back post formerly occupied by Emile Bozek. Another shift—Mancell Gillis for Leroy Bordeau at full back—was canceled last night, and Bordeau, the ramrod of the Hilltop offense, again will try to rip up the line.

Following are the probable starting line-ups, with numbers:

INTERCITY GAME CARDED.

The Knickerbocker A. C.'s football team will make its debut next Sunday at Richmond, where it will meet the strong Councilor Eleven. Players are asked to attend a short business meeting at the clubhouse tomorrow night at 7 o'clock to arrange transportation and other details.

Aerial Grid Battles Expected On South's Fields Tomorrow

Maryland and North Carolina Brush Up Passing for Clash at Chapel Hill; Georgia and Georgia Tech Enroute North.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Training camp reports from the Maryland proving grounds at College Park and the North Carolina workshop at Chapel Hill point to a fast-moving aerial battle between these teams Saturday.

The Tarheels took to the air last week to down Virginia Polytechnic, while the Old Liners proved themselves adept with the forwards by completing 13 out of 22 attempted against Yale. Although Carolina had little trouble trouncing Maryland, 43 to 0, last season, Coach Chuck Collins looks for a close score this year and admittedly fears the Terrapins' air offensive.

From other Dixie practice fields comes word of much passing and a like amount of antiaircraft defensive work. Florida, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Mississippi, Virginia Tech and Georgie are among the squads stressing the passing attack, and if fair weather prevails the air may be thick witn floating pigskins Saturday.

Four Major Games Scheduled.

The four major games scheduled tomorrow bring together Oglethorpe and Manhattan at New York, Birmingham-Southern and Union at Birmingham, Mississippi A. and M. and Millsaps at Jackson, Miss., and Wake Forest and Baltimore at Wake Forest, N. C.

Oglethorpe went through final practice under the floodlights of the Polo Grounds in New York in preparation for the nocturnal engagement with the metropolitan team. Cagle's Aggie machine, beaten in both starts this year, deploys against Millsaps minus the services of its captain and guard, Miller Matthews, and the full back, Lawrence Lenoir. Both were hurt in the game with Mississippi College last week.

Dan McGugin at Vanderbilt is grooming Dixie Roberts, a sophomore, to replace the injured Jesse Thomas at half back against Virginia Tech, while Jester, a reserve end, has been tried at both center and tackle and may see service at either post.

Mississippi will be strengthened for the clash with Tennessee by the return of its captain, Dick Peeles, at end, but will be shy of its half back, Colon Brown, who resigned from the squad because he needed the time for his scholastic work.

Auburn Gridders Face Florida.

Encouraged by their win over Spring Hill last week, 31 Auburn gridders entrained tonight for Jacksonville to play Florida Saturday. Injuries have removed Capt. Harkins, center, and Will Bassett, half back, and Coach Chet Wynne will be forced to rely on substitutes. Coach Bachman, of Florida, announced Joe Hall, who has alternated as end and back, would play end the rest of the season and would start the Auburn game.

The loss of James "Twee" Floyd, half back, because of a shoulder injury, has added to the back field troubles of Coach Van Liew at North Carolina State in his preparations for the important game with Clemson.

Georgia and Georgia Tech were en route north today to face Yale and Carnegie Tech, while Tulane, Virginia, Hampden-Sidney and Centenary prepared to start toward the sites of their Saturday games with Texas A. and M.

Capital City League Clubs To Use Gonzaga Gridiron

THROUGH the courtesy of Gonzaga High School authorities, officials of the 1930 Capital City Football League, which is sponsored again this year by The Washington Post, yesterday were able to secure the Gonzaga Athletic Field, Thirty-fourth and Benning road northeast, as the site of the Brookland-Quentin, Alpha Delta Omega-Mercury inaugural clashes next Sunday in the unlimited section of the circuit.

League officials chose the field because of its well conditioned gridiron and its excellent facilities to handle spectators. Recently completed stands will seat more than 3,000 people.

With the Silver Spring field selected last Wednesday as the scene of the St. Stephen's-Marion engagement, all six of the unlimited teams playing next Sunday will be assured of excellent playing fields for their initial league battles. The seventh club in the division, the Seat Pleasants, drew a bye and will not open its league season until October 19.

Orrel Mitchell (Gonzaga) has been appointed field judge of the first game, which will start at 1 o'clock sharp. C. B. McClure (Georgetown) will officiate as umpire. The positions of these officials will be reversed in the nightcap, which will have a 3 o'clock kick-off.

Eight of the nine teams entered in the 150-pound division this fall also will inaugurate league play next Sunday. Intersection contests between these clubs will find Mardfeldts and Palace-D. G. S. meeting at Boyer Stadium, Seat Pleasant, Centennials playing the Del Rays, at Del Ray; Brentwood Hawks and Northern Preps clashing on the Mount Rainier field, and Wolverines and Petworth Pennants settling things on the Silver Spring gridiron. Each of these battles except the latter will start at 3 o'clock. Wolverines and Petworth, however, will start play at 1.

Howard U. Gridmen Off for Smith Game

Determined upon revenge, Coach erdell and his rejuvenated "Bisons" left last night to settle accounts with the "Golden Bulls" of Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte, N. C., on Saturday.

Wit htwo teams almost equally matched in every position, an extra center and another back, prospects of victory for Howard University seemed greater last night, as evidenced in the enthusiasm of the student body, than at any time last year.

Out of a squad of 62 men, with keen competition for every place on the team, the following players were selected to make the trip:

Swavely in Richmond For Battle Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., Oct. 9.—The Swavely School Football Team, conquerors last Friday of Business High School, will send its best team against St. Christopher's School of Richmond here on Saturday.

Coach Reeves has been working hard with his husky squad this week in an effort to develop a faster charging line and a more concerted interference play than was shown in the opening game with Business High.

Following Saturday's game, there will be no more home play until November 1, as the schedule calls for games against Randolph-Macon Academy, at Front Royal, on October 18, and Episcopal High, at Alexandria, on October 25.

DISTRICT COURTLESS.

There are no indoor or grass tennis courts in the District of Columbia.

THOMAS HOPE OF VIRGINIA AT PENN

Star of Back Field to Carry Burden at Franklin Field.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 9.—Bill Thomas is being groomed to carry the burden of Virginia's attack in the game with Pennsylvania on Franklin Field at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

In the three games the Cavaliers have played this season Thomas has attracted recognition as one of the outstanding backs in the South. In addition to scoring 19 points in the first two games, he averaged more than six yards each time he ran with the ball against Duke.

Playing Second Year As Regular.

Thomas is playing his second year as a regular in the Virginia back field. Last fall he attracted much attention and was selected as all-State half back on many mythical teams. With his shifty hips and his high-driving knees, he has been going better than ever in the three games played.

Earl Abell, Cavalier head coach, is putting finishing touches on his men this afternoon, and tonight the Virginians are leaving for Philadelphia. There will be 36 in the squad, including players, coaches and managers.

Many Virginia students will follow the team in time for the game Saturday. In practices on Lambeth Field the squad has so completely regained its spirits that there is high hope here of making a fine showing against the Quakers. This will be the first trip of the Virginians to Philadelphia since 1924.

Cleveland Indians May Drop Frederick Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 9.—The Frederick (Blue Ridge League) Baseball Club, which has been operated for the last three years as a farm by the Cleveland Club, of the American League, may be dropped from the Indians' chain-store baseball aggregation next year, it was learned here today upon the return of several Blue Ridge League fans from Philadelphia, where they attended the sixth and final game of the world series.

Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Club and its holdings, told the Blue Ridge group when he met it in the Quaker City that the parent club had suffered a big loss at the gate at Frederick in 1930, and, while no definite action had been taken as yet relative to 1931, there was a strong possibility that Cleveland would abandon the Little Warriors.

Evans did not make public the amount lost at Frederick, but it is reported to be in the neighborhood of $25,000. In 1929 the Frederick Club lost $21,000, according to Evans.

Cumberland Valley Grid League Opens Saturday

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 9.—The Cumberland Valley Athletic League, which embraces several States, will open its 1930 football season Saturday, with the Waynesboro (Pa.,) team opposing Winchester (Va.,) and Hagerstown (Md.,) meeting Charles Town (W. Va.).

The league is a high school combination which sponsors football, baseball, basket ball and other branches of sports. The teams which are not scheduled for Saturday will open their season a week later.

TRAPPE HIGH WINS.

Tilghman, Md., Oct. 9 (Special).—Trappe High School easily defeated Tilghman High School today in a very one-sided soccer game by the score of 15 to 2.

MIDGETS WANT GAMES.

The Virginia Midgets, claimants of the northern Virginia championship last year, are anxious to schedule games with District 110-pound elevens. Manager John Travers can be reached between 6 and 7 o'clock each evening at Alexandria 1396.

STOCK PRICES BREAK THROUGH 1929 LOWS

Many Favorite Issues Sink to New 1930 Bottoms; U. S. Steel Off 4¾.

5,050,600 SHARES SOLD

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The stock market swept down through last November's lows today.

Weakened by a month of almost steadily declining quotations, the price structure gave way under the unfavorable news of suspension of another member firm for insolvency. However, the market did not collapse; the decline, averaging 5.8 points, was orderly and gave no evidence of demoralization. There was a rally after the first flood of selling had been exhausted, but the recovery enabled the shorts to cover without much sacrifice of profits and the decline was resumed, with the closing not far above the bottom.

The final composite price on 90 leading shares was 140.3, duplicating the 1929 low established on November 13, although more inclusive averages went below the November 13 level several days ago. It was the largest drop since August 8, and the total sales of 5,050,600 shares were the largest since June 18.

Weakness in bonds, which had been moving against the trend of the market for equity securities, was a noteworthy feature of the day, although much of the selling doubtless came from holders in need of funds for stock accounts. Foreign bonds, with few exceptions, sagged; some were extremely soft.

Cotton Changes Irregular.

Wheat and corn joined the downward procession with declines of 2 to 3 cents a bushel. Cotton showed considerable irregularity and was 2 points higher to 4 lower at the close.

Favorite investment stocks, which have been increasingly weak of late, gave ground freely and many, including U. S. Steel and American Telephone, broke through their November minimums on extreme losses that averaged 5 points. Attempts at support were ineffective.

The most striking example in this direction was the lively battle at the U. S. Steel post in the forenoon when large buying orders failed to hold the stock at 150. It subsequently touched 146, closing at 146⅜, off 4¾. American Can and Atchison were virtually the only active favorites that did not make at least new 1930 lows.

News from the business world was largely unimportant, so that the market's difficulties came from within. Bradstreet's building index for September showed 6.5 per cent gain in permits over August. Baldwin Locomotive's shipments last month were slightly higher, and the head of a department store chain reported that earnings this year were running ahead of 1929.

Schacht Words Reassuring.

In addition there were reassuring words from Dr. Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank, concerning Germany's foreign debts, which he said would be paid. He also asserted that Germany's foreign trade must be increased 50 per cent if she is to be able to meet the terms of the reparations agreement.

Brokers' loans in the last week declined $158,000,000, establishing a new low for the year for the second successive week. The largest shrinkage was in New York City member banks' loans for own account, which were off about $100,000,000.

Interest in the money market centered largely on the increase in the Reichsbank's discount rate to 5 per cent, from 4. This was seen as a strictly domestic affair, rather than as a forerunner of firmer world markets, for Germany has been losing gold as well as capital since the elections. Rates on time accommodations here stiffened slightly, but call money was unchanged at 2 per cent.

Five-Point Losses Numerous.

Net losses of 5 points were numerous in prominent stocks. In this group fell Case, Coca-Cola, Electric Power & Light, Stone & Webster, Johns-Manville, New York Central and Columbia Gas. Goodyear Rubber, Ingersoll Rand, International Business Machines, Vanadium, Standard Gas, Rock Island, Allied Chemical and Westinghouse closed 6 or more lower, while in the 4-point list were American Can, American & Foreign Power, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Gillette and Air Reduction. General Electric lost more than 3. Auburn Auto declined 8¾ and Peoples Gas and Hahn Department Stores preferred 10.

Wheat yielded 2 to 2½ cents in sympathy with the weakness of stocks. Large Russian exports were reported. Corn dropped 2⅜ to 3 on estimates of large Argentine shipments.

With the exception of the unsettled Latin-Americans, foreign currencies were firm.

BONDS SINK HEAVILY AS SALES ADVANCE

100 Foreign Issues Hit New 1930 Lows, With Drops Up to 19 Points.

FRENCH GROUP IS FIRM

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Bonds joined the trend of other securities today.

Declines in both foreign and domestic issues were the most drastic in several weeks and in many instances were measured in points rather than fractions. No section of the list escaped from the selling pressure which was largely ascribed to the weak share market and disturbing news from foreign countries.

The selling, which gained momentum during the afternoon, swelled the sales to $17,065,000, which has been surpassed on only a few days this year.

Nearly 100 foreign bonds sold at new lows for the year on declines ranging from fractions to 19 points. Bonds of the United Kingdom, France, and some Scandinavian countries were virtually the only firm issues.

Latin Americans Hard Hit.

Showing signs of waning during the early hours, liquidation of Latin-American bonds was brisk in the afternoon, and while sales were very thin in many instances, prices were off several points from the previous close. Rio Grande do Sul 7s reacted 17¾ to 50 and Antioquia third 7s tumbled 19½. There were many losses of 5 points or more and virtually every active South American government bond set a low.

Losses among European issues were generally smaller but the selling covered a wider list of obligations than had been affected in recent sessions. German 7s and 5½s, off fractionally; Austrian 7s off 3½, Finland 5½s, German Central Agricultural Bank 6s of July, 1960, and Italy 7s were among the prominent issues at new lows for the year.

Japan 5½s, which have been very steady, sagged ⅞, and Belgian 6½s and 6s lost a point or more. In contrast was the firmness of French bonds. The 7½s equaled the year's high at 128, and the 7s advanced ⅜.

Domestic List Off Half Point.

In the domestic section, considerable selling was influenced by the necessity to protect accounts in the share market. Convertible and warrant issues were very active and reacted to new low for the year. Speculative liens gave ground readily, and many prime issues were unsettled. The averages for 30 domestic issues declined ½ point.

Among high-grade issues, Atchison general 4s sagged ¾. Pennsylvania general and debenture 4½s lost ⅞ and ½, respectively. Rather large losses were registered in Canadian Pacific 4½s, Colorado & Southern 4½s A, Erie 5s, Denver & Rio Grande 5s, Great Northern 4½s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s of 1978 and Southern Railway general 6s.

Wide losses were sustained by speculative bonds in the industrial list, particularly those of oil and sugar companies. United States Government joined the downward movement. Liberties were less affected than Treasury issues. The 3⅛s yielded about ¼ of a point.

CHAIN-STORE SALES DECLINE SLIGHTLY

44 Companies Report Nine Months' Business of $1,965,233,176.

SEPTEMBER FIGURE OFF

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A table of 44 chain store companies reporting their results for the first nine months of 1930, compiled by Merrill, Lynch & Co., shows aggregate sales of $1,965,233,176, against $1,978,413,196, a decrease of 0.6 per cent. Aggregate sales of these companies for September totaled $216,837,487 as compared with $231,914,948 for September, 1929, a loss of 6.5 per cent.

For the first nine months of the year department store sales in Washington were off only 1.5 per cent compared with the corresponding period in 1929, according to the Federal Reserve Board's report made public yesterday. Those for September were 3.9 per cent below the month a year ago

New $2,000,000 Flotation.

An issue of $2,000,000 Davison Realty Co. ten year 6% sinking fund gold notes, with nondetachable stock purchase warrants, to mature October 1, 1940, is being offered today by a syndicate headed by Stein Bros. & Boyce, the Baltimore Co., and the Southern Securities Corporation. The Davison Realty Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of the Davison Chemical Co., owns approximately 343 acres of waterfront property located in the Curtis Bay area of the Baltimore Harbor.

It is planned to use the proceeds of this financing to develop a portion of the property for residences for employes of the Chemical Co. and the remaining 200 acres for industrial sites, and for other corporate purposes.

National Shirt Shops, Inc., reports for September sales totaling $302,512, as compared with $310,005 in September, 1929, a decrease of 2.48 per cent. For the first nine months of 1930, sales totaled $3,137,880, as compared with $2,977,963 in 1929, an increase of 5.37 per cent.

G. C. Murphy Sales.

G. C. Murphy Co. reports for September sales totaling $1,343,980, as compared with $1,335,917 in September, 1929, an increase of 0.6 per cent. For the first nine months of 1930 sales totaled $11,126,751, as compared with $10,213,915 in 1929, an increase of 8.9 per cent.

Thomas Donaldson, district manager for Henry L. Doherty Co., has returned from New York, where he attended a meeting of the executives of the company.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.)—Cotton was irregular today, with an early advance, followed by declines under selling, which appeared to be influenced by weakness in the grain and stock markets. New December contracts, after selling up to 10.44 early, broke to 10.20, or 12 points net lower, but there were rallies later on covering or rebuying. The new December closed at 10.28, with the general market closing barely steady, net 2 points higher to 4 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 7 to 12 points on buying prompted by relatively steady Liverpolo cables, a bullish view of the Standard cloth statistics for September, and a feeling that constructive developments might grow out of the meeting of the cotton trade called for Monday in New Orleans. Offerings were comparatively light, and the early buying was sufficient to send prices up to 10.22 for new October and 10.74 for March contracts, or about 10 to 13 points net higher. The demand then tapered off, however, and the market weakened during the middle of the day owing to the declines following an opening advance in wheat and the unsettled ruling of the stock market.

New October sold off to 10.05, while March broke to 10.51, with the more active months showing net losses of about 10 to 12 points during the middle of the afternoon. Buying by the trade on this decline seemed to strengthen the technical position of the market, however, and there were rallies later on covering. Closing quotations were about 6 to 9 points up from the lowest.

The Standard cloth statistics for September, showing a decrease of 11.4 per cent in stocks on hand and an increase of 28.1 per cent in unfilled orders for the month, were considered one of the chief factors contributing to the early advance, although the improvement was attributed partly to the curtailment of mill production.

Liverpool cables said that realizing had been absorbed by continental buying and covering in that market, but that business in cotton cloth at Manchester was slow in developing, with buyers cautious. Exports today, 64,652, making 1,504,434 so far this season. Port receipts, 62,307. United States port stocks, 2,966,590.

CLAIRVOYANTS

CLAIRVOYANT THE MAN WHO KNOWS

608 12th St. N.W.

Over Woolworth's 5c & 10c Store

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, loss or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

LEGAL NOTICES

WILLIAM W. BRIDE and THOMAS F. CAMERON, Attorneys.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT of Columbia, holding an Equity Court. Luther H. Reichelderfer, Herbert M. Crosby and John C. Cotwals, Commissioners of the District of Columbia, District Building, Plaintiffs, vs. Julia A. Bridget, and any other person or persons unknown having any interest whatsoever in Lot 9 (now known as Lot 833), Square 523, in the District of Columbia, Lot 9 (now known as Lot 833), Square 523, Defendants. Equity, No. 51492. Order of publication. The object of this suit is to authorize the sale of that piece and parcel of land located in the District of Columbia, and known and described as Lot 9 (now known as Lot 833), Square 523, and the improvements thereof, if any exist, to satisfy the existing lien and claim of the District of Columbia for unpaid taxes and special assessments levied against the hereinbefore described property, as more particularly described in the bill of complaint. On motion of the plaintiffs' attorneys it is, this 22d day of September, 1930, ordered that the defendants, Julia Bridget and any other person or persons unknown having any interest whatsoever in Lot 9 (now known as Lot 833), Square 523, cause their appearance to be entered herein on or before the first rule day occurring after the expiration of 40 days, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, from the first publication of this order; otherwise the case will be proceeded with as in cases of default, provided that this order be published once a week for three successive weeks in the Washington Law Reporter and The Washington Post prior to said rule day, good cause having been shown why longer publication is unnecessary. By the court: WENDELL P. STAFFORD, Justice. A true copy—Test: (Seal.) FRANK E. CUNNINGHAM, Clerk. By HARRY M. HULL, Assistant Clerk.

GOVERNMENT SHIFT IN COUNTY FAVORED

PUBLIC NURSES TO MEET

ARLINGTON COUNTY, BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Meeting last night in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, the legislative and legal action committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation, of which Robert N. Anderson is the chairman, completed its plans for carrying on an intensive campaign in the interest of the proposal to change the present county government. The voters will be called upon to cast their vote on Tuesday, November 4, on this question.

With the federation having adopted the report of the committee at a recent meeting, after months of study, and which recommended the county manager plan with a county board of five members to be elected at large, the committee has mapped out a program which calls for a house-to-house canvass for the purpose of explaining to the voters the advantages of this form of government over that of the commission plan or incorporation.

In addition to the house-to-house canvass the committee voted to have prepared and published a booklet showing in detail the advantages and disadvantages of all kinds of local government which is available to the county by the acts of the General Assembly. The committee appointed to prepare the booklet is composed of Robert N. Anderson, Arthur Orr and Hugh J. McGrath.

Walter U. Varney, member of the committee from the Arlington County Bar Association which worked with the federation committee, addressing the meeting said, "The eighteen members of the bar which signed the petition asking that an election be held were all in favor of the county manager plan and the election of the county board of five members at large.

"In my travels about the county I find practically everybody of the opinion that the county has long since outgrown its present form of government and consider a change at this time most necessary for the future development of the county. I also find that a majority are in favor of the county manager plan and I feel confident that we will be successful at the polls on election day."

Arrangements have been completed for the regional conference of public health nurses which will be held at the courthouse tomorrow, according to an announcement made yesterday by County Health Officer Chichester.

There will be in attendance at this conference, which will open at 10 a. m. and continue until 4 p. m., nurses from the following counties and cities: Loudoun, Warren, Fairfax, Arlington, Fauquier, Rappahannock, Prince William and Stafford Counties, and Fredericksburg, Winchester and Alexandria.

The program as given out by Dr. Chichester includes the following speakers and subjects: Miss Mary Andrews, of Stafford County, and Miss Helen Pittman, of Loudoun County, "What Should Be the Routine Program of a Public Health Nurse?" Mrs. Norma R. Davies, of Arlington County, and Mrs. Fannie L. Seamans, of Fairfax County, "What Are the Chief Handicaps to Carrying Out a Routine Program?" Mrs. M. A. Rudasill, of Arlington County, and Miss Martha Copenhaver, of Warren County, "Which Is Preferable, a Generalized or a Specialized Program?" and Miss Bertha Bristow, of Alexandria, "How Do You Differentiate Between Public Health Work and Public Welfare Work?"

Dr. Emmon G. Williams, State health commissioner, will attend the meeting and is expected to address the nurses.

Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, held a special meeting last night at Ballston, at which a large class of candidates were inducted into Legion work. The class included Chester Eichelberger, Lincoln Mackey, A. F. Thelander, J. M. Frye, C. A. Snarr and Thomas Wallace.

Concluding conferring of degrees, Harry G. Breckenridge, of Herndon, Va., one of the State vice commanders, addressed the meeting outlining the coming year's work of the Legion and urged all members of the post to take part in the program.

A program of entertainment followed which included boxing matches by two welterweights, Harry Groves and K. O. Riley, and a three-round bout staged by Frank D'Angelo and Joe Black. The program was brought to a close with a wrestling match between W. H. Havens, South Atlantic champion of the 175-pound class, and Slim Smith, of Maryland. Herbert Hudson, drum major of the post drum corps, led the boys in the singing of old war songs.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Patrick Henry School, holds its first meeting of the school year tonight in the school auditorium. All patrons and those interested in school work are invited to attend the meeting.

The Beta Chapter of the Chi Delta Gamma Sorority, meeting last night at the home of Helen Saum, at Cherrydale, elected the following officers: Miss Virginia Bushong, president; Miss Ruth Bierley, vice president; Miss Ruth Huston, recording secretary; Miss Dorothy Hunt, corresponding secretary; Miss Lois Chandler, chaplain, and Miss Helen Saum, sentinel. A special meeting will be held next week at which time the newly-elected officers will be installed.

The chapter will meet tonight at the home of Miss Dorothy Hunt at Clarendon.

Cherrydale Council, No. 11, Daughters of America, will hold its monthly meeting tonight in the Rucker Building at Clarendon.

R. J. Burlasque, said by police to be a former Federal prohibition agent and who was arrested following a raid by Sheriff Howard B. Fields and his officers Saturday night, resulting in Burlasque being charged with illegal possession of liquor, was held for the action of the grand jury by Police Judge Harry R. Thomas yesterday. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Mary Washington Chapter, No. 50, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a dance tonight in the Lyon Park Community House. Dancing will begin at 9 p. m., continuing until midnight. Music will be furnished by Lee Colvin's Orchestra.

The Community Methodist Church at Aurora Heights will give a program "Trip Around the World" tonight. The program includes visits to Spain, Ireland, Germany, Japan and Holland, which places will be represented at the homes of Mrs. John Shepard, Charles F. Linger, Mrs. H. S. Omohundro, Monroe H. Stocket and Fletcher Kemp. The arrangements provide for those attending to leave the church in four groups, the first at 7:30 p. m., the second group at 7:45 p. m., the third at 8 p. m. and the fourth at 8:15 p. m.

The new combination American LaFrance fire engine having arrived at the Arlington department's fire house, arrangements are now being completed for holding the official test, after which the engine will be placed in service.

Grand Rapids Pastor Weds.

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 9 (Special).—The Rev. M. J. Duryear, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. Margaret Cullen, of this city, were married here Saturday by Dr. M. A. MacLean, pastor of College Hill Baptist Church. They will spend the winter here after a trip to Grand Rapids.

WRECK IN WHICH MAN WAS BADLY INJURED

David Williams is shown standing by the wrecked coupe in which his brother, Robert, of Fairfax, Va., was seriously injured early yesterday morning when the machine left the Lee highway near Fairfax and struck a telephone pole. The car was damaged beyond repair. Williams is expected to survive.

PYTHIAN CONVENTION GRAND LODGE ENDS

Grand Temple Sisters Also Conclude Conference in Petersburg.

STATE OFFICERS NAMED

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Oct. 9.—The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and Grand Temple, Pythian Sisters, of Virginia, which convened in annual session here Tuesday night, adjourned sine die today, after having held one of the largest attended conventions in its history. The convention opened this morning at 9 o'clock and transacted much business during the day. State officers elected last night were installed. Shortly after the grand lodge opened the Pythian Sisters entered the lodgeroom to extend their greetings to the grand lodge. The Pythian Sisters and the grand lodge were addressed by Supreme Chancellor Leslie M. Crouch, of Portland, Oreg. The next business in order was election of three trustees. Those elected were S. B. Hammer, of Lynchburg, for three years; H. B. Gilliam, of Petersburg, for two years, and C. L. Tyler, of Portsmouth, for one year. The grand lodge will hold its next annual convention in New Market, Va., in October, 1931.

The reception tendered to the grand lodge last night by the Grand Temple of Pythian Sisters did not adjourn until about midnight. Richard H. Mann, a member of the order and a prominent member of the Petersburg bar, was master of ceremonies. Speeches were by Supreme Chancellor Crouch, of Portland, Oreg.; Charles Fox, of Roanoke, Va., a past chancellor, and others.

One of the interesting events of the reception was the presentation of a beautiful silk American flag and staff to Miss Viola Andrews, chief of Cockade Temple, No. 6, by Mrs. Annie Enniss, of Petersburg, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters, for having the largest increase in membership of any temple in the State during the year. The presentaton address was made by F. L. Gibbs. Supreme Chancellor Crouch and Vice Chancellor Grossman, who were guests of the grand lodge, were presented with a handsome leather traveling bag made in Petersburg as a token from Eureka and Naomi Lodges, Knights of Pythias, of Petersburg.

A large majority of the delegates and head officials to the convention left for their homes this afternoon.

Charge of Murder Will Occupy Jury

Loudoun Inquisitors Will Also Consider Several Liquor Cases.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Oct. 9.—One murder charge and several cases alleging violations of the State prohibition law are to be considered by the grand jury at the opening of the Loudoun Circuit Court here on October 13.

Indictment of Henry C. Wood, held in connection with the slaying of Ed Cogle, on August 8, will be asked by Commonwealth's Attorney John F. Galleher. It is expected that the case will be docketed for trial at this term of court.

Other cases to be considered by the grand jury incude charges against Agnes Gary, charged with a misdemeanor; Alex Norris, alias Alex Thornton, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor; John Wilson, George Longerbeam and Charles Longerbeam, charged with possession of a still, and Charles Harper, alleged to have violated the dry law.

MECHANIZED ARMY SIMULATES BATTLE

Steel Monsters Lead Attack in Mimic War Scene at Aberdeen.

TANKS CRUSH GUN PITS

Aberdeen, Md., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—An army on wheels today gave a demonstration of what war of the future may be like in a mimic battle staged before Government officials and industrialists at the Army proving ground here.

With observation planes droning overhead, armored motor cars serving as scouts advanced on simulated enemy positions, followed by tanks of all sizes and heavy artillery on self-propelled mounts. Radio played a greater part than ever before in similar exercises, officers said, in relaying information.

The demonstration was for the members of the Army Ordnance Association, which has been holding sessions of the twelfth annual convention at Washington.

Everything was mechanized. After the heavy artillery opened fire on targets, mounted antiaircraft elements advanced to protect the advance of the ground forces. Following in rapid succession came the light artillery and chemical mortars reinforced by heavier caliber guns.

Next medium tanks rushed the principal hostile defensive elements, crushing mimic machine gun nests and attacking antitank guns. Finally cross-country cars and cargo carriers brought forward the infantry with automatic rifles and machine guns to complete the capture of the position, and divisional infantry represented by a war-strength platoon advanced to release the mechanized forces for further forward movement.

The program, demonstrating virtually all new developments of the Ordnance Department of the Army, continued after nightfall with spectacular antiaircraft fire against towed targets.

Youth and Mother Joined By Radio After Long Hunt

Radio played an important part in bringing a mother and son together yesterday after they had been separated for several years.

Some years ago Mrs. Grace Johnson, an employe of the Ambassador Hotel in Washington, and her husband separated and their son Alfred was placed in a private school in Washington. Soon afterward Mr. Johnson decided to go West and take the boy along. He settled in Denver, Colo., where he and the youth made their home until this summer, when the father died. After paying the funeral expenses and settling his father's estate Alfred, who is now 16, had no funds to return to Washington to attempt to find his mother.

He made the long trip by hitch hiking, but his search was unsuccessful. He had gone to the last known address of his mother only to find she had moved. He made his way by doing odd jobs and recently had been making his home with Mrs. John P.

In some roundabout way his mother heard that he had been in Washington searching for her, so she appealed to the Washington police to find him. Wednesday evening, when the police news was being broadcast over Radio Station WJSV, the lad's description was given. Mrs. Arthur B. Barringer, of Vienna, heard it and remembered that the boy was staying at Mrs. Jones, a neighbor. Enlisting the aid of Leon L. Freeman, they talked to the lad and then communicated with the Washington authorities, who notified the mother yesterday afternoon. The reunion took place last night at the Freeman home on Church street in Vienna.

COTTONSEED PRICES UNDER U.S. SCRUTINY

Trade Commission Looks for Evidence of "Fixing" at Raleigh Hearing.

BUYERS ARE DESCRIBED

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The relation between cotton oil men and "50-cent-a-ton" commission seed buyers today came under the scrutiny of Federal Trade Commission attorneys investigating the cottonseed industry. The commission is seeking to determine if there is evidence of any illegal collusion between oil mills to "fix" cottonseed prices. A hearing was opened in Raleigh Tuesday by Examiner W. W. Sheppard, of the commission, and is expected to continue two or three weeks.

W. F. Marsh, secretary of the North Carolina-Virginia division of the National Cottonseed Products Association, who has been on the stand since the local hearing opened, continued his testimony. He was closely quizzed during the day by Walter B. Wooden, trade commission attorney, regarding what was termed an effort on the part of his organization "to weed out undesirable and ineligible '50-cent commission buyers.'"

Mr. Marsh said a committee had been named to pass on the "eligibility and desirability" of commission buyers, members of the organization proposed to employ, but he did not recall its ever holding a meeting.

The witness said that oil mills of the State had dropped a number of commission buyers last season. They reported, he said, that in some instances there had been duplication and that in other instances the commission men had not bought any seed "and were not going to buy any."

Hunter's Foot Wounded When Gun Is Discharged

Harrisonburg, Va., Oct. 9.—Zeb Miller, cashier of the Plants Bank of Mount Solon and University of Virginia graduate, is in the hospital here with a severely lacerated foot suffered when his shotgun was accidentally discharged while hunting squirrels near Natural Chimneys, Augusta County.

Miller, watching for a squirrel, had the gun pointed downward when it went off, the full load taking effect in his foot. One toe and part of the foot was blown off.

Preident's Ill Son Will Stay at Camp

Herbert Hoover, Jr., Plans to Remain at Retreat for Several Weeks.

(Associated Press.)

Herbert Hoover, jr., elder son of President Hoover, is expected to remain several weeks longer at the presidential lodge in Virginia, where he is undergoing treatment for a tubercular infection.

Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, said yesterday his patient has been making favorable progress since we went to the camp several weeks ago. The duration of his stay there is dependent upon the weather.

Water pipes at the lodge, which has an altitude of about 2,500 feet, are laid on top of the ground and are subject to freezing when the weather turns cold. Until this occurs it was said the patient would remain at the camp, where he is near his parents and is accessible to specialists. Where he will be taken later has not been determined, and no decision is to be made until the time comes, when his condition will weigh largely in the matter. The White House was uninformed today whether the invitation of Gov. Dillon of New Mexico for the President's son to visit there had been received.

The President made plans to visit his son over the week-end. He was unable to go to the camp last week because of the pressure of business, and Mrs. Hoover motored there alone. Mr. Hoover hoped to leave late today or early tomorrow and return Sunday.

Club Elects Officers.

Purcellville, Va., Oct. 8 (Special).—The Home Interest Club, which met at the home of Mrs. Frank P. Wilson, has elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Frank Wilson; secretary, Mrs. J. P. Brown; treasurer, Miss Carolina T. Pancoast.

RECEPTION TO HONOR WIFE OF CANDIDATE

Mrs. Broening Will Attend Montgomery County G. O. P. Function.

BUFFET SUPPER PLANNED

Mrs. William F. Broening, wife of Mayor Broening of Baltimore, Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland, is expected to be present at the card party and reception to be held tonight at the Manor Club under the auspices of the Woman's Republican League of Montgomery County.

County Republican candidates are to be present at the affair to be introduced to those who attend, according to Mrs. John R. Holmes, of Rockville, member of the county Republican State central committee, who heads the list of those to be in the receiving line. Others in the receiving line will be Mrs. Eugene E. Stevens, of Chevy Chase; Mrs. Thomas L. Dawson, of Rockville; Mrs. Thomas M. Anderson, of Rockville; Mrs. E. W. Koch, of Woodside, and Mrs. C. W. Mitchell, of Silver Spring. Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, of Edgemoor, also was to have been in the receiving line, but will be unable to attend because of a Republican organization meeting at which she is to act as vice chairman.

The Manor Club affair, which will begin at 8 o'clock, will be the first public occasion upon which the candidates have appeared in a body. A buffet supper will be served.

An organization meeting of Bethesda District Republicans will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Masonic Temple at Bethesda. Aubrey B. Carter, chairman, will preside. Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman is vice chairman.

Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore and other State Republican candidates will speak at county-wide Republican rallies to be held at Bethesda and Takoma Park Wednesday night. Simultaneous meetings are to be held, the candidates speaking at both meetings.

The Takoma Park meeting is to be held in the Takoma Park Volunteer Fire Department firehouse on Carroll avenue. The Bethesda meeting will be in the State Theater.

In addition to Mayor Broening, David A. Robb, candidate for attorney general; Frederick N. Zihlman, candidate for reelection to the House of Representatives, and Thomas L. Dawson, Rockville Republican leader, will address the meetings.

Suit for divorce was filed in circuit court at Rockville yesterday by George Milton Ernest, of Germantown, through Attorney Kenneth Lyddane, of Rockville. Absolute divorce from Mrs. Nellie Pearl Ernest, of Rockville, alleging misconduct and naming a corespondent, is asked.

The couple was married September 7, 1924, at Washington, and has one child. The father asks custody of the child.

The county-wide Democratic rally scheduled for Rockville October 17, at which Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and other State candidates are to speak, will be heard in the National Guard Armory at Kensington instead, it was announced yesterday by Berry E. Clark, chairman of the Democratic State central committee for Montgomery County.

The meeting is to be held in the afternoon, with night meetings at Silver Spring and Bethesda.

The meeting place was changed in order that seating space could be found for the large crowd expected to attend, Mr. Clark said.

There were 395 county hunting licenses, 36 resident State and 13 nonresident State-wide licenses issued by the clerk of the circuit court in the month of September, according to the report of Preston B. Ray, clerk of the circuit court.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Churches of Montgomery County will be held today at St. Bartholomew's Church, Laytonsville.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 10 o'clock this morning by the Rev. Philip Ayres Dales, rector of St. Bartholomew's Parish. Following the service a business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Josiah Waters Jones, president. Miss Lulu Bell is secretary-treasurer.

Diocesan officers have been invited to address the gathering at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and Coleman Jennings will make the principal address for the afternoon. Box luncheons will be served, with the hostess branch, Laytonsville, serving coffee.

Leesburg Rites Today For James W. Wallace

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Oct. 9.—Funeral services for James W. Wallace, 69, who died at his home here Tuesday night after an illness of several weeks, will be held at the Baptist Church Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. H. B. Jennings will officiate.

Mr. Wallace was a native of Leesburg and the son of the late James Wallace. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Minnie Alexander; an aged mother, Mrs. Addie Wallace; five sisters, Miss Maggie Wallace, Mrs. P. P. Perry and Mrs. Randolph Rhodes, of Leesburg; Mrs. Grace Harding, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Sellinger, of Baltimore, and three brothers, L. K. Wallace, of Leesburg, and Dr. Clifton and John Wallace, Washington, D. C.

Virginian in Critical Condition After Crash

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Oct. 9.—T. L. Sims, of Portsmouth, Va., probably was injured fatally late this afternoon when the automobile in which he was riding collided with another machine which was turning into Gilbert's filling station, about 10 miles from this city. Sims, who is 30 years old, received a broken arm, severe lacerations of the face and head and internal injuries. He is in Loudoun County Hospital.

The second car was driven by the Rev. W. C. Erney, of York, Pa. He was accompanied by his wife and two other persons. Although both cars were badly damaged, those in the Erney machine were not injured.

Lynchburg Girl Is Wed.

Lunchburg, Va., Oct. 9 (Special).—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Layne, of Lynchburg, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Layne to Sterling Eddy Hamlett, also of this city, which was celebrated last Saturday by the Rev. G. W. Ports, pastor Second Methodist Protestant Church. Mr. and Mrs. Hamlett will make their home here.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

INTERVIEWS WITH FAMOUS AMERICANS.
(Capt. Frank M. Hawks, Speed Airman).

Q. Capt. Hawks, what is the purpose of your sensational flights to establish new speed records?

A: I want to prove that a bullet can be overtaken in full flight.

Q: How many records have you broken?

A: I can't tell until today's total is added. The day is young yet.

Q: When you are making 250 miles an hour what are your feelings?

A: I always have a fear I'm a little late.

Q: Do you ever fly with the gas retarded?

A: Only through carelessness or an accident.

* * * *

Q. Has sped always been a mania with you?

A: No, I can remember back when I could ride on an express train without complaining to the engineer because the train was still on the rails.

Q: What caused you to take up aviation?

A: It may have been the experience of riding between two points in an interurban bus.

* * * *

Q. Does the fact, pointed out so often editorially, that your transcontinental flight brought the Pacific and Atlantic coasts closer together please you?

A: Yes, it has always seemed to me that scenario writers, fired upon arrival in Hollywood, should be able to get back East before their old jobs have been filled.

* * * *

Q: Do you ever feel afraid in the air?

A: Only when the engine isn't red-hot.

Q: Do you think a speed of 300 miles an hour attainable?

A: Yes, as soon as I get my motor really broken in. It doesn't do to rush it. I always say a motor should not be driven more than 250 miles an hour when it is new.

* * * *

Q. How does your experience as a record-breaking traveler affect your attitude toward life on the ground?

A: Motion as it is seen by the average man makes me sleepy. I am particularly bored by automobiles.

Q: Why?

A: If they make 70 miles an hour their drivers seem to think they've got the throttle wide open.

* * * *

Q: What experience is more frightful to you than any you can imagine?

A: Waiting for an elevator in order to attain an altitude of five floors.

Q: What is the second most terrible ordeal?

A: Waiting in a lunchroom for a slow waiter to bring a four-minute egg.

* * * *

Q. Capt. Hawks, do you carry a parachute?

A: I carry one but I would never use it.

Q: Why not?

A: I can get down faster without one.

TO A SLEEPY CLEOPATRA.

Curled up in slumber, sweetly rest
With your cheek upon my vest.
Scent my coat lapel with powder,
I'll but voice your praises louder,
Slumber on, sweet, I'll adore
Ev'ry darling little snore,
Even tho' my calm decreases
While you're ruining my creases.
Sleep here in my willing lap,
I'll be guardian of your nap.
It lends a thrill; I'll never shed it.
But, ah the tailor gives no credit.
Still slumber, child, I'll stand the test.
Altho my lap is sore oppressed,
Never has my vest been prouder.
Sleep on among the stains of chowder.
But kindly tell me why in hell
I like this gallantry so well?
—Harcourt Strange.

THE more you look at some make-ups these days the more you wonder whether the girls are having their faces rouged or almonized.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

(From the minutes of a New York grand jury examination of Mrs. Martin J. Healy, wife of a Tammany district leader.)

Q: Are you the wife of Martin Healy?

A: I refuse to answer any questions.

That, it seems to this department, represents a new high for caution.

VIRGINIA CERTIFIED FOR RAIL RATE CUT

Old Dominion's 100 Counties Listed in Total of 1,016 Drought Sections.

LACK OF RAIN PERSISTS

Richmond, Va., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—There are now 1,016 counties in 21 States, including all of Virginia's 100 counties, certified for reduced railroad rates, a United States Department of Agriculture report said today.

While drought conditions in many sections of the State have been relieved, lack of rain still persists in Southside Virginia, where authorities said that the drought is at its height.

Southampton County was the last to be admitted as a drought-stricken area. It was included in the Virginia drought area after State drought commission authorities and Federal-State Statistician John Hicks made a careful survey and examination of the section and appealed to the national committee.

With addition of Southampton, the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Arthur Hyde, announced 3 additional counties in Tennessee, 21 in Texas, 1 in North Carolina, 7 in Georgia, 2 in Missouri, 3 in Alabama, 5 in New Mexico.

At present Virginia, complete with its 100 counties, leads the list with the number certified, with exception of Kentucky, which has 117. Alabama has 39, Arkansas, 75; Georgia, 7; Illinois, 40; Indiana, 41; Louisiana, 40; Maryland, 21; Mississippi, 73; Missouri, 78; Montana, 28; New Mexico, 5; North Carolina, 8; Ohio, 60; Oklahoma, 6; Pennsylvania, 8; Tennessee, 79; Texas, 82; West Virginia, 50, and Wyoming, 5.

The Department of Agriculture announcement said that the continued drought throughout a large portion of the drought area during the last month made it necessary for the Secretary of Agriculture to certify the additional counties to the railroads for reduced railroad rates on hay and grain into and live stock out of these counties.

Traffic Clubs Elect Officers.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—T. T. Harkrader, of New York, traffic director of the American Tobacco Co., was reelected president of the Associated Traffic Clubs of America at the closing session of the organization's annual convention here today.

MORE MARRIAGES NOTED IN VIRGINIA

Divorces Also Increase, the Commerce Department Report Reveals.

U. S. FIGURES SIMILAR

Richmond, Va., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Both marriages and divorces increased in Virginia during the year 1929, marriages being 2,364, or 10.1 per cent more than in 1928, and divorces being 102 or 3.5 per cent more than in the previous year, the United States Department of Commerce announced here today.

During the last year there were 23,570 marriages in the State, as compared with 21,401 in 1928. In 1929 they numbered 9.8 to every 100 in population, and the year previous they were 8.9 in each 100. In comparison with the number of divorces they were 7.7 to 1.

The total number of divorces in Virginia during 1929 was 3,054, and in 1928 it was 2,952. Last year there were 1.27 divorces in each 100 population, and during the year previous there were 1.23 for each 100. Last year there were 21 annulments, 1 less than the year before.

Figures for the country as a whole showed there were 1,232,559 marriages during the year 1929, as compared with 1,182,497 in 1928, an increase of 50,062 marriages, or 4.2 per cent. There was a decrease of 1.5 per cent from 1927 to 1928.

During the year 1929 there were 201,475 divorces granted in the United States, as compared with 195,939 in 1928, representing an increase of 5,536, or 2.8 per cent.

While the net increase in the number of marriages performed in the country as a whole was 4.2 per cent, the relative change in the different States ranged from a decrease of 17.2 in Texas to increases of 37.5 per cent in Nevada and New Mexico. Decreases were shown in North Carolina and Tennessee due in part to change in the marriage laws, effective July 1, 1929, requiring five days' notice prior to the issuance of a license to all parties in Tennessee, and to those under 21 years of age in North Carolina.

FAIRFAX BANK PLANS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

Building Will Occupy Site of Old Tavern; Bids Soon to Be Asked.

VIENNA MAN IS INJURED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The board of directors of the National Bank of Fairfax have approved the plans for its new home to be erected at the corner of Main and Payne streets in Fairfax on the site of the old Fairfax Tavern. The plans were drawn by Arthur B. Heaton, of Washington. The specifications are being prepared and it is expected they will soon be ready for submission for bids. The actual work of construction, it is believed, will be started this fall if satisfactory bids are received.

According to the plans, the new building will be 45 feet wide and 64 feet long, will be set back 25 feet from Main street and 21 feet from Payne street. The structure will be a one-story and basement building of colonial brick, with white wood exterior trim and a slate roof so as to harmonize with the courthouse across the street. An attempt is being made to keep the building a pure Virginia colonial type, both inside and out. The two stores in the semi-basement will face on Payne street. The building will be landscaped on all sides.

The plans for the interior show an entrance vestibule with officers' and ladies' room on either side. The space for the public is in the center, with tellers' windows on each side. The finishings are to be of knotty pine. The vault will be located in the rear center, with coupon booths on one side and book vaults on the other. The bookkeepers and clerks' room will be in the right rear, with directors' conference room in the left rear. A large directors' room and a smaller conference room will be located on the mezzanine floor above the vaults.

Two men were injured, one seriously, in automobile accidents occurring near Fairfax, Va., early yesterday morning. Robert Williams, 25, of Cedar street, Fairfax, was treated at Emergency Hospital for severe lacerations and possible internal injuries, received when his automobile left the Lee Highway one mile east of Fairfax about 4 a. m., and struck a telephone pole. The machine was damaged beyond repair. Williams was brought to the hospital by a passing motorist. He is a brother of Virgil Williams, State prohibition inspector.

The Pioneer Grange will hold a dance this evening in the Grange Hall at Masonville, on the Falls Church-Annandale road.

J. Gilbert Berry, of Vienna, is in the Providence Hospital, in Washington, as the result of injuries received Wednesday evening when he fell from the top of a tree. Gilbert and his father, Joseph Berry, Fairfax County surveyor, were surveying a strip of property at Mayview on the Virginia side of the Potomac River above Chain Bridge in connection with the proposed national park to Great Falls. He had climbed the tree to saw a limb off so as to better use the transit.

He lost his hold and as he fell to the ground he lit on his feet. The force of his fall fractured the base of his spine. Members of the surveying party rushed him to the hospital, where it was found that pressure on the spinal column had paralyzed his legs. He was operated on immediately to relieve the pressure and the doctors stated yesterday afternoon that they believed he would recover the use of his limbs.

J. R. Larkin, of Manassas, chairman of the board of supervisors of Prince William County, was stricken with paralysis yesterday morning at his home. Mr. Larkin has for many years been a member of the board and always has been very active in civic and political affairs in the county. He is the father of Fairfax County Engineer F. Novelle Larkin.

Turkey Tour Is Held By Group of Producers

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., Oct. 9.—Turkey producers of seven States joined today in the annual turkey tour sponsored by the Maryland Turkey Growers' Association of Kent County and the University of Maryland extension service. Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, New York and Maryland journeyed to the large turkey farms of Mrs. Helen M. Baker, Albert Jervis and John Biggers in Kent County, where an aggregate of 6,000 prime birds were inspected.

Demonstrations of growing, packing and marketing methods were given by Prof. W. H. Rice, poultry growing specialist of the State University, and J. D. McVean, county agricultural agent here. A lecture on packing was given late this afternoon at Washington College by Prof. Rice as the tour ended. Four hundred growers were in the party.
